

UNDERGRADUATE PROSPECTUS 2017/18

London's Campus University

Open days

2016

Saturday 9 July
Saturday 8 October
Saturday 12 November

2017

Saturday 8 July

Contents

05	Welcome
06	Why Roehampton?
10	Our campus
12	International students
14	Yathreb's story
16	Academic learning
18	Supporting you
20	George's story
22	Best of both worlds
24	Living costs
26	Nikhil's story
28	Your Students' Union
30	Sports at Roehampton
32	Accommodation
34	Journey to Roehampton

37 Departments and course listings

100	How to apply
101	Fees and funding
102	Getting here
103	Visiting us
104	Combined honours
106	Parents' and guardians' checklist
107	Tariff points
108	Course index
109	Contact us

Welcome

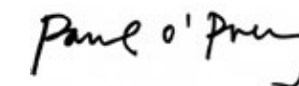

At Roehampton, we are committed to providing excellent teaching. We support all of our students, whatever their background, to reach their full potential, through our diverse and dynamic range of courses, delivered by academic staff engaged in world-class research.

We pride ourselves on the guarantee we make to all of our students: high levels of contact time with excellent teachers working at the cutting edge of their subject areas.

As an undergraduate, you will join a cosmopolitan and friendly institution, comprised of four colleges, which help to foster a strong sense of community.

There's no disputing how much a university education can enrich your life. It's not just about getting a great degree, but also broadening your experiences, preparing yourself for the world of work, and having a fantastic time while you are here.

We hope you can join us.

Professor Paul O'Prey,
Vice-Chancellor

Why Roehampton?

Inspiring teaching

Our teachers lead the way in their fields; they influence policy, shape opinions and publish in leading academic journals. They are called upon to be commentators in the media, and shape policy as advisers to government, charities and industry. Unlike many other universities, all of our students are taught by research-active academic staff from their first year of study. Our size means that you'll get to know your lecturers and fellow students, giving you a more personal learning experience.

Preparing you for work

Career skills are central to every one of our academic courses, so no matter what you study, we will help you develop the skills needed for today's job market.

We have a thriving Career Mentoring Scheme, through which we can match you with a Roehampton alumnus or friend of the University to help you to succeed. We also give you access to CV writing support, interactive support for interviews and a wide-ranging calendar of careers events.

We know it works, as the latest national figures show that nine out of 10 of our graduates are in employment or further study within six months of graduation – one of the best rates in London (Destination of Leavers of Higher Education Survey, 2015 results).

A supportive environment

When you join Roehampton you become part of one of our 10 highly-regarded academic departments and a member of a forward-thinking community on campus. You'll also join one of our four colleges, with all the support and social life that they provide.

There is a librarian assigned to each department area to help you find all the relevant text books and sources you need to excel in your studies. We also offer a range of services for any non-academic issues you may have, such as managing finances or arranging disability or dyslexia support.

The chance to study abroad

You will have an exciting opportunity to spend a semester of your second year abroad, with 42 countries worldwide to choose from. Our partnerships with universities across the globe give you the chance to experience new and exciting cultures, and expand your knowledge in campuses across the world.

Some of the countries where you can study include Australia, Ecuador, France, Mexico, Spain and the United States.

Many students tell us their time spent abroad was one of the best parts of their degree. You will return home more confident, adaptable, globally minded, and more attractive to any potential employer.

Students outside Grove House, Froebel College

A seminar from BA Classical Civilisation

Graduation 2015

BA Photography students at work

Our industry connections

We have established strong links with employers across a range of sectors, giving you the chance to undertake work placements or take part in masterclasses on campus.

Every department has strong connections to industries in their sector, so you can learn through practice and from those who are experts in their fields.

Through a partnership with Santander, we offer an internship programme for our final year students and recent graduates, where you can take part in a three-month paid work placement within a business. We also offer other work placement opportunities across our courses.

The best of both worlds

Although our beautiful campus provides a close-knit community feel, we have modern, cutting edge facilities and a vibrant social scene. Best of all, we are in the heart of south-west London, close to Putney and Hammersmith and within easy reach of central London. Studying with us will give you the best of both worlds: the community feel of a traditional university campus, with the culture and nightlife of one of the greatest cities in the world.

Graduation Ceremony

World class research

Research is vital as it ensures that your teaching is based on the very latest knowledge. Roehampton has an excellent research profile, with some of the most highly-regarded academic departments in the UK. We are ranked as the most research-intensive modern university in the country (Research Excellence Framework 2014). As a student, you'll benefit from studying with staff who are working at the very highest level.

Discover your talents and interests

Academic excellence is one of the main reasons to choose Roehampton, but there are also many extra-curricular activities to help you develop your skills. In terms of sport, we offer everything from badminton to yoga and athletics to roller sports, so you will have lots of opportunities to get active.

Roehampton Students' Union (RSU) also gives you the chance to broaden your experiences, with over 60 societies including The Rainforest Society, Debating Society, Film Society, Fashion Society and more. Whether you want to help run a group or work in the RSU's own TV or radio station, you can have fun while gaining new skills that employers value.

Student presenting on RSU TV station 'Fresh TV'

A vibrant student community

We have 10,000 students studying with us, a quarter of whom are postgraduates. Thousands more study with us through Roehampton Online. You'll find a cosmopolitan atmosphere on campus, with more than 140 different nationalities represented, reflecting the growing international reputation of the University.

Our campus environment creates a strong community feel, encouraging students to work in groups and inspiring creativity.

One example of that creativity is our award-winning Hive Café in the centre of Digby Square. It is part of the Growhampton sustainability project led by the students' union.

Constructed and refurbished from recycled and upcycled materials, it serves food and drink from local, ethical sources, and food grown on campus by our students.

Giving you a voice

Students are at the heart of everything we do at Roehampton. That's why we work in partnership with you, encouraging you to have a say in determining the direction of the University. Our Student Partnership scheme gives you the chance to influence all levels of decision making across the University.

Our Student Charter is just one example of how we work together with students to create an inspiring place to study. The charter was developed by the University and Roehampton Students' Union and describes how we can all contribute to create a vibrant campus.

A lifelong partnership

Once you graduate from Roehampton, you'll leave with an excellent degree and wonderful memories. However, that won't be the end of our relationship with you. Our vibrant alumni community ensures that we will be with you throughout your career, helping you to build the networks you need to succeed.

Clockwise from top left: Duchesne Building; Manresa Hall, Whitelands College; Grove House; Aerial photo 1939

Our campus

We have a beautiful 60-acre parkland campus, with historic buildings alongside modern, cutting edge facilities. Our campus helps us provide a close-knit community feel for our students. The campus is made up of four historic colleges.

By being part of a college, whether you live on campus or not, you'll experience a real sense of community and benefit from the support available.

Each college has a thriving social scene and its own sports teams; they help create a healthy sense of competition and college pride among the different colleges.

Your college will become your local community at Roehampton, a place where you belong.

Digby Stuart

Founded as a teacher training college in 1874 by the Society of the Roman Catholic Sacred Heart, Digby Stuart is now home to the following departments:

- Drama, Theatre and Performance
- English and Creative Writing
- Humanities
- Social Sciences

Froebel

Friedrich Froebel was an influential educator in the 19th century. It was founded by supporters of his principles and played a major role in developing English primary education. Froebel College houses the following departments:

- School of Education
- Dance

Southlands

This college was founded in 1872 by the Methodist Church. Southlands College is home to the following departments:

- Roehampton Business School
- Media, Culture and Language

Whitelands

Founded in 1841 by the Church of England, Whitelands is the oldest college at Roehampton. It is home to the following departments:

- Psychology
- Life Sciences

You can find out more about being part of a collegiate university here:

www.roehampton.ac.uk/colleges

International students

At Roehampton, we are committed to excellence in teaching and research and we can offer you an excellent opportunity to study and live away from your home country.

The UK has a world-renowned reputation for excellence in education. Everything you expect from a UK education is reflected at the University of Roehampton, from our world-class teaching staff and excellent career support, to our history-rich campus buildings and warm welcome.

We are very proud of our diverse and multicultural student body. International students make up a substantial portion of the population on campus, and this is reflected in the various culture-based clubs and societies at the Students' Union.

Support for international students at Roehampton is second to none, and starts before you even get to campus with our pre-arrival activities, dedicated contact support and airport pick up service.

Our International Office staff make regular visits overseas to meet prospective students and offer advice on courses and visa applications. We also offer new international students a dedicated welcome and orientation programme.

Language support

International students who don't speak English as their native language are offered free English language support tutoring if required, this can be accessed through the Information Centre on campus.

The English Language Unit offers more options for support to prepare you for your degree and support you during your studies with opportunities for individual tutorials.

Students on main campus

Student in media suite

English Language Unit

Pre-sessional five, 10 and 15 week courses

These courses are ideal for students who are offered a place on an undergraduate course, but still need to meet academic English requirements. You will improve your academic English so that you can cope better with university study, develop your study skills and learn what is expected of you as a student in the UK higher education system.

The length of course depends on your level of English. Once you have successfully completed the course, you will be enrolled automatically onto your chosen undergraduate degree course with no need to re-take an English language test.

What will I study?

- Essays: using reading in your writing, organisation, critical and analytical skills
- Academic vocabulary and grammar development
- Seminars: presentation and discussion based on your reading

- Lectures: understanding the argument, note-taking, playing an active role
- Listening and reading: understanding key ideas in an academic context

www.roehampton.ac.uk/english-language-courses

International Foundation Programme

International students who are not eligible for direct entry to an undergraduate programme, or who want to improve their academic English, study skills and subject knowledge before beginning an undergraduate degree, can take one of our International Foundation Programmes. The International Foundation Programme is offered in conjunction with our partners QA Higher Education. There are two pathways, one if you are looking at progressing onto a business degree, and a generic pathway for non-business degrees. Both courses are designed to prepare you for the seamless transition onto an undergraduate programme.

<https://pathway.roehampton.ac.uk/courses/international-foundation-programme>

Win Win Situation

Yathreb is an international student from Egypt. Alongside her Business Management degree, she is currently ranked 27th in the world for squash. This is her Roehampton Story.

“

I didn't want to choose between getting a good education and competing internationally at the sport I love, so when I discovered Roehampton had a squash development programme, I applied straightaway.

It's a lot to juggle at times and I've definitely had to polish my time management skills. I have a great support team with my coach and tutors, who've been helping me balance essays, lectures, training and competitions.

I'm getting to study an interesting subject on a great campus with friendly people, all whilst climbing 43 places in my rankings. The icing on the cake has been representing Roehampton at the British University and Colleges Sport championship and bringing home the gold medal.

”

Yathreb Adel

Second year Business Management student

“I am getting a good education and competing internationally.”

Academic Learning

How to make sure you get the best degree you can.

If you engage fully, university can help you to develop a whole range of personal, academic and professional skills which will be vital in later life. At Roehampton we go even further to ensure you achieve academic success. We offer Academic Learning Advisors who can guide you how to get the most out of your studies.

Their support covers a range of areas such as academic writing or research. Many of these skills are transferable, which means they will be useful even after you graduate from Roehampton.

The Academic Learning Service offers online guides, workshops, class sessions and one-to-one appointments on anything from time management to structuring dissertations and referencing.

This focus on excellent teaching and learning support means our students thrive: in 2015, 70% gained a first or upper-second class degree.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/learning-services/academic-skills-development

Supporting you

We are here to help at every stage of your journey, so nothing can get in the way of your success.

We offer a range of support, from academic help through to services such as student counselling and an on-site medical centre. All of our support services can be accessed via our campus information centre.

Disability services

If you have dyslexia, a disability or a long-term medical condition, we offer specialised services if you ever need extra help. Everything is private and confidential. You can either book an appointment or just drop in.

English language support

As an international student you might want help to improve your English while you study.

We can help you build your skills through activities such as writing assignments and giving presentations, skills that will be useful even after graduation.

Please see the International Students section on page 12 and 13 for more information.

Chaplaincy

Our team includes Christian chaplains based in our church foundation colleges, Digby Stuart, Southlands and Whitelands. We also have two Muslim prayer rooms, a Muslim faith adviser, a Hindu faith adviser and a Rabbi.

Medical centre

Our on-campus centre is a branch surgery of the local Putney mead practice. You can book an appointment during and out of University hours.

Student welfare officers

Based in our four colleges, our welfare officers can help with anything from managing your finances to dealing with personal issues. They are your first port of call for any problem.

Financial support

We provide a range of financial support schemes and can provide you with access to impartial advice to help you take control of your finances. To find out more about the loans and scholarships available to you, see page 101.

Student with a welfare officer

The Career Mentor Scheme

Preparing you for your future

Here are some of the ways we help you to build essential skills and work experience for a successful future career:

- All our courses have embedded employability skills enabling you to build key graduate attributes such as leadership, team work, negotiation, planning and problem-solving. Many courses offer work placements.
- You will be enrolled onto UR Careerlink, our fantastic online careers resource exclusively for Roehampton students and graduates, giving you access to CV tools, interview support, volunteering and jobs directories, online skills courses and much more.
- An on-site recruitment agency, Unitemps, to help you find work before and after graduation including paid internships.
- A year-round calendar of careers events brings in top guest speakers from different industries who will share their knowledge and experience with you.
- We organise practical workshops covering CV writing, applications and industry insights.
- Lunchtime drop in sessions in the Careers Service if you need one-to-one support.
- Access to Roehampton Connect which runs the online Career Mentoring Scheme linking students with an experienced Roehampton graduate to advise, help build networks and share their experience.
- Spend a semester overseas with our Study Abroad option; choose from Spain, Belgium, Australia, the USA and more. Or learn a language via Languages for All. Both make you more attractive to employers.

Lights. Camera. Confidence.

George, who studies Film and Drama, acts, directs, writes and is a Roehampton Student Ambassador.

“

When I arrived at Roehampton I was quite shy and lacking in confidence, but in the year I've been here, I've really come out of my shell.

Having inspiring lecturers has really helped as they encourage me to believe I can achieve anything I want, plus they've given me the platform to develop as a performer. I'm now really throwing myself into University life; I'm part of a drama group, I'm on the rugby team and I've joined the Christian Union. I work part time as a Roehampton Student Ambassador, plus I've also got into bodybuilding with my flat mate.

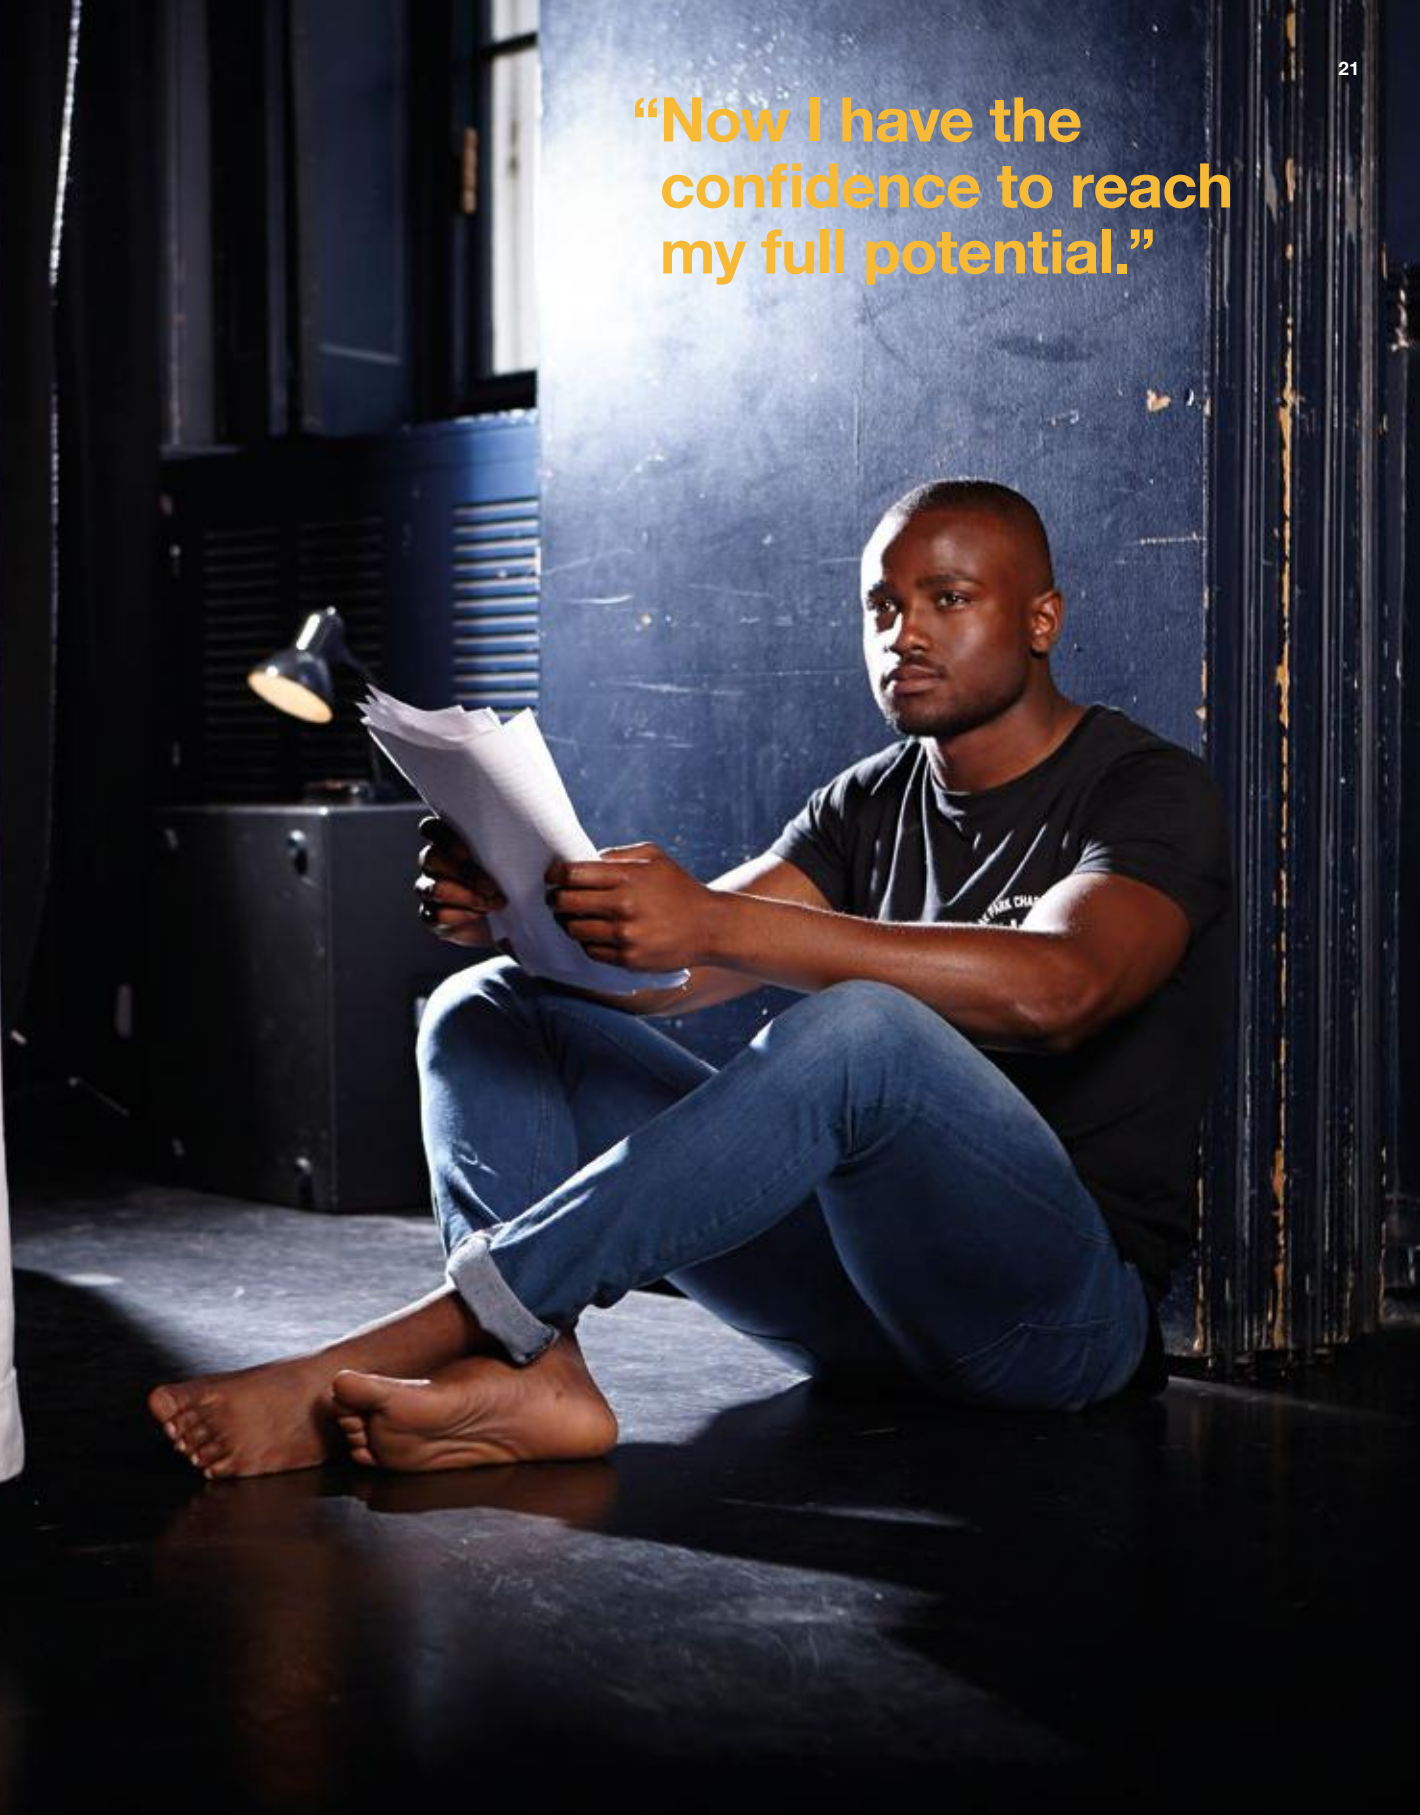

I've noticed the change in myself and so have my friends and family. Something I never thought I'd be doing a year ago is studying abroad, but in January I'm off to America for a semester and cannot wait. Now I know what I'm capable of, I'm grabbing every opportunity with both hands.

”

George Morgan

Second year Combined Film and Drama,
Theatre and Performance Studies student

“Now I have the confidence to reach my full potential.”

Hampton Court Palace

The All England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club, Wimbledon

Best of both worlds

Richmond Park

London is undoubtedly one of the world's greatest cities; home to international businesses, world-famous cultural institutions and the centre of UK politics. It offers a wealth of theatre, food, music and sport and almost half the city is made up of parks and other green spaces.

Explore our local area:

Barnes

This beautiful area next to Roehampton has a peaceful village atmosphere with a duck pond and traditional pubs, as well as a farmers' market, boutique shops, cafés and a luxury cinema.

Putney

A classy riverside district with a range of bars, pubs and a busy high street. Putney also hosts the annual Oxford and Cambridge Boat Race which starts at Putney Bridge.

Richmond Park

The largest of London's Royal Parks and only a 10-minute walk from the campus. It's 2,500 acres of fresh air fun, with woodlands, ponds, gardens, grasslands and around 630 free-roaming deer.

Hammersmith

Not only is there a huge range of shops to tempt you, but there's great nightlife in the many pubs, bars and clubs, as well as the Eventim Apollo and the famous Lyric Theatre.

Hampton Court Palace

This picturesque landmark was made famous as the palace of Henry VIII and is now an unmissable attraction, featuring a maze and beautiful gardens.

Shepherds Bush

A shopaholic's heaven, home to one of the largest in-town shopping malls in Europe – Westfield. Music lovers should check out who's on at the O2 Shepherds Bush Empire.

Wimbledon

Home of the world's most famous tennis tournament, Wimbledon has a village-style centre with restaurants and fashion boutiques.

Hammersmith Bridge

Freshers' Fest

Please note the times indicated on the map are estimates which may vary depending on the mode of travel.

Living costs

Aside from your course fees, there are additional costs that you should take into consideration when budgeting for University. This is a rough guide.

Rent £450–£550 pm

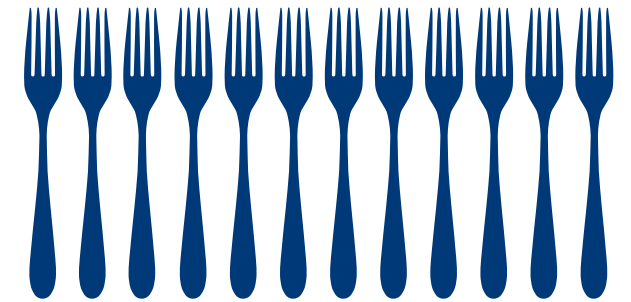

Rent ranges from approximately £114–£165 per week on campus. If you choose to rent off campus the average cost is £450–£550 per calendar month. Some rents are exclusive of bills and you would need to budget an additional £60 per month. Deposits range from the equivalent of four to six weeks rent.

Food £120 pm

Students are, on average, spending £30 on weekly groceries.

Social life £140 pm

Roehampton students spend an average of £35/40 a week.

Phone bill £50 pm

Most students pay £50 per month on contract or £10/12 a week on pay as you go.

Travel £72 pm*

London students spend around £19 per week on travel.

*If you are living off campus

Books and equipment £25 pm

It varies from department to department – on average students spend £300 an academic year on books but using library services can considerably reduce costs.

Gym/sports £13.30 pm

Our campus gym membership is normally £160 for 12 months, however there are deals on offer throughout the year. All gym programmes and studio classes are included in the price.

Depending on your lifestyle, you can of course spend more or less – these costs are just a guide.

On campus costs

Coffee at The Hive £2
Piece of cake at The Hive £2
Pint of beer £3.50
Vodka lemonade £3
Pub grub meal £5

The Fantastic Four

Nikhil came to Roehampton like most students – not knowing anyone but hoping to meet great people to share his experience. These hopes were realised when he met Daniel, Kelly and Susana in his first week.

“

Everybody wants to make good friends at university, but Daniel, Kelly and Susana are people I know will be my best friends forever.

We spend a lot of time together. Studying the same course as Kelly and Susana means we're often in the library together; it's great to have people to discuss ideas with and explain something you aren't quite sure about. Our hard work is paying off as we all got firsts in our exams. It's not all work and no play though; there's nights out, nights in and we take it in turns to cook dinner.

When you're away from home, it's your friends who are your support system; Daniel's a good listener and he gives great advice, Kelly always cheers me up and Susana's the one I go to in a crisis. We're a dream team really, there's already talk of embarrassing best man and bridesmaid speeches at each other's weddings.

”

Nikhil Patel

Third year Biomedical Sciences student

“I know we will be best friends forever.”

The Hive

Your Students' Union

Roehampton Students' Union (RSU) is run by students for students. It provides a huge range of ways for you to meet other students and have fun while you study.

There are over 60 societies and clubs that you can be part of in the RSU. You can also choose to volunteer, or work on the RSU's own magazine, radio or TV station.

Many students get involved in our annual Raising and Giving (RAG) week, which is a great volunteering opportunity that will look good to future employers.

What you can expect

Our Freshers' Fair has been voted the best in London and the second best in the UK.* During Welcome Week last year we hired out Thorpe Park exclusively for our students. You can be sure there'll be plenty of stimulating and inspiring things to do when you arrive and all year round.

Across the campus there are cafes, bars, diners and other spaces where you can socialise, build friendships and work together.

Every week there are nights out on campus, such as Bands Night or Acoustic Night, so if you have a musical talent there's a chance for you to take it further.

There are also plenty of events throughout the academic year, including the Summer Ball, where recent acts have included The Maccabees, Eliza Doolittle, Example and The Streets. The RSU also organises club nights off campus, including a monthly night out at Clapham Grand, the biggest nightclub in south west London, exclusively for Roehampton students.

*National Student Survey 2015 and BAM National Freshers' Report 2014

The Union Bar

Students on Froebel Lawn

www.roehamptonstudent.com

Sports at Roehampton

An education at Roehampton is about the whole you, not just the academic side, but the physical too. Whether you are experienced in a particular sport or want to try something new, we offer everything from badminton to yoga, athletics to martial arts and roller sports to volleyball.

You can join any of our 26 sports clubs and teams including basketball, gymnastics, hockey and swimming.

As we have four colleges, there is a healthy competition between sports clubs, and you may find yourself competing further afield in the British Universities Colleges Sports (BUCS) leagues and tournaments.

Keeping fit

As well as sports clubs, we offer exercise classes, coaching opportunities, dance-based activities and recreational sessions.

We also offer a range of women only workouts, which are open to all female Roehampton students.

Our facilities include an on-campus gym with exercise classes every day, a sports hall, a studio, outdoor courts and playing fields.

Encouraging you to be the best

Taking part in sport and exercise has a dramatic effect on personal development, so take your pick from our many options to get active or find your passion in sports.

For the truly elite athletes studying at Roehampton, we offer a range of bursaries and scholarships. You will be following in the footsteps of some internationally recognised alumni. There are also subsidies to help you gain vital experience if you are interested in becoming a sports coach.

Pictured on the right: Maggie Alphonsi MBE, Roehampton alumna and member of England Women's Rugby squad, winners of the 2014 World Cup

Accommodation

Our on-campus accommodation is set in a beautiful parkland environment, yet is only 30 minutes from the excitement of London's West End.

We understand that concentrating on your studies will be your main priority, which is why we take care of everything:

- All utility bills are included in the cost
- We include contents insurance to give you peace of mind
- Friendly hall reps are just a phone call away if you have any questions

Helping you make an informed choice

At our open days held throughout the year, you can visit our campus accommodation.

You can also see pictures and 360 degree tours on our accommodation pages online.

When you're planning your future education, you don't want any worries to get in the way.

That's why we offer you an accommodation guarantee. This means if you make Roehampton your firm choice on your UCAS form, you satisfy the eligibility criteria and meet the deadline, we promise you'll have on-campus accommodation.

† Please see our website for details.

Accommodation applications typically open in the Spring, before you arrive for your first year, and you can apply once you have firmly accepted an offer of a place from us.

Types of accommodation

We offer a wide range of accommodation on-campus. Every room is a single furnished bedroom with internet access and fees include utility bills and contents insurance. Rooms are either en-suite, semi en-suite (with a private shower) or standard where you share bathroom facilities with other students. All rooms have a wash basin.

Cost

The cost of rooms varies, depending on the type you choose. For first year undergraduates this ranges from £114.45, to £164.85 per week*.

Living off campus

We also have accommodation available in Vauxhall, which includes a private swimming pool, gym, flat screen TVs and chill-out areas. Our Spring Mews site gives you easy access to the cultural and social life of central London. The accommodation is only a 15-minute train journey to Barnes, the train station closest to the campus.

If you choose to live away from the University, our off-campus support officer can help you find accommodation with other students in a similar situation.

Even if you are living off campus, or choose to live at home, you will still feel part of the Roehampton community. There are lots of activities and societies you can get involved with while you are on campus.

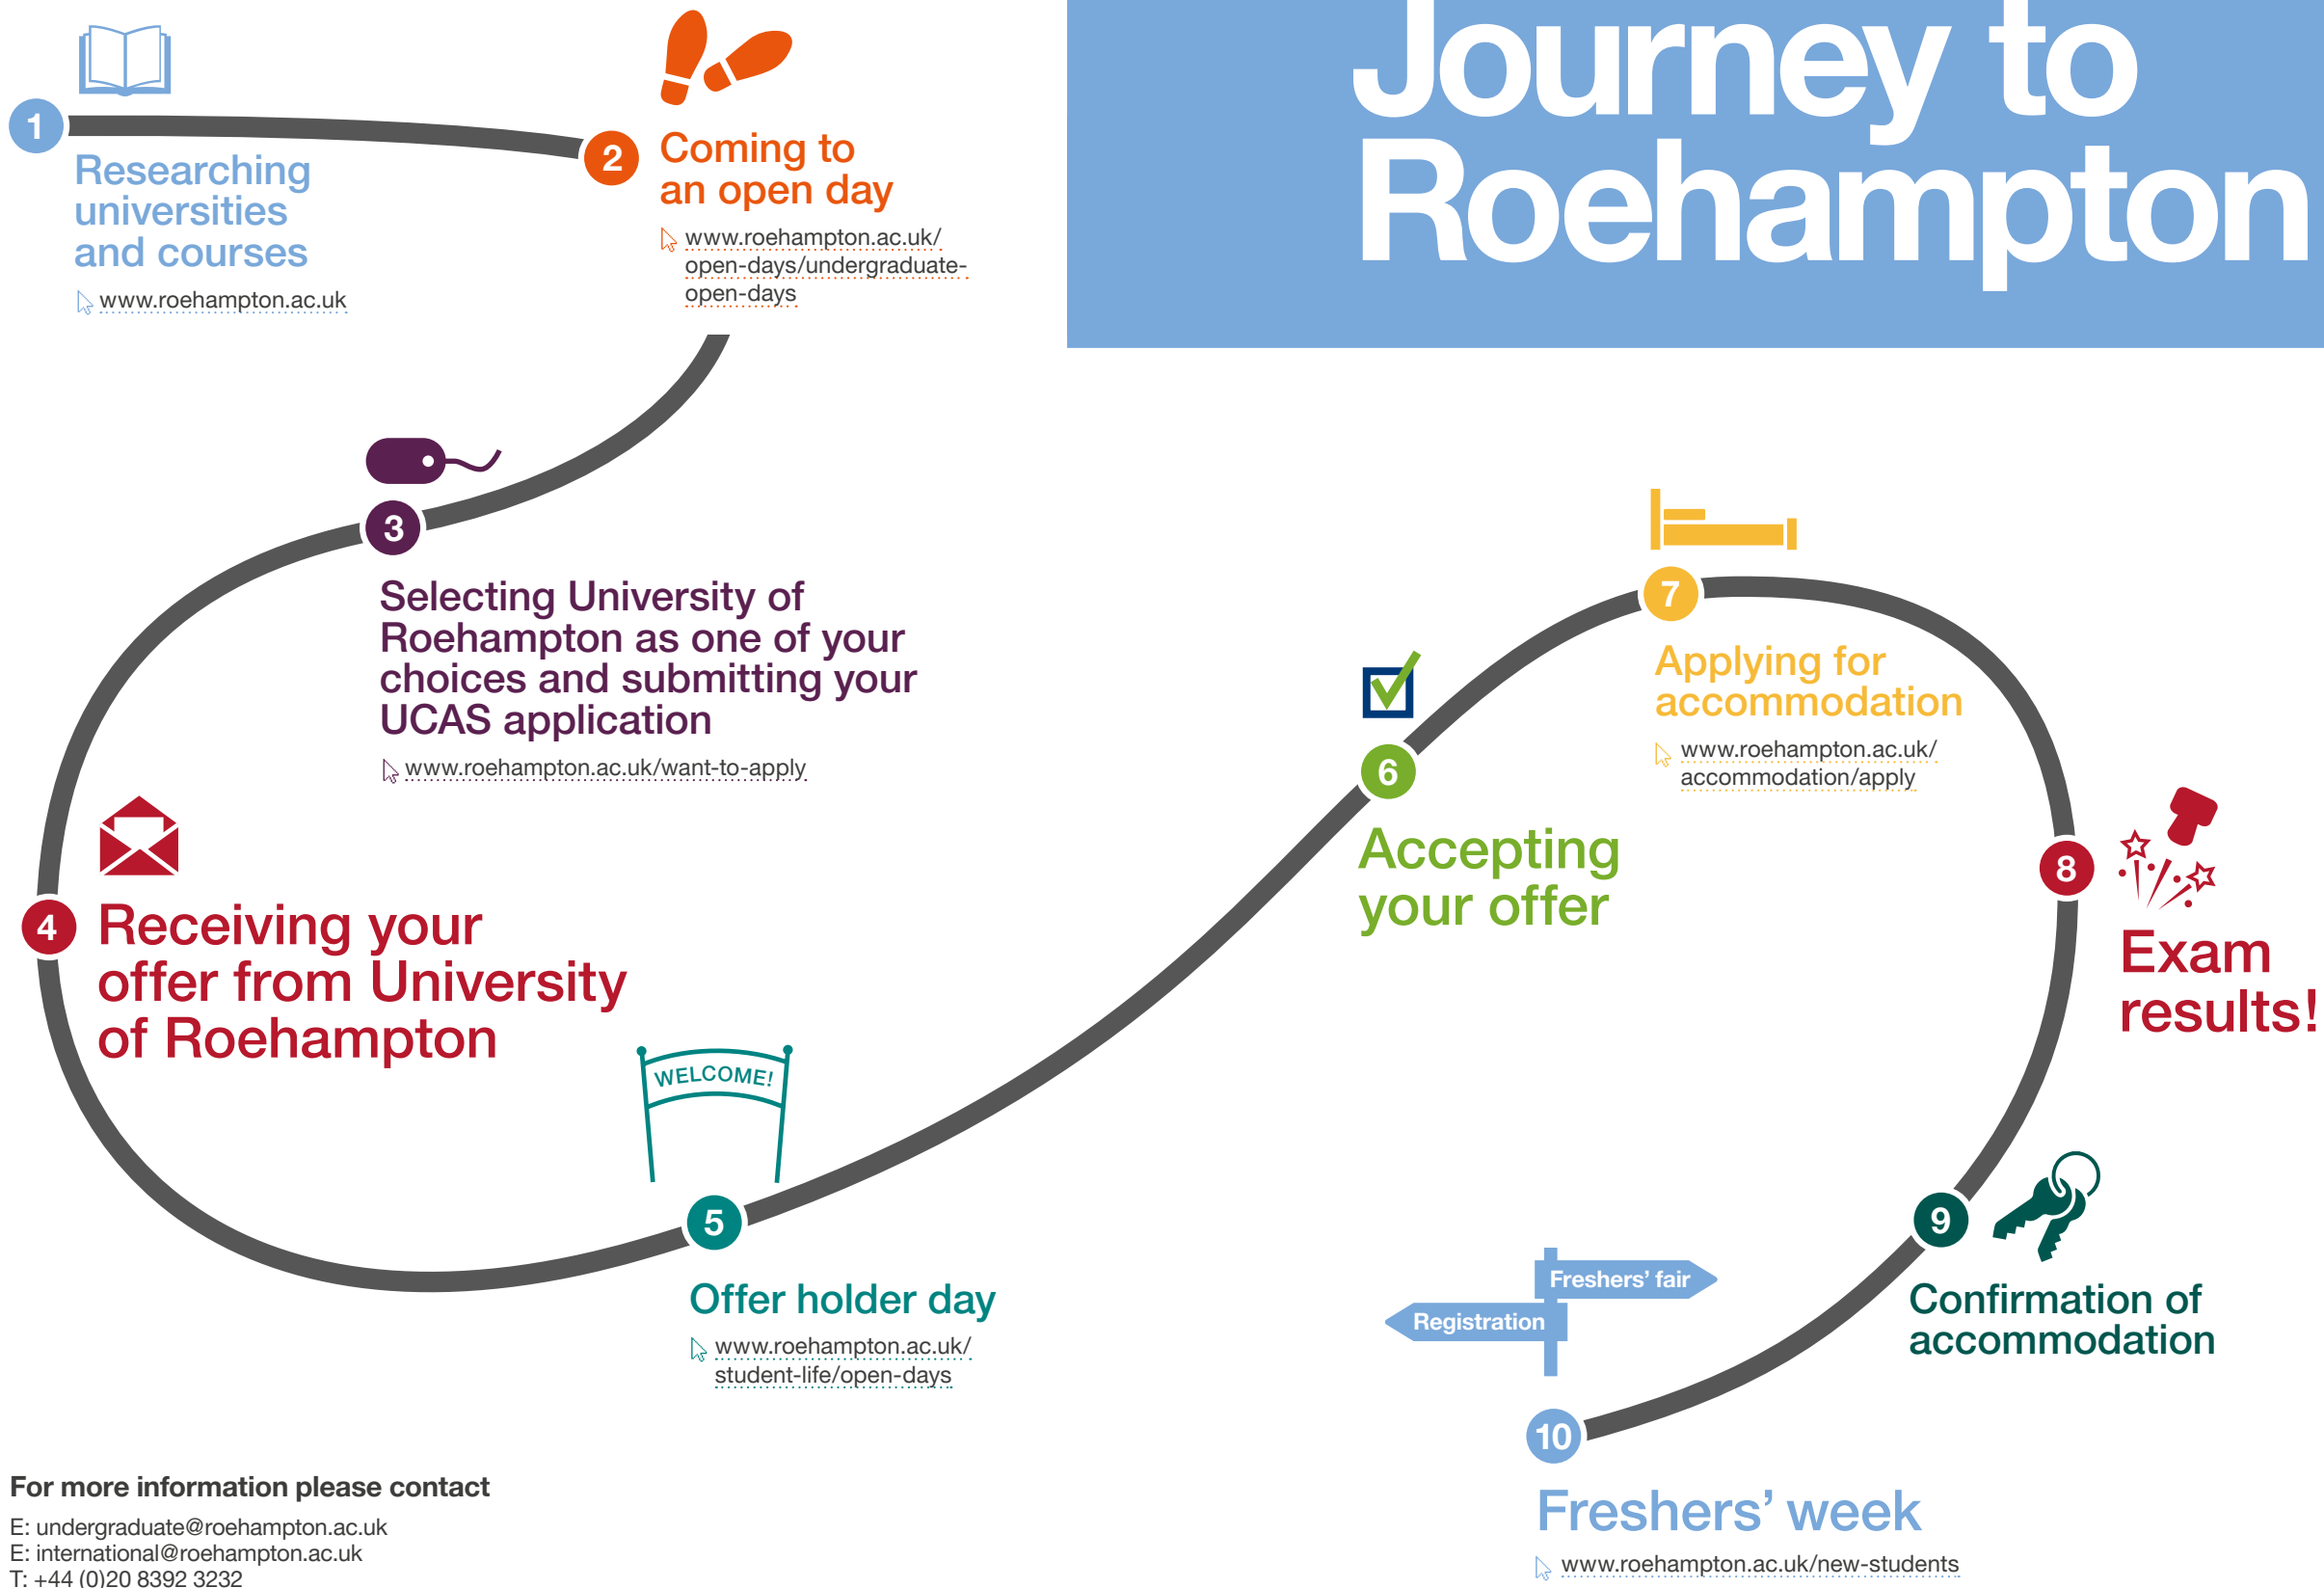

*Cost correct as of December 2015. For the latest costs, please visit our website.

Clockwise from top: Linden House, Chadwick Hall kitchen, Whitelands bedroom, Spring Mews kitchen www.roehampton.ac.uk/accommodation

Journey to Roehampton

For more information please contact

E: undergraduate@roehampton.ac.uk

E: international@roehampton.ac.uk

T: +44 (0)20 8392 3232

Courses

A photograph of two students, a woman and a man, sitting at a desk in a classroom or office. The woman is on the left, wearing a white sweater, and the man is on the right, wearing a dark sweater over a checkered shirt. They are both smiling and looking towards the right. The man is holding a blue pen and pointing towards a computer monitor in the background. The background shows a window and a desk with a computer monitor and keyboard. A large purple banner with the word 'Courses' in white text is overlaid on the right side of the image.

Below is list of all courses, including extended degrees and combined honours, along with their UCAS codes.

Business	UCAS code
Accounting	9A33
Business Management	N190
Business Management and Economics	L100
Business Management and Entrepreneurship	N191
Human Resource Management	N600
International Business	N120
Marketing	N500
Retail Marketing and Management	NN25
EXTENDED DEGREES
Business Management	N121
Business Management and Economics	NL12
Business Management and Entrepreneurship	NN13
Human Resource Management	N173
International Business	N122
Marketing	N501
Retail Marketing and Management	NN14
Dance
Dance Studies	W500
Drama, Theatre and Performance
Drama, Theatre and Performance Studies	W440
COMBINED HONOURS
Creative Writing	WW84
English Literature	WQL3
Film	PWH4
Philosophy	WV45
Drama Studies	W400
Education
Early Childhood Studies	X310
COMBINED HONOURS
Education	X347
Education		X300
COMBINED HONOURS
Early Childhood Studies	X347
Primary Education
(Foundation and Key Stage 1)	4D22
(Key Stage 1 and Key Stage 2)	4N56
Sport Coaching	C610
Sports Coaching Practice	XC16
EXTENDED DEGREES
Early Childhood Studies	X110
Early Childhood Studies and Education	XX13
Education	X301
English and Creative Writing
Creative Writing	W801
COMBINED HONOURS
Drama, Theatre and Performance	WW84
English Literature	WQ83
Film	PW38
Journalism	PW58
English Literature	Q300
COMBINED HONOURS
Creative Writing	WQ83
Drama, Theatre and Performance Studies	WQL3
English Language and Linguistics	Q310
French	QR3X
History	QV31
Philosophy	QV35
Spanish	QR34
Humanities
Classical Civilisation	V901
COMBINED HONOURS
History	QV81
Philosophy	QV85
Theology and Religious Studies	QV86
History	V100
COMBINED HONOURS
Classical Civilisation	QV81

English Literature	QV31
Philosophy	VV15
Theology and Religious Studies	VV16
Ministerial Theology	V610
Philosophy	V500
COMBINED HONOURS
Classical Civilisation	QV85
Drama, Theatre and Performance	WV45
English Literature	QV35
History	VV15
Theology and Religious Studies	VV56
Theology and Religious Studies	V600
COMBINED HONOURS
Classical Civilisation	QV86
History	VV16
Philosophy	VV56
Life Sciences
Anthropology	L600
Biological Sciences	C120
Biomedical Science	B940
Nutrition and Health	B400
Social Anthropology
COMBINED HONOURS
Sociology	LCH9
Sport and Exercise Sciences	C602
Sport Psychology	C813
Zoology	C300
Media, Culture and Language
English Language and Linguistics	Q340
COMBINED HONOURS
English Literature	Q310
Journalism	PQ5J
Film	W600
COMBINED HONOURS
Creative Writing	PW38
Drama, Theatre and Performance Studies	PWH4
French	PR39
Media, Culture and Identity	P391
Photography	WP63
Spanish	RP43
French
COMBINED HONOURS
English Literature	QR3X
Film	PR39
Journalism	RP95
Spanish	R800
French and Spanish	R800
Journalism	P500
COMBINED HONOURS
Creative Writing	PW58
English Language and Linguistics	PQ5J
French	RP95
Media, Culture and Identity	PP3M
Spanish	PR54
Mass Communications	I120
Media, Culture and Identity	PL33
COMBINED HONOURS
Film	P391
Journalism	PP3M
Photography	PW36
Photography	W640
COMBINED HONOURS
Film	WP63
Media, Culture and Identity	PW36
Spanish	WR64
Spanish
COMBINED HONOURS
English Literature	QR34
Film	RP43
French	R800
Journalism	PR54
Photography	WR64
Translation	Q910
Psychology
Psychology	C800
COMBINED HONOURS
Criminology	MC98
Psychology and Counselling	C845
Therapeutic Psychology	3G90
Social Sciences
Criminology	M900
COMBINED HONOURS
Sociology	ML93
Psychology	MC98
LLB Law	M100
LLB Law and Criminology	ML61
Sociology	L300
COMBINED HONOURS
Criminology	ML93
Social Anthropology	LCH9

Business School

Roehampton Business School equips students with the skills to succeed in a range of industries and gives future business leaders the knowledge and critical insight to make informed, ethical decisions.

Whether you want to be your own boss, work for a multi-national company or develop creative marketing projects, our courses equip you with the skills necessary to succeed in the modern business environment.

With our beautiful campus located between the many global and national head offices of West London and the international business and finance hub of Central London and the City, you will easily be able to access the many industry and graduate events on offer.

The Roehampton Business School develops graduates who are 'business ready' and who can think independently with confidence in their own potential and values; adapt and have a positive impact on a changing world; who are curious and value new learning and who can apply this successfully in organisations.

The University is currently undertaking a review of the curriculum of the Business School programmes. As a result some of the content and structure described below will be updated. Please check our website for the most up to date information.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/business

BSc Accounting

UCAS Code 9A33

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

Accounting requires the ability to problem-solve and analyse data. This course will allow you to develop these skills but will also take you beyond the numbers. As well as a keen financial eye, you will develop an international perspective and a solid understanding of the legal, social and ethical issues within accounting.

Why Roehampton?

This course is accredited by the Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA).

We provide a strong emphasis on addressing real-life problems faced by accountants today.

You will learn from lecturers and tutors who have extensive expertise in management and financial accounting.

Example modules

Management Accounting Techniques

Understanding Financial Statements

Audit Practice and Ethics

Career opportunities

This course will equip you to work as a professional accountant in either industry or professional practice.

BSc/BA Business Management

UCAS Code N190

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

This course provides an ideal foundation for future business leaders, whether you want to work within an organisation or run your own enterprise. You will gain highly competitive business skills in a supportive and inspiring environment, with modules covering a wide range of topics. Taught by experienced business researchers and professionals, you will be learning about real-life business approaches.

Why Roehampton?

Opportunities to build your employability skills in readiness for a competitive job market.

Strong industry contacts.

You will graduate with both theoretical knowledge and a practical understanding of business.

Example modules

Business Environment in a Wider Context

Cross-Cultural Management

Ethics, Organisations and Society

Career opportunities

You will be able to pursue a career in project management, international business, accounting and finance, retail, marketing or human resources.

BSc Business Management and Economics

UCAS Code L100

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

The rich mix of subjects you will study on this course will give you a comprehensive understanding of how to manage a business, while also considering the economic environment in which businesses operate.

This economics-focused course, taught by our team of expert staff, will allow you to analyse core economic theories and concepts, and will prepare you for any career that values critical thinking and an awareness of economic issues.

Why Roehampton?

We have strong industry contacts.

You will learn from lecturers and tutors who have extensive expertise across this discipline.

You will graduate with strong theoretical knowledge and an ability to apply this knowledge to real business situations.

Example modules

Managerial Economics

International Economics

Capital Markets and Investment

Career opportunities

Graduates are equipped to work in a range of the UK's most important sectors and occupations, including financial services, management consultancy, risk analysis or economic think tanks.

BSc Business Management and Entrepreneurship

UCAS Code N191

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

This degree is ideal if you're thinking of starting your own business or leading new business activities in existing companies. In a global economy, the ability to discover and develop new and innovative opportunities is something employers value.

The course will give you a strong grounding in managing organisations, operations and people. You'll have the opportunity to develop a real business plan with practical advice from successful entrepreneurs.

Why Roehampton?

Opportunities to develop your own business ideas.

The chance to develop top entrepreneurial skills and practical enterprise experience.

Explore and understand entrepreneurial leadership and management styles.

Example modules

Entrepreneurship

Managing Change and Innovation

Graduate Enterprise

Career opportunities

Graduates can start their own business; work in business development roles or graduate traineeships; or work in any sector that seeks dynamic, creative individuals with proven business knowledge.

“ My course has helped me to work well as part of a team and improved my time management skills. ”

Darren Omsu

BA Business Management

BSc Human Resource Management

UCAS Code N600

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

Whether you aspire to be a human resources management professional or a manager, an understanding of how to attract and retain the best people is an important skill. Human Resource Management encompasses key activities that ensure organisations work, including staff recruitment, employee relations and reward. On this course you will gain a strong understanding of the complexity of people management, through the study of contemporary issues around work, people management, organisational theory and society; all of which will develop you as a future leader in the field.

Why Roehampton?

You'll gain an exposure to real-life issues in employment and the workplace and are offered opportunities for professional practice.

Highly recommended: 92% overall student satisfaction with this course (National Student Survey 2015).

The course features guest speakers from leading organisations and field trips.

Example modules

Understanding Employee Relations

Ethics, Organisations and Society

Contemporary Case Studies in Human Resources Management

Career opportunities

This course will prepare you to work in roles such as a recruitment and selection specialist, employee relations or personnel manager, training and development advisor, diversity and equal opportunity advisor or performance management specialist.

BSc International Business

UCAS Code N120

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

As the world economy becomes increasingly global, with world trade expanding and the continued industrialisation of the emerging markets of China, India and Russia, there is a growing demand for graduates who can work at an international level.

On this course, you will develop a solid understanding of business and management and learn how to operate in a cross-cultural environment, with the ability to respond to the challenges of globalisation. You'll leave equipped with the skills to help you build a successful career.

Why Roehampton?

Regular guest speakers from multi-national companies.

You will learn from lecturers and tutors who have extensive expertise across this discipline.

Spend a semester studying abroad in the USA, Australia, France, Spain or the Netherlands.

Example modules

International Business Environment

Marketing and Enterprise

Cross-Cultural Management

Career opportunities

You'll be equipped to work in international trade or banking, operations management, market research, international sales or marketing, and other roles within international companies.

BSc Marketing

UCAS Code N500

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

This course will give you an excellent grounding for a career in contemporary marketing. Accredited by the Chartered Institute of Marketing (CIM), the course explores a wide range of topics including the rise of global brands, interactive marketing and how technology is shaping marketing practices.

On successful completion of your degree, you will gain an exemption from one of the three CIM modules needed for the Diploma in Professional Marketing, which means you will only need to complete two further modules to gain the full qualification (please note that this exemption is only valid for three years from the date of graduating).

Why Roehampton?

Accredited by the CIM.

Exposure to contemporary real-life issues in marketing and digital marketing.

Strong industry contacts.

Example modules

Marketing and Enterprise: New Product Development and Pitch

Marketing Communications

International Marketing

Career opportunities

You will be equipped to work in a range of marketing roles, either within an agency or the marketing department of an organisation. You can also work as an advertising executive, marketing manager, communications manager or in other marketing-related roles.

BSc Retail Marketing and Management

UCAS Code NN25

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

In this dynamic and challenging degree, you will study the rapidly-changing retail sector, from high streets to online shopping. You will develop an analytical understanding of business operations and managing organisations, and build your team-working and leadership skills through group assignments.

Excellent industry links and a London location mean you will also visit trade shows and retail hubs, meet with town centre managers and hear from guest speakers from major UK retailers.

On successful completion of your degree, you will gain an exemption from one of the three CIM modules needed for the Diploma in Professional Marketing, which means you will only need to complete two further modules to gain the full qualification (please note that this exemption is only valid for three years from the date of graduating).

Why Roehampton?

Accredited by the CIM.

Industry insights and advice given by guest speakers from major retailers.

Highly recommended: 90% of students satisfied with teaching on this course (National Student Survey 2015).

Example modules

Retail Purchasing and Supply Chain Management

Retail Theory and Practice

Retail Issues and Applications

Career opportunities

Graduates are equipped to work in retail buying, marketing, online retailing, and a range of management roles in different sectors.

Extended Degrees

UCAS Codes See below

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 4 years (full-time)

Available courses

Business Management UCAS code N121

Business Management

and Economics UCAS code NL12

Business Management

and Entrepreneurship UCAS code NN13

Human Resources UCAS code N173

International Business UCAS code N122

Marketing UCAS code N501

Retail Marketing

and Management UCAS code NN14

Our extended four year degree programme include a foundation year, which provides students with a sound introduction to key elements needed for studying Business at degree level.

The foundation year is carefully designed to build confidence in students' abilities, develop essential academic and study skills, and provide the subject specific knowledge essential for success.

Why Roehampton?

You will have an extra year to build your skills and knowledge.

A very supportive learning community.

High levels of student satisfaction.

Department of Dance

Pursue your passion for dance at the University of Roehampton, rated number one for dance research in the UK.

Join our dance community to collaborate with world-leading researchers and recognised dance artists from diverse backgrounds and specialisms. Our courses embrace both theory and artistic elements because we believe that the study of dance goes beyond performance.

You will learn about dance from different contemporary perspectives and develop an understanding of how dance influences society.

Our immersive, supportive dance culture will help you to launch and expand your career as well as benefit from our dance partnerships. There are opportunities to lead our annual dance festival, Footprint, and perform in a student-led dance company.

Rated No.1 for dance research in the UK (Research Excellence Framework 2014).

“ This course has allowed me to approach dance, practically and theoretically, through various perspectives. Now, in my final year, I can specialise in my areas of interest. ”

Joanna Vazelaki

Dance Studies

BA/BSc Dance Studies

UCAS Code W500

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Explore your enthusiasm for dance through this internationally-respected degree. You will explore dance in a broad range of multi-cultural and artistic contexts. The course will give you an introduction to both practical and theoretical aspects of dance, with techniques drawn from contemporary dance styles as well as ballet. We have strong links with the dance profession through our own lecturers' creative work and choreographic research.

Dance Studies was voted by students as the Best Undergraduate Programme at Roehampton (Roehampton Students' Union Awards 2014).

Why Roehampton?

A well-rounded dance education that prepares you to work and live creatively in the modern world.

Specialist technique classes with live music.

No.1 University in the UK for dance research (Research Excellence Framework 2014).

Example modules

Dance, Culture and Society

Resourceful Choreographer

Popular and Urban Dance

Career opportunities

This course allows graduates to go into a variety of creative professions, not just connected to dance. Within the dance industry, Roehampton graduates are working as community dance artists, choreographers, journalists, dancers, directors, teachers and arts managers and programmers.

Department of Drama, Theatre and Performance

The Department of Drama, Theatre and Performance is renowned for its cutting-edge performance practice and critical theory. We gained 100% overall student satisfaction in the National Student Survey 2015.

We have a thriving calendar of events with some of the world's leading performance makers and academics in regular attendance. All of our courses combine theoretical, historical and practical approaches to the subject, which are brought to life through our close connections with the London theatre scene.

We seek to offer all students a variety of opportunities to study internationally, either for a full term in their second year, or on shorter programmes, like the Duchesne Alliance Summer Institute.

In the 2014 Research Excellence Framework, over 80% of all our research was ranked as "world leading" or "internationally excellent".

100% overall student satisfaction (National Student Survey 2015).

“Each module is so different; it has opened me up to this whole other side of drama that I didn’t know existed.”

Benita Murphy

Drama, Theatre and Performance Studies

BA/BSc Drama, Theatre and Performance Studies

UCAS Code W440

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

This course offers an exciting approach to thinking about and creating theatre and performance. Through studying both historical and contemporary performance, you will develop creative, practical and critical skills. This course will help you bring ideas to life through regular opportunities to perform, create and devise work. To enrich your learning you will also receive free theatre tickets for some of London’s best shows and attend regular field trips.

Why Roehampton?

You will work with leading researchers, writers and practitioners in the field.

You will have opportunities to gain work experience in teaching or in creative arts organisations (recent opportunities were with The People Show, Chelsea Theatre and Live Art Development Agency).

A highly personalised approach to study, and very high student satisfaction across the course.

Example modules

Studio Theatre Production

Playwriting

Race, Ethnicity and Representation

Career opportunities

Our degree prepares you for careers in teaching, performing arts, playwriting, arts journalism, stage management, scenic, lighting or sound design, events management, and leisure and tourism.

Combined honours

Creative Writing (WW84),
English Literature (WQL3),
Philosophy (WV45), Film (PWH4)

BA Drama Studies

UCAS Code W400

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

This course encourages curiosity and creativity, helping you express your ideas in writing, speech and performance. As well as learning about theatre history and performance, you will perform, critically analyse plays, performances and audiences, and have direct contact with drama and theatre professionals. A core Arts Management module introduces you to career possibilities in the arts. The course includes regular field trips to institutions such as Battersea Arts Centre, and The National Theatre, and free theatre tickets for some of London’s best shows.

Why Roehampton?

A work placement module provides experience in a theatre or performance organisation.

Regular guest speakers from performance industries, which have included: Simeilia Hodge-Dallaway (The National Theatre’s Black Plays), Georgia Dale (The Young Vic), Sam Stevenson (casting director for the BBC, ITV, Sky, RSC and the National Theatre).

The London’s Arts module will see you visit theatre companies in and around London such as Battersea Arts Centre and the National Theatre.

Example modules

London’s Arts

Introduction to Arts Management

Work Placement

Career opportunities

Our drama graduates go on to work as performers, playwrights, artistic directors, stage managers, scenic, lighting or sound designers, youth or community workers, festival organisers, drama therapists and teachers.

School of Education

The School of Education is renowned for its high-quality teaching and research, and is one of the principle teacher training providers in the UK.

We offer a range of undergraduate courses including a direct route to teaching through our BA Primary Education, as well as the opportunity to study the history, leading figures and approaches to education through courses including Early Childhood and Education Studies.

The School of Education at Roehampton is one of the largest providers of teacher training in the UK, with partnerships with over 350 schools. We have a rich 175-year history in providing teacher education through our four colleges.

175-year history providing teacher education.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/education

BA/BSc Early Childhood Studies

UCAS Code X310

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Roehampton is internationally renowned for its work in Early Childhood Studies.

This degree is designed to meet the increasing demand for early years specialists, and it will equip you for a range of potential careers in this sector. You will study the intellectual, emotional, physical, social and cultural experiences of young children, and learn about promoting understanding and respect for young children and their families.

If you are already working in this area, you will enhance your work and improve your prospects with a better understanding of early childhood theory, research and practice.

Why Roehampton?

Highly qualified, research-active tutors who are experts in their fields.

A very supportive learning community with high levels of student satisfaction.

Access to our renowned Froebel Archive for Childhood Studies, containing rare books, toys and photographs.

Example modules

Cultural Influences

Play, Representation and Creativity

Children's Wellbeing: Health and Safeguarding

Career opportunities

Graduates can work as primary school teachers (following the PGCE), or in early childhood education and care, nursery management, social work, children's and family centre work, learning support, education administration and management, children's charity work and community support.

Combined honours

Education (X347)

BA/BSc Education

UCAS Code X300

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Everyone is entitled to an education, but what should be taught and by whom?

This course explores how education has evolved over the years. We look at social, historical, psychological and philosophical aspects of education, and how these affect issues such as policy making, equality and curriculum design. You will choose modules to build expertise and gain experience of different education settings through a work placement.

Why Roehampton?

The opportunity to work in different educational settings, such as schools, nurseries, museums and charities.

Highly qualified, research-active tutors who are experts in their fields.

Roehampton has an established history and international reputation for research and teaching in education.

Example modules

Child Development

Inequalities in Education:
Class, Race and Gender

Counselling in Education

Career opportunities

You may either gain employment as a teacher, after having completed a one-year PGCE, or learning mentor, social or community worker, youth worker, educational administrator or education welfare officer.

Combined honours

Early Childhood Studies (X347)

BA Sport Coaching

UCAS Code C610

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

This course will prepare you for a career in sport coaching and equip you to work in a wide range of settings at a national and European standard. You will study the different aspects of coaching, such as anatomy, physiology and movement analysis, while also developing your own coaching practice and different coaching styles. As part of the course, you will have the opportunity to get involved in coaching either at the University, local authorities, clubs or schools.

Why Roehampton?

Syllabus written to meet government and EU coaching standards.

Work placements with partners such as Fulham FC, Wimbledon Athletics Club, schools and coaching agencies.

An entrepreneurship module which focuses on the business side of sport coaching.

Example modules

Sport Coaching Process

Applied Coaching Pedagogy

Entrepreneurship in sport coaching

Career opportunities

You will develop the skills required to work in a broad range of coaching settings, set up your own business and progress onto teacher training courses.

BA Primary Education

UCAS Code 4D22 (Foundation and Key Stage 1) or 4N56 (Key Stage 1 and Key Stage 2)

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

We are currently reviewing this programme. The content and structure may differ from below. Please contact us for more information.

As one of the UK's leading and longest-running providers of teacher education, we can offer you the best start in your teaching career.

If you join us, you will train with our passionate and supportive staff, who will help equip you with the knowledge, skills and experience to become a successful primary teacher. Our combination of excellent school partnerships, strong pastoral support and a close-knit student community means that you will receive an outstanding experience.

Why Roehampton?

Excellent employment opportunities: 99% of our graduates are in work or further study six months after graduating (DLHE 2013/14).

You can focus on one of many National Curriculum subjects we offer across the Arts, Humanities, Core and STEM subjects.

The opportunity to specialise in teaching children aged 3–7 or those aged 5–11.

Example modules

Core Curriculum: English 3–11; Maths 3–11

The Wider Curriculum: Humanities – teaching and applying knowledge with pupils.

Applying Core Subjects: English with the Arts or Humanities; Maths with STEM subjects

Career opportunities

Our graduates from this programme are qualified to teach across the primary sector, including early years settings, independent and maintained schools, academies and also in SEN (Special Educational Needs) schools.

Foundation Degree (FdSc) Sports Coaching Practice

UCAS Code XC16

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 2 years (full-time) 3–4 years (part-time)

This foundation degree (FdSc) is perfect for existing coaching practitioners who are keen to develop their own practice, and to progress their careers in sports coaching. This work-based course is a great opportunity to professionalise your coaching according to national and European standards. You will learn the theories that underpin the different approaches and learn to evaluate a range of techniques.

Students will need to be supported by their employer in a paid or voluntary coaching role.

Why Roehampton?

This foundation degree provides direct access to the BA Sports Coaching final year.

One day a week study to fit around existing work commitments.

Access to a network of experienced coaches with job contacts and opportunities.

Extended Degrees

UCAS Codes See below

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 4 years (full-time)

Available courses

Early Childhood Studies UCAS code X110

Early Childhood Studies

and Education UCAS code XX13

Education UCAS code X301

Our extended four year degree programmes include a foundation year, which provides students with a sound introduction to key elements needed for studying Education at degree level. The foundation year is carefully designed to build confidence in students' abilities, develop essential academic and study skills, and provide the subject specific knowledge essential for success.

Why Roehampton?

You will have an extra year to build your skills and knowledge.

A very supportive learning community with high levels of student satisfaction.

You will undertake an extended education project in the summer term.

Example modules

Work Based Reflective Practice

Applied Process

Analytical Work Based Reflective Practice

Career opportunities

Graduates of this foundation course work in coach development and in coach mentoring. They set up their own businesses in coaching/sport. It is a pathway into youth development and social work, or graduates may go into the teaching profession, from primary to further education.

“The placement allows you to put the skills you learn into practice and really makes the degree worthwhile. The schools I've worked in are really supportive and have given me some great contacts that I can use in the future.”

Samuel Pett

Primary Education

Department of English and Creative Writing

The Department of English and Creative Writing combines tradition and innovation, excellent teaching and world class research.

We're home to internationally renowned writers, including Dame Jacqueline Wilson, Dr James Smythe, Adam Foulds, Professor David Harsent and Professor Fiona Sampson.

We have our own academic publishing house, Fincham Press, giving you the opportunity to publish your work. Our partnership with an established literary festival provides paid and voluntary work experience opportunities.

The Department also has a thriving calendar of student-led and alumni events as well as organised trips, seminars, masterclasses, and conferences

We are ranked in the top three London universities and in the top 20 universities in the country for English and Creative Writing, according to The Guardian University Guide 2016.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/english-and-creative-writing

“The Introduction to Creative Writing module is taught by professional writers. Their feedback helps me improve and it is exciting to see myself progress in such a short period of time.”

Hafsa Mohamud

English Literature and Creative Writing

BA/BSc Creative Writing

UCAS Code W801

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Taught by working writers (poets, novelists, journalists and screenwriters) this course is one of a handful of UK Creative Writing courses to offer innovative fiction and poetry teaching alongside a strong non-fiction strand.

As you explore the technical craft and process of writing, you'll develop your skills as a writer, as well as other key abilities such as research and critical analysis.

Why Roehampton?

Non-core specialist modules like gaming and interactive narratives, and graphic narratives and chance to publish in house (Fincham Press).

Roehampton is ranked in the top three in London and top 20 in the UK for English and Creative Writing (Guardian University Guide 2016).

Highly recommended: 97% student satisfaction with the quality of teaching (National Student Survey 2015).

Example modules

Telling True Stories

Writing London

Fiction and Innovative Form

Career opportunities

You will be equipped to understand the full range of work available as a freelance writer, to find employment in one of the country's thriving creative sectors, or to pursue postgraduate studies, including teaching.

Combined honours

Drama, Theatre & Performance Studies (WW84), English Literature (WQ83), Film (PW38), Journalism (PW58)

BA/BSc English Literature

UCAS Code Q300

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

This innovative and engaging course is for people with a passion for literature. It spans topics as varied as children's literature, crime fiction, Shakespeare, film, stand-up comedy and Victorian novels.

You will be taught by world-class researchers. The department was recently ranked 15th in the country on the strength of our research output (Research Excellence Framework 2014). Additional lectures and masterclasses have also been given by renowned authors including Dame Jacqueline Wilson and Kazuo Ishiguro.

Why Roehampton?

Our vibrant and diverse curriculum covers traditional subjects such as Shakespeare, Charlotte Bronte and Charles Dickens, as well as engaging with more contemporary topics.

Highly recommended: 95% student satisfaction (National Student Survey 2015).

As a London-based university, we explore the ways in which literature has been shaped by the city.

Example modules

Crime Fiction

Gothic and Fantastic Literature

Laughing Victorians

Career opportunities

You will gain the skills you need to succeed in publishing, journalism, public relations, media, marketing, advertising, arts and events management, and teaching.

Combined honours

Drama, Theatre & Performance Studies (WQL3), Creative Writing (WQ83), History (QV31), Philosophy (QV35), English Language & Linguistics (Q310), French (QR3X), Spanish (QR34)

Department of Humanities

Study the past to understand the future in a Department that offers a diverse range of courses in History, Philosophy, Classical Civilisation and Theology and Religious Studies.

We are ranked in the top three London universities for Classical Civilisation (The Guardian University Guide 2016) and the department places strong emphasis on research, which is championed at all levels of study. In 2014 the Research Excellence Framework judged that 100% of our research in History was rated 'world leading' for the impact it has on society.

Our teaching is research-led and many of our courses offer interesting work placement opportunities that will help you pursue a wide range of professional careers.

We are ranked in the top three London universities for Classical Civilisation (The Guardian University Guide 2016).

www.roehampton.ac.uk/humanities

BA/BSc Classical Civilisation

UCAS Code V901

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

We offer one of the most wide-ranging classical civilisation courses in the UK. Join us and you will study aspects of ancient Greek and Roman culture, as well as modern representations of classical characters and events in film, literature and painting. You'll have the chance to pick from modules covering ancient history, art, literature, myth and language. You will also have the chance to undertake a work placement providing you with experience that employers will value.

Why Roehampton?

Roehampton is ranked in the top 20 universities in the country for Classics (Guardian University Guide 2016).

94% of students are satisfied with the teaching on this course (National Student Survey 2015).

Opportunity to undertake a three-week placement on an archaeological dig or at a school or museum.

Example modules

Pompeii: The Roman Town and its Modern Reception

Gender and Sexuality in Ancient Greece

The Ancient City of Rome – Study Trip to Rome

Career opportunities

You can work in a wide range of fields including marketing, teaching, law, management, the charity sector, the armed services and the police.

Combined honours

History (QV81), Philosophy (QV85), Theology and Religious Studies (QV86)

BA/BSc History

UCAS Code V100

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Our wide-ranging history course takes you across the globe so you can explore for yourself the full range of historical periods and societies and develop an excellent understanding of the contemporary world.

From the start of your course you will question and decipher narratives about historical events, and will assess why history is constantly being rewritten. The freedom to explore the full variety of human societies and environments is complemented by the flexibility to pursue your own academic interests.

Why Roehampton?

Study the breadth and depth of 3,000 years of history ranging from Scandinavia to South America.

In 2014 the Research Excellence Framework judged that 100% of our research in History was rated 'world leading' for the impact it has on society.

Opportunity to undertake a three-week placement on an archaeological dig, at a school or in a museum.

Example modules

Prosperity and Violence in the Age of the Vikings c. 870–1030

Germany, 1871–1945: Kaiserreich, Republic and Third Reich

The Ancient City of Rome – Study Trip to Rome

Career opportunities

You will be able to go into careers including publishing, broadcasting, law, the charity sector, accountancy and teaching.

Combined honours

English Literature (QV31), Classical Civilisation (QV81), Philosophy (VV15), Theology and Religious Studies (VV16)

FdA/BTh Ministerial Theology

UCAS Code V610

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 2 years (FdA) and 1 year (BTh)

This course is ideal for those who are already working in Christian ministry and mission. It gives you the opportunity to develop your intellectual and practical expertise, while continuing to work in your local church or community. You will have the opportunity to reflect theologically on your ministry practice. Local mentors provide support and supervision, and there are staff visits to your place of work.

Why Roehampton?

Flexible evening and weekend teaching, allowing you to continue with your ministry commitments.

Roehampton has historical roots as an institution with strong connections to the church.

Highly recommended: 100% overall student satisfaction (National Student Survey 2015).

Example modules

Short Ministry Placement

Understanding the Church

Theology and Practice of Pastoral Care

Career opportunities

Go on to work in a wide variety of Christian ministry roles in churches and parachurch organisations, or continue with postgraduate study in Theology. Graduates of this course can also go on to work in charities or teaching.

BA/BSc Philosophy

UCAS Code V500

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

"Sapere Aude! 'Dare to think for yourself!' – that is the motto of enlightenment."
Immanuel Kant 1715–780

Learn about all the central areas of philosophy: ethics, moral and political philosophy, metaphysics, philosophy of mind and epistemology to hone your skills as a logical and critical thinker. You will study the works of the most influential philosophers, from classical thinkers such as Socrates and Plato through to Kant, Marx and Nietzsche. You'll also gain an in-depth understanding of different branches of philosophy, including politics, art, sciences, language and religion.

Why Roehampton?

Learn the skills to excel in logic, critical thinking and debate.

High levels of student satisfaction with the teaching on the course (National Student Survey 2014).

Access to a wide range of lectures, seminars and conferences by the Institute of Philosophy.

Example modules

Moral and Political Philosophy

Metaphysics and Mind

Epistemology

Career opportunities

Our graduates use their exceptional reasoning and analytical skills to go into professions such as politics, the Civil Service, journalism, business, commerce and law.

Combined honours

Drama, Theatre & Performance Studies (WV45), English Literature (QV35), Classical Civilisation (QV85), History (VV15), Theology and Religious Studies (VV56)

BA/BSc Theology and Religious Studies

UCAS Code V600

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

This course offers an exploration of traditions with deep historical roots which continue to shape politics, society and culture.

Theology and Religious Studies is one of the most fascinating and interdisciplinary degree courses available. At Roehampton, we reach out beyond the study of sacred texts to history, philosophy, ethics, culture, art and language, incorporating a study of London and its many religious communities.

Why Roehampton?

Highly recommended: 96% of students are satisfied with their personal development in this subject (National Student Survey 2014).

A targeted curriculum for those wanting to teach religious studies at GCSE or A Level.

Focuses on four areas of study essential to a theology and religious studies degree in the 21st century: philosophy, ethics, religion, and theology/biblical studies.

Example modules

The Historical Jesus

Islam and Women

Myth and Sacred Narrative

Career opportunities

You will gain the skills and knowledge to pursue a career in a range of areas including teaching, church work, the Civil Service, human rights and management.

Combined honours

Classical Civilisation (QV86), History (VV16), Philosophy (VV56)

“What I enjoyed most about my course was the enthusiasm of our teachers, plus the exciting and topical debates.”

Rebecca Wendy Coles

BA Philosophy recent graduate

Department of Life Sciences

From Anthropology to Zoology, our variety of courses will allow you to explore your interests in humans and other living organisms, including micro-organisms, plants and animals.

Our passionate and highly-qualified staff will keep you up to date with the latest breakthroughs in anthropology, biology, and sport, biomedical, and health sciences, based on their own extensive research.

You will be taught in specialist modern biomedical, ecology and nutrition laboratories; our state-of-art sport performance centre; and on a variety of external field trips to get hands-on experience while you study.

100% student satisfaction on our Anthropology course (National Student Survey 2015).

BSc Anthropology

UCAS Code L600

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

What is it to be human? How do we live? Where did we come from and where are we going?

Anthropology explores life's most meaningful questions through the study of the social, cultural and biological diversity of humans. Its various branches embrace the study of human relationships (both biological and social), historical and evolutionary changes, our primate relatives (living and extinct), ways of making a living and governing, relationships with the natural and non-empirical world, bodies, artefacts, knowledge, emotion and cognition.

Why Roehampton?

Highly recommended: 100% student satisfaction on this course (National Student Survey 2015).

You'll get the opportunity to travel to South Africa for a field course, studying local communities and wildlife (this is a self-funded trip).

We are ranked in the top 20 universities in the country for Anthropology (Complete University Guide 2016).

Example modules

Being Human

Towards a new Anthropology of HIV/AIDS and Global Health

Humans and Other Primates

Career opportunities

Our graduates have found work at all levels within conservation, teaching, journalism, international business, overseas development work, heritage and cultural sectors, charities and non-governmental organisations such as Oxfam and Children in Need.

BSc Biological Sciences

UCAS Code C120

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Capture the essence of life and living organisms with this fascinating course, exploring the molecular, cellular and organismal biology essential for understanding modern biology. You will develop skills and understanding right across the biological disciplines, including rapidly-developing areas such as biotechnology and recombinant DNA technology and their social implications. You will also study more traditional aspects of animal and plant biology.

Why Roehampton?

This course will give you the opportunity to go on field courses in the UK and South Africa (the latter is a self-funded trip).

Highly recommended: 100% student satisfaction on this course (National Student Survey 2014).

Take control of your learning by choosing modules in your specific area of interest.

Example modules

Animal Behaviour and Cognition

Physiology and Metabolism

Advances in Molecular Biology & Biotechnology

Career opportunities

Graduates will develop highly sought after skills perfect for careers in bioengineering companies, pharmaceutical industries and environmental consultancies. Students can also continue their studies at postgraduate level.

Optional: Integrated Biological Sciences masters degree

This four year option includes a final year of training in masters-level scientific skills. You will graduate with an integrated masters in Biological Sciences. Find out more at:

www.roehampton.ac.uk/life-sciences/courses

BSc Biomedical Science

UCAS Code B940

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Find out how you can make a real difference to human lives by studying the life processes of health, disease, treatment and prevention, using a practical approach. You will learn about the fundamentals of life, from cell biology, molecular biology, pharmacology and immunology, to the relationship between nutrition and health.

There will be a chance to specialise in your main area of interest, as part of your final-year research project.

Why Roehampton?

Accredited by the Institute of Biomedical Science (IBMS).

Gain experience in laboratory practises, instrumentation and analytical techniques.

A degree that is aligned to contemporary industry practices – modules reflect current issues in biomedicine and biotechnology.

Example modules

Cell Biology

The Brain in Health and Disease

Advances in Molecular Biology and Biotechnology

Career opportunities

Our graduates can work in different areas of biomedical sciences such as microbiology, haematology, immunology, cellular sciences, drug discovery, genetics or neuroscience. You may also work in various roles within the NHS or choose further study at postgraduate level.

BSc Nutrition and Health

UCAS Code B400

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

In this rewarding course, you will learn about how good nutrition enhances wellbeing and can help manage or prevent disease.

Through scientific principles, this popular course analyses the connection between food and health, and how this can be applied to individuals, the public and special groups such as athletes and older adults.

You will gain the skills to tackle topical issues and understand the effects of nutrition on health – an area of increasing public and clinical interest.

Why Roehampton?

Accredited by the Association for Nutrition, so graduates can become a registered Associate Nutritionist.

Provides a firm foundation in biochemistry, physiology and psychology, necessary for nutrition professionals.

Taught by highly experienced and published researchers – all experts in their field.

Example modules

Clinical Nutrition

Food Science

Public Health and Health Promotion

Career opportunities

You can work in health policy and health promotion, or become a public health nutritionist. Graduates also work in the food and beverage industry in areas such as product development and food safety, various roles within the NHS, and some choose to do research or further study at postgraduate level.

BSc Social Anthropology

UCAS Code Can be studied as combined honours only – see website for codes

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Explore the key debates and issues in the anthropology of development, tourism and the global landscape.

Social anthropologists engage in the study of human societies in all their diversity and complexity, from the smallest groups to mass western social systems. This course focuses on social issues such as variations in family structures, cultural traditions, gender and sexuality, and religious, political and economic systems. Students explore medical anthropology, the interface between psychology and anthropology, tourism, and the anthropology of science.

Why Roehampton?

You will study a range of varied and contemporary topics, such as how migration influences cities across the world.

You'll explore the key debates and issues in the anthropology of development, tourism and the global landscape.

You will be able to undertake ethnographic fieldwork, either in the UK or abroad.

Example modules

Kinship: Comparative and Contemporary Studies.

Being Human

Anthropology of Life and Death.

Career opportunities

Our graduates work in journalism, non-governmental organisations, environmentalism and nature conservation, politics, marketing and tourism.

Combined honours

Sociology (LCH9)

BSc Sport and Exercise Sciences

UCAS Code C602

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Human performance in sport and exercise is based on three areas – the physical and biochemical functions of the body (physiology), the mechanical actions of the body (biomechanics) and the responses of the mind, and subsequent behaviours (psychology). On this course you will gain in-depth knowledge of how these three sciences underpin sport and exercise.

By understanding the science behind the sport, you will learn how to optimise athletic performance, improve health and well-being, prevent injuries and help athletes with recovery. Using our specialised equipment, you will study the latest theory and practice of sport and exercise science.

Why Roehampton?

You will have regular access to excellent sport and exercise science laboratories.

You'll get the opportunity to complete work placements in organisations such as Nuffield Health, Wandsworth Sport Services and London-based football clubs.

This is an innovative and engaging course which will help you develop the essential skills employers seek.

Example modules

Applied Sport and Exercise Physiology

Biomechanics: Performance and Injury

Psychology of Peak Performance

Career opportunities

The course equips you with specialist and transferable skills. Our graduates go on to a range of careers including in coaching, teaching, business analytics and as nursing assistants. Many graduates also go on to further study.

BSc Sport Psychology

UCAS Code C813

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Study this course to understand the psychology that underpins athletes and exercisers and their performance and health.

The course has a theoretical and practical approach to learning. You will explore relevant research areas such as mental toughness, self-confidence, motivation, stress and anxiety, concentration and the psychology of sport injury.

You will also learn how to apply this knowledge and your psychological skills to optimise the performance of athletes and their wellbeing in pressured environments.

Why Roehampton?

Accredited by the British Psychological Society.

Taught by chartered psychologists.

In 2014 the Research Excellence Framework judged that 100% of our research in Psychology has an impact it has on society.

Example modules

Advanced Topics in Psychology
Psychology of Peak Performance
Neuropsychology

Career opportunities

The course equips you with specialist and transferable skills. Our graduates go on to a range of careers including coaching, teaching and business analytics or further study.

BSc Zoology

UCAS Code C300

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Unlock the secrets of the animal kingdom, learn how animals survive in the wild and how important they are to our ecosystem.

Zoology explores the biology of a wide range of fascinating animals from the smallest organisms to birds and primates. You will study the evolution, anatomy, physiology, behaviour and ecology of animals, and gain an understanding of modern biology in all its forms from conservation management to palaeoanthropology to molecular biology.

Why Roehampton?

This course will give you the opportunity to go on field courses in the UK and South Africa (the latter is a self-funded course).

Highly recommended: 92% student satisfaction in Zoology (National Student Survey 2015).

Roehampton is ranked best modern university in London (Complete University Guide 2016, The Sunday Times Good University Guide 2016 and The Guardian University Guide 2016).

Example modules

Animal Biology
Humans and Other Primates
Conservation Ecology

Career opportunities

Careers include conservation management and consultancy, museum curating and researcher positions.

Optional: Integrated Zoology masters degree

This four year option includes a final year of training in masters-level scientific skills, and you graduate with an integrated masters in Zoology. Find out more at:

www.roehampton.ac.uk/life-sciences/courses

“ I am particularly interested in bears and ecology within North America. Once I have graduated I want to spend more time researching and eventually complete a PhD. ”

Jake Waddoups

Zoology

Department of Media, Culture and Language

Our career-focused degrees are perfect for the best start in the creative and media industries. The Department runs an established work placement module and previous students have worked at leading media organisations including the BBC.

If you study creative degrees with us, you will have the opportunity to showcase your work in London. Students have screened their films at Hammersmith's Riverside Studios and exhibited their photography in Brick Lane.

Roehampton is ranked number one in London for Film Production and Photography (The Guardian University Guide 2016). This commitment to developing core work skills runs through to our impressive language degrees. We are passionate about the study of languages, and language teaching. As well as offering degrees ranging from English Language to Translation, we specialise in modern languages such as French and Spanish.

Roehampton is ranked one of the top two universities in London for Journalism and among the top 15 in the country (The Guardian University Guide 2016).

BA/BSc English Language and Linguistics

UCAS Code Q340

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

If you are intrigued by how meaning is communicated through language or you want to gain a deeper understanding of linguistic structure, this course is perfect for you. You will learn how language works – how sounds combine to form words, and words to form sentences – and how people use language in various contexts and for different purposes. From the spoken to the written, from the internet to politics, you will explore language in all its shapes and sizes.

Why Roehampton?

Learn with experts in a personalised and friendly small class environment.

Develop your own projects and explore language that is personally relevant to you.

English Language and Linguistics was rated as excellent for the quality of its teaching and for its practical approach to linguistics by the Higher Education Funding Council for England.

Example modules

Linguistics of Sign Language

Language Issues in Multi-lingual Settings

Language Disorders

Career opportunities

Graduates can become teachers (after completing a PGCE), professional writers, researchers or managers, or complete further study to become speech and language therapists. The course will give you a head-start in language teaching or journalism.

Combined honours

English Literature (Q310), Journalism (PQ5J)

BA/BSc Film

UCAS Code W600

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Our leading film scholars and award-winning filmmakers will help you build a strong foundation for a career in film. You will explore film history, theory and production, and learn about the latest trends in digital and 3D cinema. Being located in London also means you will form part of a vibrant film culture, and keep up to date with popular trends. The course covers everything from fiction to documentary, experimental film to world cinema, and television to the internet.

Why Roehampton?

Work with leading filmmakers, film theorists and film historians.

Roehampton is ranked number one out of London universities for Film Production and Photography (The Guardian University Guide 2016).

Develop, shoot and exhibit your own fiction and documentary films.

Example modules

Film Production Skills

Audio-Visual Criticism

Screenwriting

Career opportunities

You can work in film production, distribution and exhibition, as well as in film festival organisation and film research. The skills you gain are also transferable to advertising, public relations and other media-related industries.

Combined honours

Drama, Theatre & Performance Studies (PWH4), Creative Writing (PW38), French (PR39), Media, Culture and Identity (P391), Photography (WP63), Spanish (RP43)

BA/BSc French

UCAS Code Can be studied as combined honours only – see website for codes

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 4 years (full-time)

Adding a language to your degree will give you the competitive edge to pursue jobs in the global arena. Doing this combined degree means you can immerse yourself in the French language and culture while gaining skills in your choice of subject, such as English Literature, Journalism or Film.

You will have the chance to explore the Francophone world by spending your third year studying or working in a French-speaking country.

Join the course as a complete beginner or with A Level French (or equivalent).

Why Roehampton?

Teaching is done in small groups to give you a dedicated and focused learning experience.

Specialist media and language technology.

Boost your CV with a language-based work placement through our links with schools, the British Council and employers overseas in a French speaking country.

Example modules

French Language in Context

Introduction to France and the Francophone World

French Professional Translation

Career opportunities

Students can use their languages directly, as teachers or translators, or work in business, the media or journalism.

Combined honours

English Literature (QR3X), Film (PR39), Journalism (RP95), Spanish (R800)

BA French and Spanish

UCAS Code R800

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 4 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Graduates with additional languages are increasingly sought-after in the international jobs market.

In addition to gaining invaluable language skills, you will learn about French and Spanish-speaking cultures and societies. To give you a chance to immerse yourself in the language and culture, you will spend your third year studying at a partner university in a French and/or Spanish speaking country, gaining work experience or working as an English language assistant in a school.

Why Roehampton?

Teaching is done in small groups to give you a dedicated and focused learning experience.

Specialist media and language technology.

Boost your CV with a language-based work placement through our links with schools, the British Council and employers overseas in French and/or Spanish speaking countries.

Example modules

French/Spanish Language, Culture and Society

European Cinema

Trans-cultural Studies Project

Career opportunities

Many graduates use their skills directly as language teachers, for which two languages are essential, or as translators. Language skills will also give graduates an invaluable edge to work in media, business or the Civil Service.

“ I find the theoretical topics in my course really interesting, especially thinking about what photography is and what it can do. ”

Henrik Egeland
Photography

BA/BSc Journalism

UCAS Code P500

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

This course will develop the skills you need to work in a variety of media organisations, such as newspapers, magazines, radio, TV, the internet and social media.

You will look at different aspects of the fast-paced journalism industry, and learn how it helps shape public opinion and popular culture. You will learn how to conduct interviews and check facts, as well as produce hard-hitting news stories, features and investigative reports on topics such as politics and sports.

Why Roehampton?

You will practise and analyse different types of journalism, with a particular emphasis on magazine and multimedia production.

We have strong links with leading media organisations – providing valuable work experience opportunities.

Roehampton is ranked in the top two among London universities and in the top 15 in the country for Journalism (The Guardian University Guide 2016).

Example modules

Magazine Production

Multimedia Journalism

Investigative Journalism

Career opportunities

Our graduates work as news reporters, writers, editors and producers on local, national and international newspapers and magazines, radio, television and online publications, and in other roles in the media industry.

Combined honours

Creative Writing (PW58), English Language and Linguistics (PQ5J), French (RP95), Media, Culture and Identity (PP3M), Spanish (PR54)

BA Mass Communications

UCAS Code I120

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

Mass communications shape the world we live in – from accessing information and taking part in social and political change, to impacting on our personal everyday relationships.

You will study the key developments in the media, how media texts are produced, distributed, regulated and consumed, and the ways in which the media can influence society.

You will gain vital knowledge and skills ready for a career in media and communications.

Why Roehampton?

Study the latest global trends in media communications.

You will have the opportunity to do work experience in the media and culture industries.

Research-led learning, so you can gain problem solving, leadership and communications skills that are relevant to contemporary issues.

Example modules

From Mass Media to Multimedia

Employability for the Creative Industries

Global Trends in Television

Career opportunities

Our graduates go into careers in television and radio, print (newspapers, magazines, and journals), digital media, and research and policy organisations (such as Ofcom, Pact or the British Board of Film Classification).

BA Media, Culture and Identity

UCAS Code PL33

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

This course focuses on how we engage with television, film, music, art, social networks and other cultural forms, and considers how our sense of identity is shaped by them.

You will explore current debates about culture and the ways in which the media brings about social, cultural and political change.

Why Roehampton?

Highly recommended: 91% of students are satisfied with the teaching on this course (National Student Survey 2015).

Gain valuable experience with leading cultural organisations. Recent examples have included the Natural History Museum and Marie Claire magazine.

An interactive and collaborative teaching approach.

Example modules

Screening Gender

Emotions in Culture

Doing Visual Research in Media and Culture

Career opportunities

Graduates have gone on to have successful careers in media, research organisations, advertising and public relations, non-governmental organisations and charities, think tanks, government departments, and arts, culture or social change organisations.

Combined honours

Film (P391), Journalism (PP3M), Photography (PW36)

BA/BSc Photography

UCAS Code W640

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

This course will develop your visual and intellectual engagement with photography. You will develop advanced technical skills and gain a wide-ranging understanding of contemporary photographic culture by engaging with provocative theories.

You will have access to two industry standard studios, a dark room and two computer suites to facilitate your work.

You will benefit from London's vibrant creative scene with some of the world's leading magazines, agencies, studios and galleries based in the capital.

Why Roehampton?

Teaching staff actively research or have recent commercial photography experience.

Dedicated modules for you to research and test your area of career interest.

High specification equipment and studio facilities, including an industry-standard medium format digital camera.

Example modules

Photography and Commodity Culture

Project Proposal

Independent Project

Career opportunities

Graduates have gone on to have successful careers in freelance photography, studio photography (including assisting in studios), art photography, arts administration, advertising and public relations, and retouching.

Combined honours

Film (WP63), Media, Culture and Identity (PW36), Spanish (WR64)

BA/BSc Spanish

UCAS Code Can be studied as combined honours only – see website for codes

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 4 years (full-time)

To possess an extra language is an asset highly valued in the international jobs market.

In this combined degree you can immerse yourself in the Spanish language and culture, while gaining skills in your choice of subject, such as photography, journalism or film.

The course is designed around your career aspirations, with an opportunity to study abroad. You can join as a complete beginner or with A Level Spanish (or equivalent).

Why Roehampton?

Take advantage of the expertise in our internationally-renowned Hispanic Research Centre.

Teaching takes place in small groups to give you a dedicated and focused learning experience.

This programme includes a fully accredited, compulsory year abroad in Spain or Latin America.

Example modules

Hispanic Culture and Society

Latin America Revolutions

Spanish Professional Translation

Career opportunities

Some students use their languages directly, as teachers or translators. Language skills also give graduates an invaluable edge to work in business, the media or journalism.

Combined honours

English Literature (QR34), Film (RP43), French (R800), Journalism (PR54), Photography (WR64)

BA Translation

UCAS Code Q910

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 4 years (full-time)

Translation skills will make you a strong candidate to work in the media, international commerce and with international bodies like the EU and UN.

The course will give you a solid foundation in the French and Spanish languages, together with practical and theoretical modules in translation.

You will spend your third year studying at one of our specialist translation school partners abroad or gaining relevant work experience.

Why Roehampton?

Take advantage of the expertise in our internationally-renowned Translation Research Centre.

Opportunity to undertake work placements in the UK and abroad including France, Spain, Belgium and Switzerland.

Teaching in small groups by professional translators and linguists, using multimedia technology.

Example modules

Computer-Assisted Translation Tools

Translation Portfolio

Media Translation

Career opportunities

Translation graduates may find work as interpreters, bilingual secretaries, in-house translators with language service providers, freelance translators, or in legal departments. The course also provides a route into postgraduate study in Worldwide Audiovisual Translation.

Department of Psychology

You will receive a high level of quality teaching from staff who are world-renowned experts in their field.

Thanks to the expertise of our teaching staff as active researchers, our students benefit from the most up-to-date education. Their first-hand experiences as specialists and practitioners will guide your journey of discovery into the human mind.

We offer a sophisticated range of facilities to support your studies including an MRI scanner, Transcranial Magnetic Stimulation and Electroencephalography equipment.

All our BSc courses are accredited by the British Psychological Society to put you on the right path to a successful career in Psychology.

100% of our research is rated 'world leading' or 'internationally excellent' for its impact (Research Excellence Framework 2014).

BA/BSc Psychology

UCAS Code C800

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Develop your understanding of yourself and others by studying how the human mind works and why people behave in the ways that they do. Learn how psychology can have a positive impact on people's lives. Study an exciting range of modules, taught by highly qualified specialists in their fields. You will also have access to software and equipment used in world-leading research.

If you graduate with a 2:2 or above, you will automatically gain Graduate Basis for Chartered Membership of the British Psychological Society.

Why Roehampton?

Expert guest speakers are invited to talk to students, so you can learn about real-life experiences from practising psychologists.

Graduates with a 2:2 or above are entitled to Graduate Basis for Chartership (GBC) from the British Psychological Society.

100% of our research has an impact on societies around the world (Research Excellence Framework 2014).

Example modules

Criminal and Forensic Psychology

Autism: An Interdisciplinary Approach

Social and Cognitive Development: Family to School

Career opportunities

This course provides the basis for careers in chartered counselling psychology, or educational, occupational, clinical or forensic psychology. You will also be equipped to work in a range of other sectors.

Combined honours

Criminology (MC98)

BSc Psychology and Counselling

UCAS Code C845

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Are you interested in developing practical counselling skills as well as learning the theory to support your practice? Then this course is for you.

Our comprehensive lectures are taught with great enthusiasm by experienced therapy practitioners and you will work on exciting group projects and practical sessions to challenge your mind further. You will leave the course with the solid foundation needed to progress into a range of psychology and therapeutic professions.

Why Roehampton?

This cutting-edge programme was the first of its kind in the UK.

Fully-equipped teaching facilities, including social, cognitive and computing laboratories.

Graduates with a 2:2 or above are entitled to Graduate Basis for Chartership (GBC) from the British Psychological Society.

Example modules

Practice of Counselling Skills

Models of Counselling Psychology

Psychological Assessment for Counselling

Career opportunities

This course provides the basis for careers in chartered counselling psychology, or educational, occupational, clinical or forensic psychology. You will also be equipped to work in a range of other sectors.

BA Therapeutic Psychology

UCAS Code 3G90

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

This is your first step to becoming a therapist in your area of interest. The course combines Roehampton's well-established strengths in counselling, psychology, and arts and play therapies. You will be able to enjoy a mix of theory, practice and personal development. This rich learning approach alongside voluntary work experience will give you the best chance at gaining entry into a related career or into postgraduate training courses, all of which we offer in our Department.

Why Roehampton?

An enviable international reputation as a centre of therapeutic training.

Includes practical elements that allow you to apply your academic knowledge.

The flexibility to change focus during year one (for example to Psychology or Psychology and Counselling).

Example modules

Interpersonal Neurobiology

The Arts on the Couch

Attachment Theory and Self-Regulation

Career opportunities

Graduates develop careers as psychotherapists, counsellors, art psychotherapists, play therapists, drama therapists or within safeguarding organisations, the police, social services, education and human resources.

“ Psychology can be used to explain and deal with many of the issues we face in society, business, medicine and even our own personal lives. Studying at Roehampton has really given me an insight into this and now I apply it to everyday life. ”

Erina Sebuliba

Psychology and Counselling

Department of Social Sciences

Our Social Sciences Department will give you a strong research-informed insight into the most important global issues facing the world today.

Whether you want to study Sociology, Criminology or Law, our thought-provoking degrees will help you to understand and challenge the world around you. As you study the complexities of society, explore the causes of crime or learn about the English legal system, you will gain the knowledge and skills you need to succeed in your chosen career.

The University of Roehampton is rated sixth in the UK for the impact of our Social Sciences research (Research Excellence Framework 2014) and the work of the Crucible Centre for Human Rights is well-respected across the world.

Our courses and programmes are taught by inspiring and enthusiastic academic lecturers whose work contributes to national debates and influences policy in areas such as human rights, social justice, equality, and law. Studying with us will enable you to develop as an independent thinker and resourceful globally-minded graduate capable of making a difference in the world.

97% of students are satisfied with the teaching on our Sociology course (National Student Survey 2015).

BA/BSc Criminology

UCAS Code M900

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Criminology is an exciting, often controversial, and always topical, academic discipline that explores the economic, social and political context of crime, crime prevention and criminalisation. It enables you to question how different societies define crime and to analyse the ways in which they respond to it.

You will explore why people commit crimes, why certain acts are illegal, why prison is used as a form of punishment, and why what is defined as crime changes across time and place.

Why Roehampton?

Your lecturers have direct experience of working in the criminal justice system as expert advisors, policy makers, researchers and campaigners.

Staff carry out cutting-edge research and specialise in topics such as 'honour' killings, child and adolescent violence, drugs, art crime, policing, punishment and prisons, and popular cultural representations of crime, all of which inform their teaching.

Tailor your degree by choosing from our range of engaging modules specialising in areas that interest you.

Example modules

Contemporary Issues in Criminology

Punishment and Prisons

Youth Crime and Justice

Career opportunities

You will have the flexibility to tailor your degree to your personal and professional interests and can look forward to career prospects in criminal justice, social welfare and government agencies.

Combined honours

Sociology (ML93), Psychology (MC98)

LLB (Hons) Law

UCAS Code M100

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

This course is specially designed to focus on your employability and career development, to prepare you for a legal profession. Throughout your degree, our Law in Practice stream will bring you face to face with practitioners from the legal professions.

You will gain practical experience of putting law into action through our pro bono activities with the Citizens Advice Bureau and the opportunity to obtain work placements. You will also be encouraged to engage with legal issues and build up the skills you need as a law practitioner.

Why Roehampton?

A qualifying law degree that gives you access to modern perspectives on national and international law.

A course designed and developed by experienced lawyers and legal professionals.

An emphasis on developing transferable skills through practice-based learning and our new mooting and debating societies.

Example modules

Law in Practice 1 and 2 (Legal Communication and Commercial Awareness)

English Legal Systems, Ethics and Skills

Law in Practice 3 (Options: Work Placement/ Problem-based Learning/Citizens Advice Bureau Placement)

Career opportunities

The course will prepare graduates for a range of legal careers including practising solicitors, barristers, paralegals, academic law or any career which demands critical reasoning skills.

LLB (Hons) Law and Criminology

UCAS Code ML61

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time)

Explore the causes and consequences of crime and its control in this mix of exciting and controversial subject areas.

The degree will cover the essential law foundation subjects that you need in order to practise law, together with exploring current trends in, and the different responses to, crime. You will gain practical skills and experience, while you increase your legal and criminal justice knowledge in a dynamic environment. Our teaching also draws on a range of other disciplines such as Sociology, Psychology and Human rights.

Why Roehampton?

Taught by professionals with practical experience of the criminal justice system as practitioners, expert advisors, researchers and campaigners.

Good balance of academic rigour and focused learning in small groups.

Gain practical experience through our industry links and our mooted and debating societies.

Example modules

Introduction to Criminal Justice

Ethics and Skills

Law in Practice 3 (Options: Criminology Work Placement/Problem-based Learning/Citizens Advice Bureau Placement)

Career opportunities

You will be equipped to work in a legal profession, as a paralegal or a crime analyst. You can also work in prison and probation services, the police, the Home Office, the Ministry of Justice and the court system.

BA/BSc Sociology

UCAS Code L300

Tariff points See website course page for details

Duration 3 years (full-time) 5–7 years (part-time)

Sociology is the study of human social behaviour. This course is designed to challenge how you think about your life and understand the communities you live in and the social structures that make up society. You will develop a strong understanding of what shapes our society, from politics, religion, and the environment, to family, identity and the economy. You will carry out your own research projects and evaluate the options facing policy makers on a range of social issues. Sociology graduates are valued by employers for their ability to assess a range of topics and critically think about issues in imaginative and creative ways.

Why Roehampton?

Highly recommended: 97% of students are satisfied with teaching on this course (National Student Survey 2015).

Develop your communication skills by presenting your research in our annual student conference.

Roehampton is ranked sixth in the country for the impact of our social sciences research (Research Excellence Framework 2014).

Example modules

Sociology and Everyday Life

Contemporary Urban Life

Intimacy and Self

Career opportunities

Sociology develops essential skills needed for working in the media, government, charities, businesses, the criminal justice system, community development and social work.

Combined honours

Criminology (ML93), Social Anthropology (LCH9)

“The best aspect of my degree is the guest speaker programme. We have had talks from the Metropolitan Police, ex-offenders, prison officers and probation officers about their roles and their main duties.”

Nilani Janenthiran

Criminology

Most students applying for undergraduate study will do so via UCAS (www.ucas.com).

You can apply for up to five courses at UK higher education institutions using the UCAS service. Please note that UCAS do charge a fee for submitting an application using this route. Once we receive your application from UCAS, we aim to make a decision on it within a few days.

Once you have heard back from all the institutions you have applied to, you need to decide which application will be your 'firm' choice (first choice) and your 'insurance' choice (second choice). During the time it takes for you to make your decision, we will contact you by email, phone and occasionally by post with more information about studying with us.

You may submit late applications up until 30 June 2016; however, please be aware that if courses become full, we may not be able to make offers on late applications. After 30 June you will only be able to make an application via the UCAS clearing service.

International students from outside of the EU have the option to apply using the application form on our website at any point in the year. There is no charge to make an application via this route.

Entry requirements

To find out entry requirements for your specific course, please visit our course pages at

www.roehampton.ac.uk

For international and EU students our international pages at www.roehampton.ac.uk/international

For more information on understanding the UCAS tariff and what your qualifications mean in relation to the tariff, please visit www.ucas.com/ucas/undergraduate/getting-started/entry-requirements/tariff

International students from non-English speaking countries will be required to meet our English Language entry requirements in addition to the course entry requirements.

Fees and funding

Tuition fees

The tuition fees are set annually, and are slightly different for home/EU and International students.

Please check our website for the latest fee information including details on part-time fees.

For full details, please see

www.roehampton.ac.uk/Finance

No fees up front

You can apply for a tuition fee loan from the government if you live in England, and you are classified as a home/EU student, and you have secured a place in higher education for studying your first degree or other higher education course.

Support with living costs

Home students are also eligible for a maintenance loan from the government to help with living costs. Part of the loan is income assessed and the amount you receive will depend on factors such as if you choose to live away from home or not. If you apply to Roehampton you will be eligible for a larger loan because the University is based in London. The maximum loan for 2016 entry is currently £10,702. For the most up-to-date information please see www.gov.uk/student-finance

When do I repay the tuition fee and maintenance loans?

You don't start repaying any loans until the April after graduation and only once you are working and earning more than £21,000 a year. If your income drops below this threshold at any point then your repayments would also stop. You repay 9% of your income above £21,000. After 30 years, any outstanding loan is written off.

Extra help

Depending on your individual circumstances, you may also be eligible for extra support from the government in the form of bursaries and grants.

For full details please see

www.gov.uk/student-finance

Scholarships and bursaries

The University of Roehampton offers a range of scholarships. To find details of the latest scholarships on offer, visit

www.roehampton.ac.uk/Finance/Scholarships

Part-time job opportunities

Many students get a part-time job whilst studying to help towards their living costs as well as to gain valuable skills and experience for their CV. Our very own on-campus recruitment agency, Unitemps, supplies part-time and temporary jobs for students on campus and in the local area.

For more on how to apply, visit www.roehampton.ac.uk/how-to-apply

Directions to our campus

Public transport

The University of Roehampton is in zone three of the London transport system, just 30 minutes from central London.

National Rail

From Barnes station, the main campus (Digby Stuart, Froebel and Southlands Colleges) is a 10-minute walk and Whitelands College is a 25-minute walk, or a short ride on the 72 or 265 buses. Trains go to Barnes from Clapham Junction and Waterloo in one direction and Kingston, Richmond, Staines and Windsor in the other direction.

Underground

From Hammersmith (District/Piccadilly/Hammersmith and City/Circle lines), take the 72 bus from stop K in the lower bus station next to the shopping centre (above the underground station). From Putney Bridge (District Line), take the 265 bus outside the station.

Bus

The University is well served by buses that link Roehampton to Hammersmith, Richmond, Kingston, Putney, Clapham Junction, Wimbledon and New Malden. The 72, 265 and 493 buses stop next to the main site and close to Whitelands and Mount Clare (at the junction of Danebury Avenue).

The 170 and 430 buses stop on Danebury Avenue, which is very close to Whitelands and Mount Clare and a short walk from the main site.

Car

Please note, parking is limited on campus and in nearby streets. All University sites are on or near the A306 Roehampton Lane, between the A3 and the A205 South Circular (Upper Richmond Road).

Postcodes for satellite navigation systems are as follows: Digby Stuart and Southlands College SW15 5PU, Froebel College SW15 5PJ and Whitelands College SW15 4JD.

Bicycle

The University can be easily reached by bike, and there are cycle stands throughout the campus. The Transport for London online journey planner provides route maps to the University, see journeyplanner.tfl.gov.uk

See page 22 for a map of the local area.

Visiting us

Visiting Roehampton is the best way to get a feel for what it's like to be part of our student community.

Open Days

We understand that choosing a university course is a big decision and want to help you to make the right choice. The best way to find out everything that Roehampton has to offer is by attending one of our open days.

On the day you can attend two different subject talks and chat to current students and teaching staff about your course interests. You can also tour our beautiful parkland campus, take a look at our range of on-campus accommodation and attend our Student Life fair with representatives from right across the University.

You'll also have plenty of opportunities to chat to our current students who are on hand to answer any questions you may have and to tell you their perspective on student life and study at Roehampton. By the end of the day, we hope you will discover that Roehampton is a place where you can feel at home for the duration of your studies.

2016

Saturday 9 July

Saturday 8 October

Saturday 12 November

2017

Saturday 8 July

Other opportunities to visit

We'd really recommend coming along to one of our Open Days if you can but if you aren't able to attend then we also run regular campus tours on Tuesdays. These tours give you the chance to have a general look around the campus with one of our student ambassadors.

For more information, see www.roehampton.ac.uk/Campus-Tours

To find out more information about our Open Days and to book your place, visit www.roehampton.ac.uk/Open-Days/Undergraduate-Open-Days

Parents' and guardians' checklist

Tariff points

We welcome parents and guardians of students who are interested in studying at Roehampton to come along and visit us at our Open Days and Offer Holder Days.

You will be able to see our lovely campus and take a look at the accommodation available. There is also opportunity to meet the staff who will ensure that your son or daughter gets the best out of life both inside and outside of the classroom.

As a parent or guardian you may not need to know about the best club nights or whether there's a yoga society. But there are many other things you will be interested in. Here's a quick checklist for you of what we offer.

- ✓ Strong academic record: Rated London's best modern university by three independent university guides in 2016
- ✓ Excellent teaching standards
- ✓ High levels of contact time with academics
- ✓ Supportive ethos with a focus on realising student potential
- ✓ State-of-the-art facilities in a historic setting
- ✓ High quality accommodation on campus
- ✓ Strong focus on students' career development through work placements and contacts with leading organisations and industry professionals
- ✓ Safe environment with a 24/7 University Security Service
- ✓ The opportunity to study abroad
- ✓ Dedicated academic and non-academic support services

If you have any questions, don't hesitate to contact us – see our contact details on the back of this prospectus.

From September 2015 qualifications are being reformed across the UK at both level 2 (GCSE) and level 3 (A Level, BTEC, Access etc.). UCAS has developed a new way to calculate the tariff points associated with each qualification in line with this structural change. These changes are likely to affect students applying for entry to university in September 2017.

What the new points mean to you

- All qualifications currently on the UCAS tariff will continue to attract points under the new system.
- The new tariff points are based on an approach which used the qualification's size and grades to calculate its total tariff points.
- The numbers are much lower, for example an A level grade A* gets 56 points under the new tariff, in comparison with 140 under the current tariff.
- You'll still need to achieve the same grades at A level, Scottish Advanced Higher, Scottish Higher or BTEC, or in any other qualification you're taking to meet higher education course entry requirements.
- The new UCAS tariff points should not have any impact on your decisions about qualification choices at school or college, or your preparation or application to a higher education course.
- The AS is now 40% of an A level – this is more accurate according to qualification regulators.
- You may notice that unis and colleges are starting to refer to new UCAS tariff points from now on, because they know that younger learners start their higher education course research early.
- 2017 entry courses advertised on the UCAS search tool from May 2016 will refer to the new UCAS tariff points only.

Business

Accounting	42
Business Management	42
Business Management and Economics	43
Business Management and Entrepreneurship	43
Human Resource Management	45
International Business	45
Marketing	46
Retail Marketing and Management	46
EXTENDED DEGREES
Business Management	47
Business Management and Economics	47
Business Management and Entrepreneurship	47
Human Resource Management	47
International Business	47
Marketing	47
Retail Marketing and Management	47

Dance

Dance Studies	51
---------------	----

Drama, Theatre and Performance

Drama, Theatre and Performance Studies	55
Drama Studies	55

Education

Early Childhood Studies	58
Education	58
Primary Education	59
Sport Coaching	59
Sports Coaching Practice	61
EXTENDED DEGREES
Early Childhood Studies	61
Early Childhood Studies and Education	61
Education	61

English and Creative Writing

Creative Writing	65
English Literature	65

Humanities

Classical Civilisation	68
History	68
Ministerial Theology	69
Philosophy	69
Theology and Religious Studies	71

Life Sciences

Anthropology	74
Biological Sciences	74
Biomedical Science	75
Nutrition and Health	75
Social Anthropology	76
Sport and Exercise Sciences	76
Sport Psychology	79
Zoology	79

Media, Culture and Language

English Language and Linguistics	82
Film	82
French	83
French and Spanish	83
Journalism	85
Mass Communications	85
Media, Culture and Identity	86
Photography	86
Spanish	87
Translation	87

Psychology

Psychology	90
Psychology and Counselling	90
Therapeutic Psychology	93

Social Sciences

Criminology	96
LLB Law	96
LLB Law and Criminology	99
Sociology	99

Contact us

UK prospective student enquiries

E: undergraduate@roehampton.ac.uk
T: +44 (0)20 8392 3232

International prospective student enquiries

E: international@roehampton.ac.uk
T: +44 (0)20 8392 3192

www.roehampton.ac.uk

twitter.com/roehamptonuni

facebook.com/Roehampton.uni

instagram.com/uni_roehampton

This prospectus was accurate at the time of going to print. It is important therefore that you check the University website for updates as some information is subject to change.

The University will endeavour to deliver the course in accordance with the description applied to it in the University's prospectus and on the website for the academic year in which you begin the course. However, the University will be entitled to make reasonable changes to the course, including to content or syllabus of the course where developments in the subject area make that necessary, or to the location, method of delivery or methods of assessment on the course. In making any such changes, the University will aim to make the minimum changes necessary and will notify and consult with affected students in advance about any changes that are required. If the University changes your course and you are not satisfied with the changes, you will be offered the opportunity to withdraw from the programme and, if required, reasonable support to transfer to another provider.

Further, circumstances beyond the University's reasonable control may prevent it from delivering the courses as described. Examples of such circumstances could include unanticipated departure of key members of University staff or where numbers recruited to the course are such that it is not possible to deliver an appropriate quality of education for students. In these circumstances, the University will take all reasonable steps to minimise any resultant disruption, by, for example, offering those students the chance to move to another course or institution or by delivering a modified version of the same course, but to the full extent that is possible under the general law, the University excludes liability for any loss and/or damage suffered by any applicant or student as a result of those circumstances.

 www.roehampton.ac.uk

 twitter.com/roehamptonuni

 facebook.com/Roehampton.uni

 instagram.com/uni_roehampton

Postgraduate Prospectus 2017/18

London's Campus University

5	Welcome
8	Studying at Roehampton
10	Research
12	Your experience
18	International students
20	Your career
22	Our accommodation
27	Course index

Contents

28	Business
36	Dance
44	Drama, Theatre and Performance
50	Education
60	English and Creative Writing
66	Humanities
74	Life Sciences
86	Media, Culture and Language
94	Psychology
104	Social Sciences
112	How to apply
113	Tuition fees
114	Funding
115	Getting here
116	Contact us
117	Open evenings

At Roehampton we are as invested in your future as you are. When you join the University, you will work closely with our inspiring academic staff in a friendly, welcoming environment. Studying with us will help you to develop the skills that employers value most. We'll also give you the chance to build the professional networks that will help you to become a success in your chosen career.

Welcome

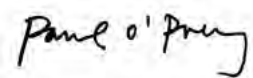

Roehampton has a unique atmosphere; it's a real community, a partnership in which you'll have the chance to help shape the way the University runs. It is also a community that you can continue to be part of after you leave, thanks to our thriving alumni network.

We have a proud history in education stretching back over 175 years through our four Colleges. Our rich history informs our ethos, providing a distinctive experience for our students.

As a postgraduate, you will benefit directly from interacting with academic staff who are working at the cutting edge of their fields, producing innovative, internationally-renowned research. You will study on a campus that offers the best of both worlds: a beautiful, parkland environment, situated in the heart of south-west London.

You will leave Roehampton with greater confidence, a passion for your subject and with the skills that will enable you to succeed in the complex modern work environment.

We hope you can join us.

Professor Paul O'Prey CBE
Vice-Chancellor

Best modern university in London in 2016¹

Most research-intensive modern university in the UK²

98% of postgraduate students in work or further study six months after graduation³

1. The Complete University Guide 2016 and 2017, the Sunday Times Good University Guide 2016 and the Guardian University Guide 2016.

2. Research Excellence Framework 2014

3. Destination of Leavers from Higher Education, 2014/15 Survey.

Studying at Roehampton

At Roehampton, we offer a first-class educational experience, designed to help you reach your full potential and get the career you want. Our beautiful campus offers excellent facilities for teaching and learning.

During your time here you'll study alongside our exceptional academic staff, who are engaged in world-class research. They are passionate about the subjects they teach, resulting in stimulating, contemporary courses that will give you a comprehensive understanding of your chosen field. Our postgraduate class sizes are small, meaning you'll get the individual attention you need to succeed in your chosen career. Whatever subject you study, you will be part of a diverse and close-knit community of postgraduate students, all sharing their experiences and perspectives.

We make sure that all of our courses are focused on enhancing career skills. This is why official surveys show we are one of the leading London universities for graduate employment, with 98% of our postgraduate students in work or further study six months after leaving us.*

*Destinations of Leavers from Higher Education 2014/15 survey

“The individual attention and guidance we get from knowledgeable academics, who are leaders in their field, is the real value of my MA.”

Simon Brand
MA Film and Screen Cultures

Research

We are focused on creating knowledge and ideas that help us to understand our world and make it a better place.

We have research-active staff engaged in teaching across all of our academic departments, which means you will benefit from being taught by leading thinkers.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/research/

Improving Policy

Dr Andrew Rogers, in the Department of Humanities, launched the Faith and Place Network policy briefing at the House of Commons. The year-long study looked into how relations between religious groups and the local government planning system can be improved.

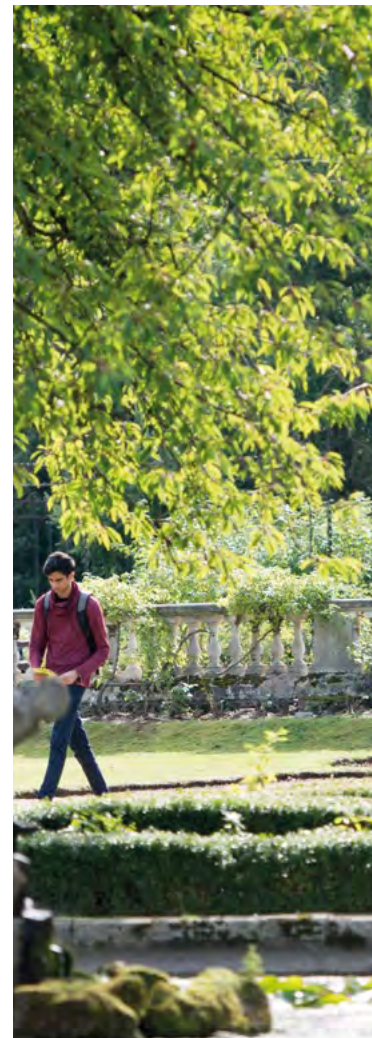

↑ Houses of Parliament and Big Ben

Supporting Young People

Professor Mick Cooper from the Department of Psychology is undertaking a £850,000 nationwide research project into the benefits of professional school counsellors.

↑ Professor Mick Cooper

Enriching Culture

Professor David Harsent from the Department of English and Creative Writing, was selected as a judge for the 2016 Man Booker Prize for Fiction, after winning the TS Eliot Prize in 2015 for his collection Fire Songs.

↓ Professor David Harsent (second from left), with the Man Booker Prize judging panel

Most research-intensive modern university in the UK

Protecting Wildlife

Dr Simon Loader, from the Department of Life Sciences, discovered a new chameleon and frog species in East Africa.

→ A new chameleon discovered by Dr Simon Loader

66% of our research is rated "world leading" or "internationally excellent"

Influencing Debate

A key debate on human rights in Scotland, hosted by the country's government and its human rights commission, was informed by research carried out by senior law lecturer Dr Katie Boyle.

→ Dr Katie Boyle

Improving Lives

Our Department of Dance completed a four-year study, in partnership with the English National Ballet, that concluded that organised dancing offers physical and mental benefits to people with Parkinson's disease.

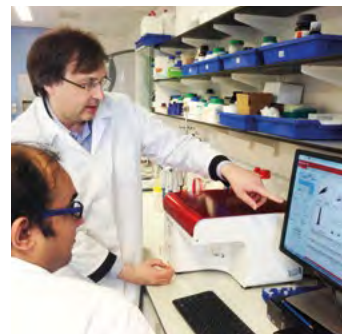

→ Participants in the joint study between the Department of Dance and the English National Ballet

Tackling Illness

Dr Robert Busch in the Department of Life Sciences, has received funding from the Multiple Sclerosis Society for a two-year project identifying how vitamin D protects against the disease.

↓ Dr Robert Busch

"My PhD at Roehampton is taking me to Washington DC to research my thesis topic."

Kaveh Abbasian
PhD Film student

Your experience

We are committed to providing the best possible experience for our vibrant community of students and staff, with modern facilities and excellent academic support.

Community

When you join Roehampton you'll become part of a thriving and friendly academic community. Our ethos, which is built on partnership, comes from our rich 175-year history in providing higher education.

If you study for a research degree, you will automatically join our Graduate School, where you'll become a full member of a research centre within your field of study. You will receive support in research skills training, interdisciplinary seminars and workshops.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/courses/graduate-school/

Facilities

We want to make sure your experience prepares you for today's job market. Our campus is equipped with state-of-the-art facilities, including modern seminar rooms, well-equipped studios for dance and drama, editing suites for film and modern laboratories for our science courses. In September 2017 we will be opening our new world-class library. Designed by award winning architects, it will provide an inspirational place to study and learn.

Support

Starting a postgraduate course can be daunting, so we support you from the moment you arrive. You will be assigned a personal tutor who will provide you with help and advice. In addition, you will have access to a wide range of free, personalised services, such as counselling, a chaplaincy service and an on-site medical centre. We also provide a wide range of support for people with disabilities and dyslexia.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/student-experience/

Social life

Our students' union hosts a calendar of social events offering you a chance to play sport or music, gain useful skills and meet and socialise with new people.

www.roehamptonstudent.com/

At Roehampton, you'll also be part of a college community. Our four historic colleges – Digby Stuart, Froebel, Southlands and Whitelands – will provide you with a range of social and cultural activities.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/colleges/

MSc to MBE

Maggie Alphonsi MBE completed an MSc in Sports & Exercise Science at Roehampton. In 2014, she was a member of the England team which won the Women's Rugby World Cup.

" I've been lucky enough to play at the highest level for my country. Getting seven Six Nations titles, becoming The Sunday Times Sportswoman of the Year and receiving an MBE from Buckingham Palace: these are accomplishments I am really proud of.

I've achieved these successes through hard work and perseverance. I believe anyone, no matter their background, can do the same. The enthusiasm and commitment of Roehampton's staff in helping their students succeed shows that they believe the same.

When I joined the Masters in Sports and Exercise Science, I got to work alongside students and staff who were passionate about what they were doing. I think it's great that Roehampton provides an environment where people can work together to build their experience and confidence, as well as their professional networks.

"

We have one of the best and most beautiful campuses in the capital, based in the heart of south-west London and only 30 minutes from the West End

International students

Every year we welcome international students from every corner of the globe to study with us across a wide range of postgraduate taught and research courses.

We have a diverse and friendly campus community, with students from around 140 different nationalities living and studying with each other. There are many on-campus activities to take part in and our location, just 30 minutes from London Waterloo, means our capital city's many attractions like the West End Theatres and Trafalgar Square are also close to hand.

Meet us in your country

Our international team make frequent overseas visits to meet with students at education exhibitions and local university representative offices. If you are considering applying to Roehampton they will be happy to help you with any queries you might have in person.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/international/meet-us-in-your-country/

Entry requirements

We accept a wide range of overseas qualifications. For country-specific equivalents visit: www.roehampton.ac.uk/international.

English language requirements

There is a minimum standard of English that is required to start on one of our postgraduate courses for students who do not speak English as their first language (which is an IELTS 6.5 or equivalent). For a full list of English requirements and tests that we accept for entry, please visit www.roehampton.ac.uk/International/entry-requirements/

English language support

Roehampton offers 5, 10 and 15 week Pre-Sessional English language courses for students who have been offered a place on a postgraduate course but still need to meet the academic English requirements. These courses aim to get students to the level required for postgraduate study, and to help increase confidence for academic study in the UK.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/english-language-courses/pre-sessional-english/

Pathway programmes

The Graduate Diploma and Graduate Certificate programmes are designed for students who want to develop their academic English and subject knowledge before beginning their postgraduate degree. They are offered in conjunction with our partners QA Higher Education and aim to prepare students for a seamless transition onto a postgraduate programme.

English language support is also available to international students throughout their postgraduate course, to ensure you are able to maximise your studies at Roehampton.

Contact us

If you have any questions about studying with us, we would be happy to help.

Email — international@roehampton.ac.uk

Telephone — +44 (0) 208 392 3192

The UK Referendum on UK membership of the EU

Students from the whole of Europe make a fantastic contribution to the life of the University, and we will continue to welcome students from Europe, and the rest of the world, after the UK's exit from the European Union.

Please visit our website for the most up to date developments regarding students from the European Union studying in the UK.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/international/

Your career

The graduate job market is becoming more and more competitive. That's why, at Roehampton, career skills are embedded across student life to give you an extra edge.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/careers/

Roehampton Internship Scheme

This popular scheme provides the opportunity for postgraduate students and recent graduates to complete three-month paid internships with local businesses.

← Julien Callede, COO and co-founder of Made.com talking to Roehampton Business School students.

Student Sam Chambers at his Junior Reporter internship at Newsquest

98% of postgraduate students are in work or further study six months after graduation.

Skills For Work

Our courses are designed to equip you with the skills, attributes and experience that employers value. Many courses offer work placements as well as guest lectures and talks from leading experts from industry and business.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/careers/

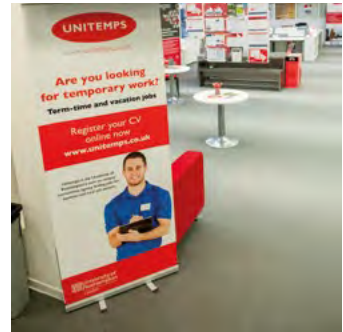

← Sports and Exercise student in a laboratory

Unitemps

Our on-site recruitment agency will help you find part time employment during your studies, and after graduation, temporary, permanent jobs and internships. These services are free and available to all Roehampton students and alumni.

→ Roehampton's onsite recruitment agency, Unitemps

Mentoring

You'll have a chance to join our successful Career Mentoring Scheme, which matches Roehampton students and recent graduates with experienced professionals for one-to-one career advice, support and guidance.

↑ Roehampton alumni and poet Joshua Idehen with Alexander McCall Smith at Wimbledon BookFest 2014.

Students at their graduation ceremony

The School of Education has partnerships with over 350 schools.

Careers Advice

All students have access to our online portal, URCareerLink, which offers an extensive range of online careers resources including a CV builder, interview simulator, assessment tests and a career planner. Students and alumni can also meet with a careers adviser for information, advice and guidance, attend workshops, and employer events and sign up for our Frontrunner Leadership programme.

↓ PGCE student in his school placement

"I had so many great experiences during my internship including being on the judging panel for a short story competition with award-winning author Sian Hughes."

Suzanne Curley
MA Children's Literature student and Wimbledon Bookfest Intern

Our accommodation

Accommodation for postgraduate students is available within the University's beautiful parkland campus, central London or off-site in privately rented accommodation. Whether you stay on-campus or off-campus, you will be a member of one of our four Colleges, whose staff are on hand to ensure you get the best possible experience.

Off campus

We offer modern accommodation in Vauxhall, in TfL Zone 1/2, which is ideal for students preferring to be closer to central London, while at the same time being able to travel to our campus with ease. The facilities at our Spring Mews site include a private swimming pool, gym, laundry facilities, a cinema room and plenty of social and study spaces.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/accommodation/central-london/spring-mews/

On campus

We have a limited number of rooms available for postgraduate students on campus. All rooms are en-suite, have internet access and all fees are inclusive of utilities bills and contents insurance.

If you are interested in living outside of our halls of residences we can help you find private rented accommodation, either in the local area or across London.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/accommodation/off-campus/

www.roehampton.ac.uk/accommodation/on-campus/

Roehampton word tree

These are the words most used by our students and alumni when describing the University of Roehampton. The bigger the word, the more often it has been used.*

*New Entrant Survey 2015-16 and Alumni Survey 2015

Journey to Africa

Megan completed an MRes Primate Biology, Behaviour and Conservation. She is currently doing field research in Zambia.

“ I was interested in pursuing a PhD and wanted to undertake an independent research project to help build my knowledge in an area that interested me. The MRes course at Roehampton gave me this opportunity.

As an international student, it was a pleasure to live and study in London. I was able to meet a lot of different people from around the world. I studied with an excellent group of students. I am still in touch with everyone from my course, and these are friendships

I value personally, as well as professionally. I am thankful to have become part of a community of people that I will continue to cross paths with throughout my career.

I am continuing my work as a primate field researcher in Africa, where I now study Kinda baboons in Zambia. This opportunity would not have been possible without the training, experience, and professional networks I gained from the MRes at Roehampton. ”

Course index

Business 28–35

International Management
International Management with Finance
International Management with HRM International Management with Marketing
MBA

Dance 36–43

Choreography
Choreography and Performance
Choreomundus: International Master in Dance Knowledge, Practice and Heritage
Dance Anthropology
Dance Philosophy and History
Dance Politics and Sociology

Drama, Theatre and Performance 44–49

London's Theatre and Performance:
Viewing, Making, Writing

Education 50–59

Early Childhood Studies
Education Leadership and Management Education Policy
Educational Practice
National Award for SEN Coordinators
Special Educational Needs
(Inclusive or Psychological Perspectives)
PGCE Primary
Primary General (with Mathematics)
PGCE Secondary
School Direct Primary and Secondary

English and Creative Writing 60–65

Children's Literature
Children's Literature (Distance Learning)
Creative Writing
Creative Writing (specialist pathway)

Humanities 66–73

Christian Ministry
Classical Research
Historical Research
History
Practical Theology
Studies in Contemporary Catholicism
Theology and Religious Studies

Life Sciences 74–85

Anthropology of Health
Biomechanics
Clinical Neuroscience
Clinical Nutrition
Health Sciences
Obesity: Risks and Prevention
Primate Biology, Behaviour and Conservation
Psychology of Sport and Exercise (BPS)
Sport and Exercise Physiology
Sport and Exercise Science
Sport and Exercise Science (MRes)
Stress and Health

Media, Culture and Language 86–93

Applied Linguistics and TESOL
Audiovisual Translation
Film and Screen Cultures Intercultural Communication in the Creative Industries
Journalism
Media Communication and Culture
Specialised Translation

Psychology 94–103

Art Psychotherapy
Attachment Studies
Counselling Psychology
Dance Movement Psychotherapy
Dramatherapy
Integrative Counselling and Psychotherapy
Music Therapy
Play Therapy
Psychological Science

Social Sciences 104–111

Erasmus Mundus Human Rights Policy and Practice
Global Criminology
Graduate Diploma in Law
Human Rights
Human Rights and International Relations

Business

The Roehampton Business School offers high-quality postgraduate programmes for students wishing to undertake advanced management studies, both via our MBA, and the MSc in International Management. The MSc allows students to choose between pathways in Finance, Human Resources, or Marketing.

Students benefit from the diverse experience of our staff, who are involved in research and consultancy nationally and internationally. They have extensive commercial experience, and excellent contacts within industry.

We proactively collaborate with professional bodies to provide every Business School graduate with a route to chartered professional status in addition to their degree. Our programmes are recognised by UK chartered professional body the Chartered Management Institute (CMI).

The Department regularly hosts events with speakers from national and global companies to offer insights and advice. In 2016 students had the opportunity to hear from business leaders from organisations such as Santander, Haymarket, the Financial Times, Made.com and Challenger Capital.

Our portfolio provides our students with an education that is exciting, current and is grounded in excellent research and teaching methods.

Our programmes are recognised by UK chartered professional body the Chartered Management Institute (CMI)

Research and course information

Research centres

The Business School is home to The Centre for Organisational Research (COR), in which our staff share and develop their research in the key areas of: governance; human wellbeing and flourishing in organisational contexts; social, organisational and technological innovation; building and maintaining relationships in business; knowledge, expertise and learning in organisational contexts.

Recent research projects

‘Investigating the customer experience of the town centre’: Professor Mohammed Rafiq’s research tracked shoppers over a period of time and produced a detailed picture of consumer behaviour, which illustrated that the town centre is still the UK’s favourite shopping destination.

‘Exploring How the Balanced Scorecard Engages and Unfolds: Articulating the Visual Power of Accounting Inscriptions’: Professor Cristiano Busco’s latest study builds on previous research and attempts to provide a better understanding of how the balanced scorecard performs multiple roles within an organisation.

‘Challenging Gendered Media Mis(s)Representations of Women Professionals and Leaders’: An Economic and Social Research Council (ESRC) funded project led by Professor Sharon Mavin and Professor Carole Elliott. The project includes a seminar series for business leaders, researchers and stakeholders, looking into gendered misrepresentations of women leaders and professionals.

Dr Suzy Jagger has developed the first known virtual game created to teach business ethics. ‘Virtual Values’ helps players familiarise themselves with typical ethical dilemmas they might meet in the workplace as well as linking actions with their personal values. The game is designed to help players develop their ethical awareness by seeing the outcome of their decisions within the context of the game storyline.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/business/research/

For more information and to discuss your research interests please contact staff directly.

MSc International Management

FT 1 Year See website

September or January

The MSc in International Management will develop you as a future manager and leader who can do business across time zones, cultures and languages and in global and diverse contexts. The course provides a solid grounding in key areas of business and management practice and is fully recognised by the Chartered Management Institute (CMI). Successful completion leads to eligibility for membership of the CMI and the potential to gain chartered manager status.

Why Roehampton

Ideal for students of all undergraduate degree backgrounds.

This course will explore key functions within business and management practice in an international context.

Fully recognised by the Chartered Management Institute (CMI).

Example modules

International Management and HRM

Cross Cultural Management

Management Research Methods

Career opportunities

A generalist career in international organisations, more specialist employment in the finance, marketing and human resources management (HRM) sectors globally and further academic studies, eg, a PhD on an international management topic.

MSc International Management with Finance

FT 1 Year See website

September or January

This specialist pathway will help you to develop an understanding of finance within organisations, as well as develop knowledge of key elements of corporate financial management. There is a particular focus on international capital markets and international banking, preparing you for employment in international contexts where the management of capital in mixed financial economies is complex and therefore risky.

Why Roehampton

This course has been designed so it is appropriate for both business and non-business graduates alike.

Fully recognised by the Chartered Management Institute (CMI).

Develop your understanding of international management, with a particular focus on finance.

Example modules

International Capital Markets and Banking

International Financial Management

Managing Projects

Career opportunities

A generalist career in international organisations, more specialist employment in the finance, marketing and human resources management (HRM) sectors globally and further academic studies, eg, a PhD on an international management topic.

MSc International Management with HRM

 FT 1 Year  See website

 September or January

This specialist pathway will enable you to engage in a critical dialogue about the strategic importance of human resource management (HRM) in international firms, and gain insights into contemporary issues in HRM, such as diversity management, talent management and E-HRM. You will be taught by staff from both research and practice backgrounds.

Why Roehampton

This course has been designed for students of all degree backgrounds.

Fully recognised by the Chartered Management Institute (CMI).

Human resources covers many different functions, explore how these contribute to the successful management of international companies.

Example modules

International Management & Human Resource Management

Contemporary Issues in International HRM

Managing Ethics and Professional Issues

Career opportunities

A generalist career in international organisations, more specialist employment in the finance, marketing and human resources management (HRM) sectors globally and further academic studies, eg, a PhD on an international management topic.

MSc International Management with Marketing

 FT 1 Year  See website

 September or January

This course will enable you to analyse the marketing context in which international brands operate. You will learn how to apply marketing concepts to different contexts, including non-traditional organisations, non-profit entities and the public sector. You will also be exposed to research relating to contemporary issues in marketing.

Why Roehampton

Fully recognised by the Chartered Management Institute (CMI).

Build your business and marketing skills on this course that examines how the discipline can be applied internationally.

This course has been designed for students of all degree backgrounds.

Example modules

Contemporary Issues in Marketing

Managing Projects

Brands and Brand Management

Career opportunities

A generalist career in international organisations, more specialist employment in the finance, marketing and HRM sectors globally and further academic studies e.g. a PhD on an International Management topic.

“The Business School lecturers are very approachable and really invested in us doing well. Once I have completed my MSc, I’ll definitely return to do my PhD”.

Ruth Hekman
MSc International Management

MBA

 FT 1 Year  See website

 September or January

The Roehampton MBA is designed to prepare students for the challenges of senior management within an international environment. You will be exposed to key ideas and thinking on functional areas of business and management, including marketing, finance and human resource management. In addition you will study strategic management, with a particular focus on sustainability and ethical behaviour. You will be supported in your own personal development, through a programme of activities aimed at enhancing managerial skills and taking your career to the next level.

Why Roehampton

Roehampton's MBA is fully recognised by the Chartered Management Institute (CMI).

It is one of the most competitively-priced MBAs in London.

Based 30 minutes from the city of London, one of the leading global centres for business.

Example modules

International Management and HRM

Strategy, Change and Leadership

Brands and Brand Management

Career opportunities

Our MBA nurtures personal ambitions and provides greater management knowledge and expertise to improve career prospects. Past students have gone on to work in management roles with companies such as Mondi Group, GE, Vivid Interiors, ICIC Prudential and Argos.

Online degrees

We also offer working professionals the opportunity to earn a Roehampton masters degree fully online through a collaborative and flexible learning experience – at an affordable price. The following courses is delivered in partnership with Laureate International Universities – a global network of high-quality, accredited institutions of higher education:

Master of Business Administration (MBA)

MSc in Information Systems Management

MSc in Marketing

MSc in Project Management

MSc in Strategic Human Management

MSc in Strategic Supply Chain Management

 edu.roehampton-online.com/

Dance

Be a part of the world's most vibrant dance department, rated number one for dance research in the UK. Our postgraduate provision of six interconnected, yet distinctive, programmes introduces exciting new angles on the study of dance.

Dance at Roehampton reimagines explorational pathways into a new, transnational and transdisciplinary programme provision, articulating a dance discourse that will engage fluidly with the multiplicity of dance in a global world. Our holistic and contemporary approach enables you to study dance through distinct perspectives: anthropology, history and philosophy, politics and sociology, cultural heritage, and by researching and making performance and choreography.

In each programme you will encounter provocative, new ways of thinking that challenge how people understand and practise dance. You will also have the opportunity to collaborate in a supportive community with world leading thinkers in dance. We are keen for our students to share in our current investigations in dance research, practice and teaching as we meet the demands of making and exploring dance in the twenty-first century.

We have excellent links with dance companies and creative organisations. In easy reach of London's vibrant dance scene, the campus has superb studios and a state-of-the-art theatre for dance students. With its unparalleled ensemble of expert faculty, a lively hub of students and an established history of research excellence, Roehampton is one of the world's top destinations for postgraduate study in dance.

100% satisfaction in doctoral supervision*

Research and course information

Research centres

The Department is home to the internationally-recognised Centre for Dance Research, which foregrounds the research of dance as cultural and artistic expression beyond, and including, theatre performance. The centre aims to develop methodologies, practices and theoretical perspectives that help shape the future of international dance research. Postgraduate research ranges across historical, analytical, anthropological and cultural studies of dance, as well as understanding professional practice as research through choreography and performance.

Through seminars, forums and conferences involving staff and international invited guests, the centre supports a compelling research culture.

Recent research projects

Choreographing Music – The Work of Mark Morris: Analysis of the choreomusical practice and creative processes of the American contemporary dance choreographer.

Dance for Parkinson's Project: Research into the benefits of dancing for those living with Parkinson's Disease, run in collaboration with English National Ballet.

Embodied Politics – Dance, Protest and Identities: Investigation of dance activism in the USA and Britain over the past 100 years.

Falling: Cross-disciplinary research exploring physical, metaphorical and psychological significances of falling.

The Southall Story: A cultural history of Britain's 'Little India' since 1979.

Unfolding the Many Dramaturgies: An investigation of dramaturgical perspectives and practices in European experimental dance, theatre and performance.

For more information and to discuss your research interests, please contact staff directly.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/research-centres/centre-for-dance-research/

Fulbright Scholarship Opportunity

There is a University of Roehampton Award in Dance for US graduate students pursuing a one year (or first year of a) master's programme in Dance. To find out more please visit our website.

MFA Choreography

🕒 FT 2 Year | PT 4 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

Develop your choreographic identity over two full years in a supportive community of tutors, peers and visiting artists.

As an emerging or experienced choreographer, this course will help you refine your artistic practice by advancing your creative, technical and performance skills. The programme includes choreography workshops, laboratory sessions, technique classes, dialogue, writing and reflection. You will be encouraged to experiment and take risks in a series of self-directed choreographic projects that help you develop a portfolio of compositional work.

Why Roehampton

Create dances in a welcoming and creative environment.

Study with artists and teachers with a wealth and range of choreographic experience.

There is flexibility to choose your pathway in the second year to suit your interests.

Example modules

Dance Practice

Choreography and Composition

Mediated Choreography

Career opportunities

Graduates from this programme can be found working as independent artists in London, Berlin and New York; presenting their work at a number of venues in London and at the Edinburgh and Stockholm Fringe Festivals; teaching in higher education in the UK and abroad and curating programmes and events for dance artists across Europe.

MRes Choreography and Performance

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

This programme is designed for experienced professional dance and performance practitioners to understand practice as a form of research.

Deepen your choreographic or performance practice through studio-based enquiry and research informed by contemporary theoretical concerns. This programme has a flexible and supportive approach which makes it possible for you to strengthen your professional practices whilst working towards a higher degree.

Why Roehampton

Sustained and partly independent professional artistic work supervised by artist-scholars who are working to challenge and support your choreographic and performance practices.

There is a flexible timetable that helps experienced professional artists to choose the pathway that best fits their interests, experience and situation.

We offer a wide range of modules that foster diverse artistic practices.

Example modules

Ways of Knowing

Philosophy and History of Dance

Mediated Choreography

Career opportunities

Our graduates furthered their professional practice as independent artists, choreographers and dance producers and curators. Some graduates followed careers in research, teaching and advanced onto further academic study, such as a practice-led, cross-disciplinary PhD.

MA Choreomundus: International Master in Dance Knowledge, Practice and Heritage

🕒 FT 2 Years 🌐 See website
📅 August

Choreomundus is an Erasmus Mundus programme that investigates dance and other movement systems (ritual practices, martial arts, games and physical theatre) as intangible cultural heritage.

It is offered by a consortium of four universities (in Norway, France, Hungary and the UK) recognised for their leadership in the development of innovative curricula for the analysis of dance.

Why Roehampton

A unique programme offered by a consortium of four internationally-renowned universities.

Study with scholars who are leading international experts in dance anthropology and ethnochoreology.

Scholarships available.

Example modules

Performance of Heritage

People Moving, People Dancing

Classicism and Power

Career opportunities

Recent graduates are employed in the cultural, heritage and tourist industries. Several have curated festivals and dance projects in museums; and acted as consultants in educational contexts.

Please note that only your final semester of this course takes place at the University of Roehampton. To apply, please visit: www.ntnu.edu/studies/choreomundus

MA Dance Anthropology

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2–3 Years 🌐 See website
📅 September

Attain the knowledge and tools to open a window into dance in any period and in any part of the world.

Explore the place of dance in society from the perspectives of those participating in it, as dancers, dance makers, teachers and audiences. By studying these perspectives, you will learn how different people around the world understand dance and how dance influences their value-systems. This programme will also interest you if you wish to study ritual, folk and social dance practices through field-work methodologies.

Why Roehampton

Collaborate and study with world-leading researchers in the field of anthropology of dance.

Investigate dance from a non-Eurocentric perspective, and attain the knowledge and tools to open a window into dance in any period or part of the world.

You will learn to situate dance practices within worldwide economies and post-colonial contexts.

Example modules

Anthropology of Dance

People Moving, People Dancing

Performance of Heritage

Career opportunities

Recent graduates' career options include roles such as a dance anthropologist, community dance practitioner, dance company education programme developer, travel writer, dance producer and curator of arts projects; many have continued into further PhD study and subsequently started teaching in UK and international higher education.

MA Dance Philosophy and History

 FT 1 Year |  PT 2–3 Years  See website

 September

This programme investigates the interconnections between philosophy, history and dance. It is the only one of its kind in the UK, and is designed to help emerging and experienced dance practitioners and scholars to locate their work effectively within philosophical and historical approaches for the advanced study of dance.

You will engage into a stimulating, in-depth, critical exploration of concepts, assumptions and theories underlying dance practice and discourse, including the Anglo-American Analytic and Poststructuralist approaches to History, as well as European Continental and Realist-Empiricist schools of Philosophy

Why Roehampton

Learn how to work effectively within philosophical and historical approaches for the advanced study of dance.

Develop a sophisticated and knowledgeable approach to dance analysis thinking and praxis.

Gain an in-depth understanding of dance as a philosophical and historical construct.

Example modules

Ways of Knowing

Philosophy and History of Dance

Music and Dance

Career opportunities

Graduates' career options include roles such as producer and curator of arts projects, a dance historian, critical theory writer and teacher. This course will also prepare you for further PhD study.

MA Dance Politics and Sociology

 FT 1 Year |  PT 2–3 Years  See website

 September

You will be encouraged to develop your understanding of the interrelationships between political and social issues that impact upon – or are influenced by – dance practice. Engaging in rich discussions with an international dance community, you will examine dance, dancers and dancing through sociological and political lenses. You will be introduced to a range of concerns about dance, dancing and performance: from the body in society, social structures, relations of power and cultural behaviour, and political and social action through dance.

Why Roehampton

Reflect upon your experience, develop creative ideas and aid critical perspective in practice and theory.

Examine dance and dancers through sociological themes, such as social structures, power, relationships, cultural behaviour, and action.

Challenge your thinking about dance within conceptual, political, and social frameworks.

Example modules

Politics and Sociology and Dance

Classicism and Power

People moving, People dancing

Career opportunities

Graduates may become community dance practitioners, and cultural policy makers. They may produce and curate arts projects and events, or lead in education and outreach programs for dance, teach or continue studying at PhD level.

“Since starting my masters I have had the opportunity to take part in so many amazing projects such as performing a new dance piece with the musicians from the Royal Academy of Music.”

Zhou Hangyu
MA Dance Studies

Drama, Theatre and Performance

The Department of Drama, Theatre and Performance is renowned for its cutting-edge performance practice and critical theory. In the 2014 Research Excellence Framework, over 80% of all our research was ranked as “world leading” or “internationally excellent”.

We have a thriving calendar of events with some of the world's leading performance makers and academics in regular attendance.

Our staff are leading experts in their fields, with international reputations as performance makers, writers, installation artists, critics, historiographers and theoreticians.

The Department's rich and interdisciplinary research culture includes specialisms in contemporary, experimental and early modern theatre, live art practice, performance ethnography, mobility and site studies, sound and radio, creative writing, media and performance, performance as social action, and more.

94% of our graduates are in work or further study after six months

Research and course information

Research centres

The Department houses the Centre for Performance and Creative Exchange (CPCE) and interdisciplinary Research Groups in Renaissance and Classical Studies, and Human-Animal Studies. The CPCE hosts regular events, seminars, symposia and performances, exploring key questions about histories, theories, and practices of performance and theatre.

Recent research projects

The European Union-funded 'Curating the Ephemeral' project, led by Professor Adrian Heathfield, explores curatorial practices in relation to immaterial art, both inside and outside visual art institutions.

BBC Radio 4's production of a 12-part adaptation of Primo Levi's The Periodic Table, was recently adapted by Professor Graham White. This memoir of Primo Levi's life, work and survival at Auschwitz is underpinned by Professor White's research into the politics of modernist innovations in performance.

Other current research in the Department of Drama, Theatre and Performance includes Lis Austin's work on feminism and pedagogy; Simon Bayly's examinations of the 'meetingization' of contemporary society; Ernst Fischer's work on archiving, documentation and memory; Sarah Gorman's explorations of contemporary feminist performance; Susanne Greenhalgh's studies of Shakespeare in other media; Joe Kelleher's work on the theatre and image; Glenn Odom's research on intercultural theatre and performance; Emily Orley's investigations of the performance of heritage objects; Jen Parker-Starbuck's work on media and animal studies; PA Skantze's investigation of circulations of performance; and Forster and Heighes's work on architectural site, urban design and performance; and Ioana Szeman's work on portrayals of the Roma, the largest minority in Europe, in media, music and installations.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/research-centres/drama-theatre-and-performance-research/

For more information and to discuss your research interests, please contact staff directly.

“The PhD has given me the confidence to pursue a career in higher education alongside my work as an artist.”

Maribel Jana Supka
Research Student

MA London’s Theatre and Performance: Viewing, Making, Writing

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

Taking the wealth and diversity of London’s unique artistic culture as its prime focus, this unique programme opens up a variety of pathways to students looking to focus their interests in the broad field of theatre and performance. Shaped around a series of thematic investigations of the city’s unparalleled theatrical and cultural resources, you will be able to pursue a range of projects matched to your professional aspirations.

Why Roehampton

This is a unique programme that can be tailored to your interests, from performance to dramaturgy, from arts management or creative production to scholarship and cultural criticism.

It is Organised around the rich diversity of London’s theatre cultures where your frequent attendance at theatre productions, performances and live art events across the City forms the basis for research and seminar discussions.

Content driven by the varied research specialisms of staff and current developments in the field, e.g. spectatorship as a practice, live art and museum culture, feminism and performance and intercultural theatre.

Example modules

Viewing, Making and Writing
Research Methods in Theatre and Performance
Major Project

Career opportunities

This course develops students towards professional careers in the Arts as well as towards possible PhD or MFA study.

Education

The School of Education is renowned for its high-quality teaching and research, and is one of the principal teacher training providers in the UK.

As one of the largest providers of Initial Teacher Training courses in London and the South East, many teachers have come through our doors through our PGCE and Schools Direct programmes.

For those seeking further opportunities, we have an exciting suite of masters' and postgraduate certificate programmes designed to help education professionals excel in their careers.

In the 2014 Research Excellence Framework, 79% of all our research publications were ranked as "world leading" or "internationally excellent" for their impact.

The School has a vibrant research culture with a reputation for excellence in a number of areas including applied music, special educational needs and the psychology of education, early childhood studies and the philosophy of education.

The School has recently joined the Economic and Social Research Council Doctoral Training Partnership, which includes the most research-intensive universities in the South East region.

95% of our graduates are in work or further study after six months*

Research and course information

Research centres

The School of Education has a vibrant programme of doctoral studies based around its Research Centres. The School has a reputation for excellence in a number of areas, including: applied music; special educational needs and the psychology of education; the philosophy of education; sociological perspectives on social justice in education; and early childhood studies. The School organises a wide variety of events and support for postgraduate students and individual researchers, including high-profile conferences and debates, which attract scholars, policy-makers and representatives from a range of institutions and countries.

Recent research projects

Dr Olympia Palikara, a Senior Lecturer in Educational Psychology, and Dr Marie-Pierre Moreau, a Reader in Sociology of Education, are working with the Department for Education (DfE) to study the impact of funding on the attainment of children with additional needs.

Senior Lecturer in Computing Education, Peter Kemp, has been awarded funding to expand a 3D animation summer school for young people aged 14–18. The scheme mentors young people who are interested in working within the digital and creative industries.

Dr Susana Castro, Senior Lecturer in Education Studies and Dr Olympia Palikara, Senior Lecturer in Educational Psychology are undergoing a project to evaluate the Government's Education Health and Care (EHC) plans for children with special educational needs.

Angela Colvert, Senior Lecturer in English, received a Children's BAFTA nomination in 2015 for a computer game that supports children to learn to read. She is a member of the team behind 'Teach Your Monster to Read', a series of computer games which support children's early reading.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/education/research/

For more information and to discuss your research interests, please contact staff directly.

MA Early Childhood Studies

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2–4 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

Early Childhood Studies at Roehampton is committed to babies and young children as people with agency and unique capacities, and to their overall wellbeing from the prenatal period.

The postgraduate programme draws on Friedrich Froebel's understanding of the transformative power of young children's play on their thinking, and the crucial way that adults can either seek to assist or control young children's intrinsic creativity. In adults' interactions with children, however, Froebel recognised the profound influence of the community and social context.

Why Roehampton

This programme is supported by the renowned Froebel Archive for Childhood Studies, and has developed an international reputation in the field attracting students at postgraduate level from around the world.

Students become part of the early childhood research centre with its internationally highly respected research team.

Students graduate with a high level of knowledge and expertise in early childhood and strengthened confidence to contribute to, and advance in their chosen career.

Example modules

Play, Thinking and Communication

Exploring the Froebelian Legacy in Early Childhood Practice

Professionalism, Leadership and Advocacy

Career opportunities

Careers in professional practice and leadership in early childhood, education, health and social welfare, as well as policy making, implementation and administration of early childhood provision.

MA Education Leadership and Management

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2–3 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

This postgraduate programme is designed to offer professionals the opportunity to engage in systematic and analytical enquiry into the theory and practice of leadership and management in education. Students will use the knowledge and skills gained to improve their own practice in leadership and management roles, across the whole range of educational institutions and related organisations.

Why Roehampton

The programme has a growing national and international reputation for its high standards and relevance to practice.

The programme allows you to specialise in particular areas of interest to reflect your professional role and future aspirations in educational leadership and management.

The programme is very accessible with late afternoon/evening study so as a part time student you can fit this Masters around existing professional commitments.

Example modules

Developing Staff and Leading Teams

Strategic Leadership and Educational Excellence

Key Concepts and Current Debates in Global Education Policy

Career opportunities

Careers in leadership and management in schools, colleges, universities and early years settings; working in government organisations and educational charities; consultancy; training industries and further academic study at PhD level.

MA Education Policy

FT 1 Year | PT 2 Years See website
 September

This programme will explore the key debates in national and international education policy. You will engage with a critical analysis of the different concepts underlying the evolving landscape of educational policy globally, such as new forms of funding and delivery, privatisation, evaluation and inspection.

Students will examine key education policies in the UK and other countries, with a particular focus on social justice, and consider the possibilities for more socially fair and democratic policy enactments. You will also explore a range of identities including, but not limited to, social class, gender and 'race'/ethnicity, and how these aspects of identity shape the policy formation and enactment process in the UK and internationally.

Why Roehampton

The programme draws on the expertise of our international team in the field of education policy and sociology.

We will explore and engage with new methods of policy analysis, such as: Network Ethnography and Social Network Analysis (SNA).

The modules will have a particular focus on social justice within education.

Example modules

Education Policy, Old and New Inequalities and Identities

Researching Policy Networks in Education

Teacher Education Policies in a Globalised World

Career opportunities

Graduates may follow careers in all areas of education, policy, social services, justice, government, education management and leadership.

MA Educational Practice

PT 2–3 Years See website
 September

This part-time course will further develop your professional knowledge, skills and understanding of teaching and learning within the context of today's schools and other educational facilities.

On the course you will explore education theories and cutting-edge research, and discuss how these can influence your teaching and the learning of your pupils. You will also develop your own research interests and expertise, building a strong foundation for your future career prospects.

Why Roehampton

Flexible part-time course that can be taken at any level of your career.

You will use current research to enhance your professional development.

Each module relates to your workplace context and allows you to underpin practice with theoretical knowledge and reflection.

Example modules

Developing Creative Learners

First Steps in Educational Leadership

Developing a Language-aware Pedagogy for Multilingual Learners

Career opportunities

On completion of this course you will be able to offer advanced teaching and leadership in schools, and go on to further practice-related academic study such as EdD or professional doctorates.

MA National Award for SEN Coordinators

PT 1 Year See website
 September

The course meets the statutory learning outcomes agreed nationally by the DFE and the SENCO Award providers' group for the NASENCO qualification. The course content is informed by current SEN and disability legislation and underpinned by current theory and research led practice pertaining to Special and Inclusive Education. It provides professional development for new to post SENCOs to enhance the quality of teaching for children and young people with SEN and/or a disability and to improve provision and outcomes for them. Course teaching days always take place on Wednesdays at Roehampton.

Why Roehampton

The course is accessible with 10 taught days that can be fit around an existing job and personal commitments.

We provide ongoing support with extensive electronic resources on and off-site and a university tutor and school based mentor assigned to each student.

You will be working with a group of your peers and have the opportunity, should you wish, to use the credits gained on this course, towards an MA.

Example modules

High Aspirations for SEN/D: a focus on policy

High Aspirations for SEN/D: a focus on classroom provision

High Aspirations for SEN/D: a focus on whole-school and community provision

Career opportunities

Our experience is that many students undertaking this award progress quickly to further promotion, especially to school leadership teams.

MA Special Educational Needs (Inclusive or Psychological Perspectives)

FT 1 Year | PT 2–4 Years See website
 September

This programme investigates issues involved in the education and development of children and young people with learning difficulties, disabilities and disadvantages. It is founded upon a commitment to forms of education which enable the participation, learning and development of all.

Students studying on the programme engage with aspects of theory, policy and practice relevant to international and local contexts.

Why Roehampton

Choose a specialist pathway to follow: either Inclusive Perspectives or Psychological Perspectives

Tailor the programme to your own needs and interests

Gain the Certificate of Competency in Educational Testing accredited by the British Psychological Society (optional) as part of the programme or as a stand-alone module

Example modules

Behaviour, Inclusion and Exclusion in Education (social and critical theories)

Assessment and Intervention in Education

Dyslexia as a Specific Learning Difficulty

Career opportunities

Graduates may follow careers in professional practice, and leadership: teaching, advisory work, SEN coordination, inclusion management and support assistance.

PGCE Primary*

 FT 1 Year  See website

 September

This Primary PGCE course will equip you to teach across the 3–11 age range, with the opportunity to focus on either the 3–7 age range or the 5–11 age range.

The course provides both an academic qualification at Masters-level (PGCE) and a recommendation for Qualified Teacher Status (QTS). You will benefit from the expertise and enthusiasm of our school based mentors' support and mentoring when in school and university subject tutors who are subject specialists in teaching groups at Roehampton. You will be taught in groups according to your focus age range and have a dedicated group tutor to guide you through the programme.

Why Roehampton

We will help you to become a confident, highly employable primary teacher: 98% of our graduates are in employment within six months.

We will provide you with extensive experience of classroom practice in a range of different settings with 120 days spent on school placements.

Our partners include over 300 primary schools in London and the South East.

Example modules

Professional Studies Core 3–7 or 5–11

The Core Curriculum 3–7 or 5–11

The Wider Curriculum 3–7 or 5–11

Career opportunities

The majority of graduates go into careers in teaching. Other careers include management and leadership roles within schools and other education settings, charity roles, policy advice, national assessment and curriculum development.

PGCE Primary General (with Mathematics)*

 FT 1 Year  See website

 September

This programme is designed for students who want to focus solely, or mainly, on teaching mathematics to primary school children and have a very good subject knowledge in this area.

You will benefit from the expertise and enthusiasm of our school based mentors' support and mentoring when in school and university subject tutors who are subject specialists. The modules and placements are focused on this area of specialism providing you with the training and support to ensure you qualify as a confident and knowledgeable teacher.

Why Roehampton

Focus on mathematics with a view toward becoming a specialist Mathematics teacher

Your placements will be based in a mathematics classroom allowing you to gain relevant experience in this specialist setting

You will receive excellent training, the majority delivered in small groups by our supportive staff

Example modules

Professional Studies (Mathematics Specialist) 5–11

The Primary Curriculum (Mathematics Specialist) 5–11

The Mathematics Specialist 5–11

Career opportunities

You will leave the course fully equipped to teach mathematics to primary school children aged 5–11.

“I know that once I've completed my course I will be at a level to teach children effectively, because at Roehampton they ensure you get the help and support you need to reach your full potential.”

Adanma Nwosu
PGCE (Primary)

PGCE Secondary*

 FT 1 Year  See website
 September

This engaging programme will provide both an academic qualification at Masters-level (PGCE) and a recommendation for Qualified Teacher Status (QTS). You will gain from the expertise and enthusiasm of our school mentors and university subject tutors in small, subject-based teaching groups at Roehampton, tailored to your experience and expertise. A combination of extensive school partnerships, strong pastoral support and a close-knit student community means that you will receive an excellent experience. You will be part of a subject group, training with people who will support you as you begin your career.

Why Roehampton

99% of our graduates are in work within six months.

We have partnerships with over 130 secondary schools in London and the South East.

You will receive excellent training, delivered in small groups by supportive and experienced staff.

Example modules

You will take two subject specialism modules, as well as the below core modules:

Professional Studies

Teaching Experience

Career opportunities

Besides teaching, a number of our graduates go on to management and leadership roles within schools and other education settings. Graduates also follow careers in consultancy, sector communications, publishing, training, charity, policy, advocacy, government, national assessment and curriculum development roles.

School Direct Primary and Secondary*

 FT 1 Year  See website
 September

We have created new courses that combine our University trainees with our School Direct trainees in both our primary and secondary programmes.

These programmes form the core of the training, but our School Direct partners also tailor some aspects of the courses to suit their particular school circumstances. The programmes combine a masters level academic qualification with training for Qualified Teacher Status (QTS). You can choose from the School Direct training programme (salaried), on-the-job training open to high-quality graduates with three or more years' professional experience, or the School Direct training programme where you are recruited by a school and supported as a trainee by Roehampton.

Why Roehampton

As a salaried trainee, you earn while you learn.

Training delivered by outstanding teachers and our highly rated university staff.

Programmes tailored by our partner schools to increase your employability within their networks.

Career opportunities

At the end of the course, many trainees are offered work within the network of schools delivering their School Direct programme.

*The availability of these courses are subject to Government student number allocation.

Postgraduate Certificates

We offer a wide range of Postgraduate Certificates through which you can gain 60 Masters credits, in areas such as, Dyslexia: identification, assessment and provision* and Sounds of Intent. It is also possible to gain 20, 40 or 60 Master's credits from the Accreditation of Prior Experiential Learning (APEL) process via an assessed portfolio. These PG Certs enable you to progress onto a range of our full-time and part-time masters programmes, allowing you to design a programme that meets your requirements.

*This Postgraduate Certificate is currently under review

Online degrees

We also offer working professionals the opportunity to earn a Roehampton masters degree fully online through a collaborative and flexible learning experience – at an affordable price. The following courses are delivered in partnership with Laureate International Universities – a global network of high-quality, accredited institutions of higher education:

MA Early Childhood

MA Educational Leadership

MA Inclusive Special Education

MA Learning and Teaching

MA Technology and Learning Design

 edu.roehampton-online.com/

English and Creative Writing

The Department of English and Creative Writing combines tradition and innovation, excellent teaching and world-class research. We're home to internationally renowned writers and poets including Professor Dame Jacqueline Wilson, Adam Foulds, Dr James Smythe, Professor David Harsent and Professor Fiona Sampson.

We have our own academic publishing house (Fincham Press) and partnerships with two major literary festivals, providing students with paid and voluntary work placement opportunities.

The Department has a thriving calendar of student-led and alumni events as well as seminars, masterclasses, and conferences – most of which are open to the public.

We are consistently ranked in the top five London universities for English and Creative Writing according to the Guardian University Guide 2016 and 2017.

80% of all our research publications were ranked as “world leading” or “internationally excellent” for their impact*

Research and course information

Research centres

An internationally-acclaimed centre, the National Centre for Research in Children's Literature (NCRCL) promotes academic excellence in research into children's literature. It has a thriving culture of doctoral research and runs regular public events, including an annual conference in partnership with the International Board on Books for Young People (IBBY).

The Roehampton Poetry Centre is at the forefront of the UK poetry scene, offering research opportunities and masterclasses with significant figures in the poetry world. It also runs two new poetry prizes, the Roehampton Prize and the Ruskin Prize, to engage poets from across the UK.

The Centre for Research in Romanticism provides a focus for research in the area of romantic and 18th century literature and culture. The centre hosts international conferences and shorter events such as day-schools.

Recent research projects

Before Shakespeare: The Beginnings of London Commercial Theatre (AHRC-funded). The project will demonstrate that there is more to Tudor and Elizabethan drama than Shakespeare.

Memories of Fiction (AHRC-funded). This project seeks to find out how reading shapes our lives.

Romantic Illustrations, in partnership with the TATE. This project explores the relationship between word and image in the Romantic period.

Prison Reading Groups (PRG) promotes the spread of reading groups in prisons and provides funding and support for those who run them. The project now works with 37 groups across a variety of prison settings.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/english-and-creative-writing/research/

For more information and to discuss your research interests, please contact staff directly.

MA Children's Literature

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2-4 Years 🔗 See website

📅 September

Now running for over twenty five years, the MA in Children's Literature is recognised internationally as a benchmark course in the field and is delivered by the award-winning National Centre for Research in Children's Literature.

On this acclaimed course you will explore landmark texts such as The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe or The Railway Children, alongside the contemporary innovations of Patrick Ness, Jackie Kay, or Emily Gravett.

You will work alongside staff with international reputations in areas such as adolescence, critical theory, landscape, and philosophy.

Why Roehampton

Work with internationally-renowned scholars at the NCRCL and Roehampton's Chancellor, Professor Dame Jacqueline Wilson.

Option to specialise in creative writing on the MA/PGDip by taking a creative pathway.

Exclusive Creative Partner of Barnes Children's Literature Festival, London's largest event dedicated to children's writing, providing students with paid and voluntary work experience opportunities.

Example modules

Time and History in Children's Literature

Travels in Children's Literature

Verse and Voice

Career opportunities

Academia, professional writing, teaching, children's publishing, librarianship, heritage work (in specialist archives or museums), and arts management.

MA Children's Literature (Distance Learning)

🕒 PT 2-4 Years 🔗 See website

📅 September

This unique course allows you to study children's literature in a flexible, part-time format. You'll engage with staff working in the UK's leading centre in the field and explore a range of landmark texts for young people, from fairy tales and picturebooks to classics and graphic novels.

You will be invited to explore the exciting and varied world of children's literature, and to examine how texts aimed at young people convey and challenge ideas about childhood. You will be taught by a team of staff with international reputations and expertise in areas such as philosophy, popular fiction, adolescence, critical theory, translation, and memory.

Why Roehampton

This MA is taught by children's literature specialists from the award-winning National Centre for Research in Children's Literature.

A Creative Writing Pathway allows you to study writing for a child audience from a practitioner's perspective.

Roehampton provides a supportive online learning environment, within a flexible study format.

Example modules

Visual Texts

British Children's Literature 1900-1960

Writing for a Child Audience

Career opportunities

Possible careers include teaching and librarianship, children's publishing and arts management.

“I wanted to study Children’s Literature at Roehampton because it has a great reputation for research. Since joining, the course has exceeded my expectations.”

Ana Mawer
MA Children’s Literature

MA Creative Writing

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2–4 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

This MA is designed for ambitious, committed writers who are developing their independent writing practice.

Taught by published, working writers including acclaimed poets, novelists and journalists, this programme will focus on four main forms of writing: Fiction, Creative Nonfiction, Poetry and Fiction for Young Readers

You will be supported to develop your personal writing style, learn how to make your writing more effective, how to break bad habits and how to professionally assess your work. You will graduate with the skills needed for professional practice in the creative writing industry, and with an understanding of the professional context in which those skills are marketed.

Why Roehampton

Benefit from the department’s strong contacts with agents, editors and publishers across the field of writing.

One of the very few universities in the UK to offer modules in the areas of formally innovative poetry and creative nonfiction.

You can choose your preferred route through the programme, either practicing two different forms of writing or specialising in one.

Example modules

Creative Nonfiction

Fiction

Fiction for Young Readers

Career opportunities

Careers such as journalism, copywriting and arts management are possible on completion of this course.

MA Creative Writing (specialist pathway)

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2–4 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

The MA Creative Writing (specialist pathway) provides an intensive opportunity for you to focus on a single writing form: Fiction, Creative Nonfiction, Fiction for Young Readers or Poetry.

It is designed for ambitious, committed writers who are developing their independent writing practice. The course is taught by published, working writers including acclaimed poets, novelists and journalists, and has a strong focus on the writing industry, which means that it will prepare you for working in this competitive sector or for further academic study.

Why Roehampton

Develop professional-standard writing skills, and learn to formulate and address advanced research questions.

Suited to students that have a clear idea of what they want to work on, and with some experience of writing in their chosen form.

The Department is ranked in the top five in London for English and Creative Writing (Guardian University Guide 2017).

Example modules

Creative Nonfiction

Fiction

Poetry

Career opportunities

Careers such as professional writers or in media-related occupations such as journalists, archivists, librarians, editors, copywriters and arts managers. Additionally, the programme provides essential preparation for advanced academic study of Creative Writing at PhD level or for teaching.

Humanities

We offer a diverse and engaging range of postgraduate taught courses in the areas of History, Theology and Religious Studies, and Christian Ministry, as well as MRes opportunities tailor-made to your research interests in Classics and History. A strong emphasis on research is championed at all levels of study; teaching is research-led, and we have a growing number of PhD students.

The Department contains researchers of international excellence whose work on themes such as feminist theology, Elizabethan magic and classical rhetoric is regarded as world-leading. Research interests range across systematic and practical theology, classical myth, history and rhetoric, as well as medieval, early-modern and modern history. Particular research themes include gender in history, theology and religious practice, and violence in history and classical myth.

Roehampton has an advantageous location; it's the closest university to the National Archives, and a short distance from London's resources for the study of classics, history and religion. Our own historic and beautiful University campus is home to neoclassical art pieces and architecture which provide a compelling backdrop to the study of the humanities.

100% of History research is rated 'world leading' or 'internationally excellent' for the impact it has on society

Research and course information

Research centres

The Centre for Hearth Tax Research holds primary sources such as records, parish maps and databases relating to the 17th century Hearth Tax, an important resource for English social and economic history.

The Digby Stuart Research Centre for Religion, Society and Human Flourishing promotes scholarly collaboration in the study of the Catholic tradition and its influences and contexts as well as fostering community dialogue.

In addition to the research centres, the Department also boasts three research groups who explore Renaissance and Classical Studies (with a focus on cultural reception); Sex, Gender and Sexuality (with contemporary interdisciplinary interests); and Ministerial Theology (all aspects of Christian ministry).

Recent research projects

Dr. Michael Brown is undertaking a £570,000 study into the emotions of 19th century surgeons and patients. The project, funded by the Wellcome Trust, will challenge the conventional view of surgeons, including those in the Napoleonic Wars and First World War, who were viewed as dispassionate about their patients – now known as clinical detachment.

Dr. Clare Watkins is carrying out a research project in collaboration with the Catholic charity, Marriage Care. The research project will investigate couples' and practitioners' experience of marriage preparation courses provided by the charity as a way of discovering more about what the Catholic ethos contributes to this work.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/humanities/research/

For more information and to discuss your research interests, please contact staff directly.

MA Christian Ministry

FT 1 Year | PT 2–3 Years See website
 September

This MA is designed for lay and ordained Christians with significant experience of working (paid or volunteer) in churches, mission agencies, or not-for-profit organisations (faith-based or secular), enabling you to engage theologically and strategically with the contemporary world.

The course will provide you with the opportunity to integrate biblical, theological, and empirical studies in the context of Christian spirituality. The aim is to engage faithfully and practically with existing and emerging challenges to Christian ministry and mission in the twenty-first century.

Why Roehampton

Students will reflect upon their experience, in a structured and rigorous manner.

You will generate new knowledge and insights through original research into ministry and mission in the contemporary world.

The course will develop your expertise and capacity to think theologically and strategically about concrete issues confronting Christian ministry and mission today.

Example modules

- Empirical Research for Christian Ministry
- Christian Ministry in Church and Society
- Marriage and Family in Christian Theology and Practice

Career opportunities

Students of this course include ordained ministers wanting to pursue continuing ministerial education (CME), and lay Christians seeking careers as practitioners in faith-based or secular organisations.

MRes Classical Research

FT 1 Year | PT 2 Years See website
 September

This research-focused course will enhance your ability as a classics or ancient history student to work at a high intellectual, methodological and theoretical level.

You will take a language module at the appropriate level for you to enable your successful study of ancient documents. The course will introduce you to the specialist skills you need as a researcher which you will use to undertake a substantial piece of original research in your area of interest.

Why Roehampton

Join a community that comprises leading subject specialists at the forefront of classical research and teaching, including a National Teaching Fellow who is one of two Principal Fellows of the Higher Education Academy.

This course offers focused preparation for doctoral research.

You will engage both critically and creatively with classical evidence and key theories and methods in academic enquiry.

Example modules

- Theories and Methods in Classical Research
- Intermediate Ancient Greek
- Classical Languages: Special Author

Career opportunities

Graduates go on to undertake doctoral research as well as a range of potential careers including in academia, museums, schools, heritage sites and specialist publishing as well as in the media, archives and libraries and the civil service.

MA Historical Research

 FT 1 Year | PT 2–4 Years  See website
 September

This programme gives you the opportunity to study a wide range of different approaches to the research and writing of history, with a specialised focus on innovative recent theoretical and methodological developments. We also offer a specialised pathway in Social and Cultural History, and a part-time, distance learning pathway in Archival Practice and Local History.

It offers you the opportunity to refine your knowledge and practice of historical research, and is ideal for those seeking further study in History, a career in the museum or heritage industries, or simply those looking to develop personal research interests.

Why Roehampton

100% of History research is rated “world leading” or “internationally excellent” for the impact it is has on society (Research Excellence Framework 2014).

Benefit from our flexible evening and online teaching sessions.

Gain professional experience in workplace-based research with our tailored research internship.

Example modules

Beyond Grand Theory: Thinking about History after Post-Modernism

Medicine and the Politics of Health from Cholera to the NHS

Gender and Sexuality in Modern Europe

Career opportunities

Employment in the creative and heritage industries, e.g. publishing, museums and archives, the media, or in any sector that prizes research and communication skills eg. teaching, marketing, media and law. Also ideal for those interested in further academic study.

MRes History

 FT 1 Year | PT 2 Years  See website
 September

Our MRes in History offers a research-rich master’s programme for those students wanting to develop specialist knowledge and scholarly techniques, as the first step on the path to doctoral research or research-related career paths. We offer a unique combination of focused expertise and applied historical experience in a friendly, supportive graduate environment.

On this course, you will work closely with members of our History staff, who have internationally-recognised expertise in a wide range of subjects, periods and geographical areas. You will engage with a broad range of research methods relevant for advanced historical research.

Why Roehampton

Teaching and supervision is given by supportive, research active, innovative staff.

A research internship option, enabling students to apply their research skills in a real-world environment with one of our research partners.

100% of History research is rated “world leading” or “internationally excellent” for the impact it is has on society (Research Excellence Framework 2014).

Example modules

Beyond Grand Theory: Thinking about History after Post-Modernism

Pathways to Genocide: Origins and Aspects of State Persecution in Britain, Europe and Africa

Gender and Sexuality in Modern Europe

Career opportunities

Employment in the creative and heritage industries such as publishing, museums and archives and the media.

“The high quality of the teaching has transformed my ministerial practice and laid the groundwork for further doctoral study.”

Reverend Phillip Johnson
MA Christian Ministry

DTh Practical Theology

 PT 4–5 Years  See website

 September

The DTh is a professional doctorate programme in practical, ministry-focused theology. This programme is aimed at those engaged at a senior or experienced level in any form of Christian service, lay or ordained, seeking to develop strategic insights in mission, ministry, pastoral care, public theology or the creative arts in an increasingly multi-cultural, digital, and connected world.

The programme focuses on using research to develop practice, and on reflective practice as a mode and locus of research.

Why Roehampton

You will be taught by lecturers and researchers with ongoing experience as practitioners and consultants within the ministry sector.

The University's historical roots and links with vibrant congregations provide an excellent context for research into contemporary multi-cultural urban ministry and mission.

Timetabled to fit in with busy ongoing ministry and leadership roles.

Example modules

Practical Theology: Advanced Methods and Approaches

Research Design: Literature Review and Research Questions

Publishable Paper

Career opportunities

The DTh is intended to enable existing professionals working in church ministry, mission, education, development or the para-church sector, move into senior or national positions within visionary research-led organisations.

MA Studies in Contemporary Catholicism

 FT 1 Year | PT 2 Years  See website

 September

This Masters course gives students the opportunity to focus on Roman Catholicism since the Second Vatican Council. You will explore doctrinal, theological and ethical issues, including the diversity of global Catholicism today, the significance of Catholic social teaching, and Catholic influences and expressions in material culture (art, literature, music).

Why Roehampton

This course is based in our Digby Stuart College, an institution with a rich Catholic heritage.

You will get automatic membership of the Digby Stuart Research Centre for Religion, Society and Human Flourishing's activities, with contributions from world-renowned academics, community organisers and civic leaders.

You will analyse Catholicism's relation to other religious traditions and explore its role in contemporary global society.

Example modules

The Catholic Church in a Postmodern World

Islam and Women

Theologies of Encounter, Conflict and Reconciliation

Career opportunities

Work in faith-based organisations, community organisations, international aid or the charity sector; prepares you for work in the spaces of religion, art, politics, philosophy and contemporary culture; to pursue a PhD or conduct specific research.

MA Theology and Religious Studies

 FT 1 Year | PT 2 Years  See website

 September

As faiths of all kinds navigate their way through a period of great social change, it is more important than ever to possess an in-depth understanding of how faiths interact with each other and society. This MA creatively balances the close study of particular traditions with a broad understanding of the subject area. It is one of the few programmes in London that offers specialised teaching in Islam as well as several different aspects of Christian theology.

Why Roehampton

The MA draws on a variety of research centres, conferences and seminar series which include contributions from world-renowned academics, community organisers and civic leaders.

It is delivered by an experienced subject team who consistently score well for excellence of teaching in the National Student Survey.

The course offers flexible teaching: the MA can be taken either full-time or part-time and teaching takes place mostly in the evening, with the occasional module taught in the afternoon.

Example modules

Islam and Women

Human Rights: Religious Perspectives and Challenges

Theology, Art and Culture

Career opportunities

This course is especially beneficial for those hoping to: pursue a PhD or conduct specific research; work in faith-based organisations, social services or education; work in international aid, the charity sector and community organisations.

Online degrees

We also offer working professionals the opportunity to earn a Roehampton masters degree fully online through a collaborative and flexible learning experience – at an affordable price. The following course is delivered in partnership with Laureate International Universities – a global network of high-quality, accredited institutions of higher education:

MA in Theology and Leadership

 edu.roehampton-online.com/

Catherine of Siena

The University of Roehampton is now the home of Catherine of Siena College. Taught exclusively online, Catherine of Siena College offers a range of six week short courses in gender studies, justice, religion and theology.

For information on the courses running at this time please visit:

 www.roehampton.ac.uk/catherine-of-siena/

Life Sciences

Welcome to our diverse Life Sciences community, whose leading academics are dedicated to understanding and improving the living world through ground-breaking advances in scientific research.

Our outstanding postgraduate degrees are divided into four main areas of study: Anthropology, Ecology, Health Sciences, and Sport and Exercise Science. Our teaching is constantly updated to reflect current scientific advances, to help you gain the skills relevant to your future employment and the needs of society.

You will be taught by passionate and leading academics, who are at the forefront of their fields and have excellent industry partnerships.

90% of our graduates are in work or further study after six months*

Research and course information

Research centres

The Centre for Research in Evolutionary, Social and Inter-Disciplinary Anthropology (CRESIDA) is a highly interactive centre comprising both social and biological anthropologists. We draw creatively and dynamically on diverse intellectual traditions within and beyond anthropology, using their distinctions and synergies.

The Centre for Research in Ecology (CRE) concentrates on a range of topics including the behaviour, physiology and ecology of vertebrates and the ecology of invertebrates in a variety of habitats, including freshwater, forest canopies and soils.

The Sport and Exercise Science Research Centre (SESRC) conducts research into the role of exercise in health and sport performance. It is a multidisciplinary team with specific research focuses on: the biomechanics of ageing; clinical populations, such as back pain sufferers and amputees; health technology; neuromuscular physiology; exercising in the heat; and psychosocial factors related to sport injuries.

The Health Sciences Research Centre (HSRC) represents a multidisciplinary team with interests and expertise in research on chronic disorders and novel therapies, reflecting their growing importance worldwide. The centre is formed of a group of enthusiastic researchers whose work integrates biomedical, neuroscience and nutrition perspectives on health and disease.

Recent research projects

Dr Simon Loader has undertaken extensive work studying amphibians in Africa, discovering a great number of species in the wild forests of Ethiopia, and contributing to a greater understanding of evolutionary biology through his work collecting and analysing DNA data of frogs and toads.

Dr Louise Soanes led a project culminating in 2016 in the reintroduction of the Lesser Antillean Iguana to some islands in the Caribbean, helping to protect this under-threat species from loss of habitat and other invasive species.

Dr Robert Busch is conducting research funded by the Multiple Sclerosis Society and MS International Federation on how Vitamin D protects against multiple sclerosis.

Senior Lecturer in Sports Science, Siobhan Strike is leading research on sustainable exercise programmes for amputees.

For more information and to discuss your research interests please contact staff directly.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/life-sciences/research/

MRes Anthropology of Health

FT 1 Year | PT 2 Years See website
 September

Tailor-made to the needs of healthcare practitioners, this research-intensive programme is driven by contemporary policy debates. It will give you the opportunity to develop, undertake and publish your own original research.

You will look at how different societies and people understand and react to health and illness. The course will cover a range of societies, looking at responses to health from using ritual to cutting edge technologies and organ transplantation. You will also focus on how our evolving healthcare methods impact on how people see themselves, their families and communities.

Why Roehampton

Ideal preparation for those who work in a diverse and multicultural healthcare setting or graduates who would like to pursue a PhD.

This course will give you the opportunity to carry out a substantial research project on a topic of your choice, including diet and nutrition, psychiatric and psychological anthropology, and ageing and the body.

Many MRes students publish their work in international journals and contribute to contemporary policy debates.

Example modules

- Health and Well-being
- Lifecycles
- Research Methods in Anthropology

Career opportunities

The programme will prepare you for PhD study in Anthropology (health and related areas), senior healthcare policy and advisory work, advanced healthcare delivery in diverse and multicultural settings, and overseas development work.

MSc Biomechanics

FT 1 Year | PT 2–4 Years See website
 September

You will gain an in-depth understanding of the relationship between theoretical biomechanical concepts and current techniques used in assessment and support in sport, exercise and clinical contexts.

This MSc will enable you to support the physical development and health of people engaged in sports and exercise. With your deep understanding of the biomechanical functioning of the human body, you will be able to assess and advise on a range of issues which arise in the course of sport and exercise participation.

Why Roehampton

You'll receive progressive, practical and professional-level experience in sports science assessment and support techniques.

Taught by world-leading researchers in the sport, exercise and clinical biomechanics field.

We provide internships and placement opportunities with local and leading national sporting and clinical organisations; recent internships have included posts at Chelsea Football Club, Harlequins Rugby Club and the Lawn Tennis Association at Wimbledon.

Example modules

- Advanced Biomechanics of Locomotion
- Biomechanical Measurement and Technology
- Psychology of Sport and Performance

Career opportunities

Graduates are equipped with the necessary skills to work as sports and exercise physiologists, sports coaches and therapists in the health sector at sports clubs, sporting associations, governing bodies and other related agencies.

MSc Clinical Neuroscience

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2–4 Years 🌐 See website
📅 September

This cutting-edge course offers an exciting opportunity to study modern neuroscience with a focus on clinical implications. You will gain a strong foundation in understanding the mechanisms and treatments of neurological and neuropsychiatric diseases.

You will develop a detailed understanding of modern theory and concepts relating to brain research and neuroscience and the application of these principles in the treatment of brain disorders. This course places emphasis on the clinical relevance of recent developments in neuroscience.

Why Roehampton

One of the longest running postgraduate programmes in clinical neuroscience in the UK.

It will give you an insight into recent advances in neurosciences of relevance to neurological and neuropsychiatric diseases.

The programme is recognised by the Federation of Neuroscience Societies (FENS) and included in the Network of European Neuroscience Schools (NENS), which is the highest accolade in European neuroscience teaching.

Example modules

The Brain from a Clinical Perspective
Brain, Diet, and Addiction
The Immune Brain

Career opportunities

Health professionals, research careers in academia, NHS or private sector including the pharmaceutical industry. Alternatively, graduates may opt for further academic study at PhD level.

MSc Clinical Nutrition

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2–4 Years 🌐 See website
📅 September

Gain the essential skillsets as a nutritionist to help improve people's health and well-being in the context of the malnutrition, obesity, metabolic response to injury and chronic disease.

You will consider the patient's journey from birth to extreme age in the context of the metabolic response to injury or to chronic disease. The course is designed for all members of nutrition support teams and is also suitable for students who wish to pursue clinically-based nutrition research.

Why Roehampton

First MSc in Clinical Nutrition to be established in the UK and accredited by the Association for Nutrition.

Learn from specialist guest lectures from leading scientists, dietitians, clinician and pharmacists.

Learn in state-of-the-art-laboratory facilities including biomedical and microbiology labs.

Example modules

Nutrition in Acute and Chronic Illness
Health Psychophysiology
Body Composition Practical

Career opportunities

Nutritionist (public sector, private commercial or independent), public health nutritionist, academia research/teaching, commercial research, NHS (various roles) and local and central government (roles in policy and health promotion). In addition, many students are already health professionals and study the course as part of their career development and specialisation.

MSc Health Sciences

 FT 1 Year |  PT 2–4 Years  See website

 September

This rewarding programme is designed to provide a biological perspective on the nature and study of human behaviour and health with an emphasis on the clinical relevance of contemporary developments in the biological sciences.

Our programme is designed to improve career prospects for health professionals and offers social context for the anthropological and psychological issues of health and healthcare. This course covers a broad spectrum of biological approaches from the molecular to ethological studies and presents a diverse range of methods for the study of human behaviour and health.

Why Roehampton

The programme encourages the development of evidence-based practice in health care.

You will learn to critically appraise the application of theory and scientific strategies to a range of health issues.

You will be taught by experts in the field and develop an in-depth understanding of topic areas and mechanisms involved in the maintenance of health and well-being, and the development and treatment of disease.

Example modules

Principles of Clinical Neuroscience

Health Psychophysiology

Brain, Diet, and Addiction

Career opportunities

Graduates are equipped for a wide range of health-related careers in the NHS, local authorities, including education departments, social services, non-government organisations, and charities.

MSc Obesity: Risks and Prevention

 FT 1 Year |  PT 2–4 Years  See website

 September

This programme provides a solid scientific base on obesity as well as important prevention strategies. You will understand the current and emerging obesity interventions, and conduct novel research projects to help understand and combat obesity.

This was the first MSc programme on obesity to be established in London and examines the problem of an excess of energy intake over energy expenditure from an integrative perspective: risk factors for obesity and risks associated with obesity are considered as well as strategies for reducing these risks.

Why Roehampton

This programme has been specifically designed for health professionals as well as biosciences, and psychology graduates.

Tackle one of the world's largest health issues and positively impact other people's lives through designing interventions in combating obesity.

Excellent laboratory facilities including a food lab with sensory analysis tasting booths and biomedical and microbiology labs.

Example modules

Health Research Methods

Health Psychophysiology

Principles of Nutrition

Career opportunities

Graduates are equipped for a wide range of careers in the NHS, local authorities, including education departments, social services, non-government organisations, and charities.

MRes Primate Biology, Behaviour and Conservation

 FT 1 Year  See website

 September

Embark on an incredible journey with a course that focuses on studying the biology, behaviour and conservation of primates. You will gain the skills required to carry out theoretical and field research in primatology, to advance your career or further study.

Primatology is a discipline that has its roots in anatomy, biology, anthropology and psychology. This course covers a comprehensive range of topics within primatology and combines theoretical investigation with fieldwork and laboratory sessions. It also offers intensive training in research methods and statistics.

Why Roehampton

The course offers an opportunity to carry out a substantial research project in primatology, and is an ideal qualification for those wishing to pursue a PhD in this field.

Many MRes students publish their dissertation research in international scientific journals.

We have well established networks with field sites such as Gashaka Primate Project (Nigeria), Berenty Reserve (Madagascar) and Trentham Monkey Forest (UK).

Example modules

Primatology: Theory and Practice

Primate Biology, Behaviour and Conservation

Research Methods in Biology

Career opportunities

Careers in conservation projects, research institutions, animal welfare groups or agencies, zoos, parks, environmental and animal charities; in roles such as researcher, conservation biologist and ecologist.

MSc Psychology of Sport and Exercise (BPS)

 FT 1 Year |  PT 2 Years  See website

 September

Learn how to optimise athlete performance and improve well-being and activity levels by studying the psychology behind sport. You will explore key factors that affect sports performance, well-being, and activity levels such as mental toughness, self-confidence, motivation, stress and anxiety, concentration, and the psychology of sport injury.

This innovative programme provides you with a thorough theoretical, conceptual and research informed grounding in the discipline. You will develop a strong scientific understanding of human behaviour and experience, and of the complex interactions between these.

Why Roehampton

Accredited by the British Psychology Society (BPS)

Taught by Chartered Psychologists, with applied elements being delivered by HCPC registered Sport Psychologists

Covers a variety of theoretical issues in sport and exercise psychology, 100% of our psychology research has an impact on societies around the world.

Example modules

Psychology of Physical Activity, Health and Injury

Application of Psychological Support

Professional Practice in Sport Psychology

Career opportunities

Students go on to work as sport and exercise psychologists, fitness instructors, teachers, lecturers, counsellors and coaches, as well going on to further academic study.

MSc Sport and Exercise Physiology

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2–4 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

Our programme equips you for a career in sport and exercise physiology. You will be provided with advanced knowledge based on the latest research in the theory and practice of a range of different areas in sport and exercise physiology, for the benefit of performance and health.

This inspiring programme offers a thorough theoretical, conceptual and practical grounding in the discipline. You will gain a detailed understanding of the science of sports and exercise with the focus on applied physiology.

Why Roehampton

Learn from internationally renowned researchers in a range of performance and health-related physiological disciplines including environmental physiology, sport and exercise nutrition, neuromuscular strength and function, and clinical physiology.

Gain frequent access to recently updated, state-of-the-art physiology laboratories and develop practical skills fundamental for both industry and research.

Classes are taught in small groups and almost exclusively in the laboratories.

Example modules

Physiological Assessment

Neuromusculoskeletal Function

Nutritional Aspects of Exercise and Sport Performance

Career opportunities

Graduates go on to work as sport physiologists and rehabilitation experts in sport management consultancies.

MSc Sport and Exercise Science

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2–4 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

You will have the opportunity to critically examine the theoretical bases of science in understanding sport and exercise, the assessment methods and their practical application within physiology, psychology and biomechanics.

You will be equipped to critically analyse and evaluate complex and specialised assessment and support techniques in sport and exercise, and to select the most appropriate methods for clients from one (or all) of the disciplines of biomechanics, physiology and psychology.

Why Roehampton

Recent placements we have offered our students have included posts at leading sporting organisations including Chelsea Football Club, Harlequins Rugby Club and the Lawn Tennis Association.

Benefit from access to state-of-the-art laboratory facilities in which you can conduct your research.

Examine critically the theoretical bases of assessment methods and their practical application within physiology, psychology and biomechanics.

Example modules

Physiological Assessment

Biomechanical Measurement and Technology

Psychology of Sport and Performance

Career opportunities

Pathways include teaching, coaching, sport public relations and promotion, sports consultant, lecturer or further academic study.

“Since undertaking my MRes I have gained confidence as a researcher and as a presenter and I am now able to communicate my findings effectively.”

Raphaella Heesen
MRes Primate Biology,
Behaviour and Conservation

MRes Sport and Exercise Science

 FT 1 Year |  PT 2–4 Years  See website
 September

Produce high quality original research in the areas of sport, exercise, nutritional and health sciences. This programme provides an excellent platform for progression to PhD-level study as well as other related career paths.

This programme is for students who want to focus on a research topic with a view to create new knowledge within the growing area of sport and exercise science. You will be guided by experts in the field who will support you to produce high quality original research.

Why Roehampton

Ideal if you are interested in focusing on a specific research area at Masters level and provides an excellent platform for progression to PhD-level study.

Benefit from access to state-of-the-art laboratory facilities in which you can conduct your research.

Examine critically the theoretical bases of assessment methods and their practical application within physiology, psychology and biomechanics.

Example modules

MRes Research Dissertation

Psychology of Physical Activity, Health and Injury

Physiological Assessment

Career opportunities

Pathways include teaching, coaching, sport public relations and promotion, sports consultant and lecturer, further academic study.

MSc Stress and Health

 FT 1 Year |  PT 2–4 Years  See website
 September

Study how stress affects illness and examine ways to improve individual wellbeing through practical applications in stress management. You will gain a science-based qualification in the study of stress, dealing specifically with the mechanisms by which psychological stress can induce illnesses and examining issues of measurement, prevalence and management. This is especially pertinent today as you will study occupational stress and management for people in the workplace.

Why Roehampton

Join the only programme of this kind in the UK, where you will study both the psychological and biological approaches to stress, how it induces illness, and ways to improve well-being.

Taught by leading experts in the field, you will learn about how stress medicine and psychoneuroimmunology are growth areas in the discipline.

Gain access to state-of-the-art laboratories such as the biomechanics laboratory, the physiology laboratory, and psychology laboratories.

Example modules

Communication

Health Psychophysiology

Biomedical Practical on Brain Function

Career opportunities

Practitioners work in stress measurement and stress management, and psychophysiological work in professions associated to medicine.

Online degrees

We also offer working professionals the opportunity to earn a Roehampton masters degree fully online through a collaborative and flexible learning experience – at an affordable price. The following course is delivered in partnership with Laureate International Universities – a global network of highquality, accredited institutions of higher education:

Master of Public Health (MPH)

 edu.roehampton-online.com/

Media, Culture and Language

Study with us and you'll have the opportunity to work in one of the most vibrant, research-active departments of its kind.

The department helps you get where you want to be with a wide range of communication and creative programmes available in Translation, Linguistics, Media, Film and Journalism. Our staff have an international reputation for the quality of their teaching and research. Our students have screened their films at BFI Southbank, exhibited their photography in Brick Lane, and worked at leading media organisations, including the BBC.

We're also committed to the promotion of languages, linguistics and translation, with our staff and students undertaking world-leading research and practice in the area of audiovisual translation and intercultural communication in the creative industries.

Ranked in the top five London universities for Journalism

Research and course information

Research centres

The Centre for Research in English Language and Linguistics (CRELL) involves both staff and postgraduate students and acts as a focus for research in linguistics in the widest sense. Members' interests range from discourse analysis and sociolinguistics, to theoretical phonology and syntax.

The Centre for Research in Film and Audiovisual Cultures (CRFAC) aims to advance critical, historical and practical research relating to film and other audiovisual media. It supports research on cinema, television, video/DVD, interactive platforms and online media.

The Centre for Research in Translation and Transcultural Studies (CRTTS) promotes interdisciplinary research that is methodologically informed by postcolonial theories and enquiry. The distinctiveness of the centre lies in the particular mix of expertise among its University-wide membership.

The Hispanic Research Centre (HRC) incorporates scholars working with, and across, a wide variety of hispanic texts, including film and television, dictionaries, translation, oral history and autobiography.

Recent research projects

Professor Michael Witt curated a three-month retrospective of the films and videos of iconic filmmaker Jean-Luc Godard at the high profile British Film Institute on London's South Bank. During the season, Professor Witt hosted events, introduced a number of screenings and delivered a lecture.

Dr Kate Wright provided expert advice to the Disasters Emergency Committee on NGOs' use of multimedia. Dr Wright was invited to present in order to explain to major British aid agencies why and how their photos, video and audio media are used by journalists in their coverage of Africa.

Dr. Andrea Esser was awarded a grant as part of her involvement in the project 'What Makes Danish TV Drama Series Travel?' The research investigates why Danish TV dramas, including The Killing, The Bridge and Borgen, are currently selling so well internationally and are popular with critics and audiences alike.

[www.roehampton.ac.uk/
media-culture-and-language/research/](http://www.roehampton.ac.uk/media-culture-and-language/research/)

For more information and to discuss your research interests please contact staff directly.

MA Applied Linguistics and TESOL

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

This course is designed to help you develop the skills and experience you need for a successful career in English teaching.

There is a demand throughout the world for graduates with qualifications and expertise in teaching English to speakers of other languages (TESOL). This MA is designed for students who are intending to have a career in English teaching. It will also be of interest to those who are already teachers of English and would like to increase their professional expertise by advancing their analytical knowledge of English and up-to-date teaching methods.

Why Roehampton

There is a strong emphasis on the application of linguistic knowledge in the classroom.

A flexible choice of modules allows you to specialise in areas that interest you.

Become a member of Centre for Research in English Language and Linguistics (CRELL), a thriving forum for researchers with theoretical insight and varying interests such as politics and functionality of language.

Example modules

Theories of Second Language Learning

Discourse Analysis and Language Teaching

Language Testing

Career opportunities

There are excellent opportunities around the world for teachers with an MA in TESOL. Related career possibilities include policy adviser, trainer of trainers, and designer of teaching materials.

MA Audiovisual Translation

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

The MA in Audiovisual Translation is an internationally leading course in its field, recognised by the European Commission as a European Masters in Translation.

This prestigious course addresses the growing demand for language specialists with skills in translating audiovisual texts. It covers a range of areas, including subtitling, accessibility (subtitling for the deaf and hard of hearing, audio description and live subtitling), multimedia localisation, dubbing and voice-over for films. It is open to bilingual students wishing to work between different languages, but also welcomes monolingual English-speaking students.

Why Roehampton

A professionally-oriented course that helps students to access a wide range of employment opportunities and industry contacts.

The University has a state-of-the-art language lab with cutting-edge subtitling and translation software, including Swift, WinCAPS, and SDL Trados Studio.

This degree is part of the European Masters in Translation network, recognised by the European Commission as a course of excellence, and can lead to further opportunities in doctoral research.

Example modules

Subtitling: Concepts and Practice

Dubbing and Voice-over

Media Access: Audiodescription, Subtitling for the Deaf and Respeaking

Career opportunities

Students go on to careers in a broad range of media companies and broadcasters, subtitling companies, translation and localisation providers.

MA Film and Screen Cultures

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

Study film and screen cultures while immersing yourself in the creative culture of London at film festivals, studios, galleries and pop-up cinemas. This MA combines the study of mainstream and experimental film, contemporary television and the video-essay form, and includes the option to produce either a written or audio-visual dissertation.

This cutting-edge course offers the opportunity for advanced studies in film, television and new media. Taught by leading figures in the field, the course allows you to engage with the most up-to-date research and to explore new approaches to audio-visual scholarship.

Why Roehampton

Study film, television, and new media alongside world-leading scholars in the field.

Undertake innovative research alongside regular study trips to film festivals, galleries and cinemas across London.

Learn to produce 'video essays', in which you may opt not only to write about films but also to edit footage and create your own original audio-visual criticism.

Example modules

Screen Cultures of London

Cult and Quality Television

Essay Films and Video Essays

Career opportunities

Careers in cinema and festival programming, media research, production co-ordination, marketing and communications, curatorship and distribution. The MA also functions as a pathway to a PhD for those pursuing a career in academia.

MA Intercultural Communication in the Creative Industries

🕒 FT 1 Year | PT 2 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

This MA is perfect for multilingual students who want a career in the creative sector.

In our cosmopolitan global culture, talented people with multilingual skills are increasingly sought after by the creative industries. You will have the opportunity to combine your language and intercultural skills with the study of London's vibrant creative industries, such as advertising, entertainment and marketing.

Why Roehampton

This pioneering MA is for students with a multilingual background who want to work in a creative international environment with London's exciting cultural industries as a springboard.

Choose between undertaking a research-based dissertation and a dissertation based on work placement in a cultural institution.

You can pick optional modules from a variety of creative subject areas including journalism, film and media.

Example modules

Think, Create, Translate: Transcreation and the Creative Industries

Cultural Adaptation in the Creative Industries

Cross Cultural Management

Career opportunities

Careers in public or private cultural institutions, international companies and organisations, advertising agencies, and translation and transcreation companies.

“My course has introduced me to new ways to exchange ideas; I’ve gained loads of new skills and get to work with interesting and dedicated people.”

Zoe Moores
Audiovisual Translation

MA Journalism

 FT 1 Year |  PT 2 Years  See website
 September

This course provides industry-relevant and specialist journalism training. Based in one of our multimedia newsrooms, designed to give you the experience of working in a fully functioning and fast-paced environment, you'll learn how to write different types of stories, design digital content and produce audiovisual journalism.

You will examine the journalism business, have the opportunity to specialise in magazine journalism and study shorthand. You will be taught by a journalism team who have worked for the Daily Mail, the Guardian, Financial Times, the BBC and Reuters.

Why Roehampton

This interactive course is taught by experienced academics, many of whom have worked, or still currently work, as journalists.

You'll develop a portfolio that will prepare you for employment in the journalism industry or related areas in the creative industries.

The six-week industry-based work placement in London's media hub means you'll take your learning outside of the classroom, build a strong CV and make vital industry contacts.

Example modules

Social Media and Data Journalism

The Journalism Business

Multimedia Journalism

Career opportunities

Careers in broadcasting, journalism, publishing, professional writing, public relations and social media. The MA also functions as a pathway to a PhD for those pursuing a career in academia.

MA Media Communication and Culture

 FT 1 Year |  PT 2–4 Years  See website
 September

On this course you will cover all aspects of media, communications and cultural studies, from exploring cultural theories and concepts such as Marxism, post-Marxism, feminism, psychoanalysis, post-colonialism and globalisation, to the developments and debates around media and cultural industries such as TV, film, print media and the internet.

You will analysis the politics of identity in the context of media and cultural representations, especially in the changing media and web landscape.

Why Roehampton

This course is taught by researchers who are recognised leaders in their field.

Will help you develop the skills and independent critical thinking required for the 'knowledge worker' of the future.

Allows you to engage with contemporary developments and debates in media, communication and culture, including feminism, cultural identity and globalisation

Example modules

The Politics of Identity

Communication and Culture:
Theories and Approaches

Global Media and Communications

Career opportunities

The MA helps students prepare for successful careers in communications and the cultural industries including film, journalism and publishing. Students may opt to do media research or further academic study.

MA Specialised Translation

 FT 1 Year |  PT 2 Years  See website
 September

This course aims to address the growing demand for translators with skills in translating technical texts. The course will familiarise you with the sociocultural, linguistic and technical dimensions that characterise specialised multilingual material. You will work with the latest industry-standard software to learn the skills you need to enter the professional market and gain the knowledge to pursue further research in this field.

There is a particular emphasis on learning translation tools (notably SDL Trados Studio) and localisation, with a focus on video games.

Why Roehampton

The programme is taught by a combination of academic staff and experts from the industry who bring a broad range of professional experience to the classroom.

The University has a state-of-the-art language lab with cutting-edge translation software including SDL Trados Studio, MemoQ, Swift and WinCAPS.

Alongside specialised translation modules, the programme offers a varied selection of options from related areas such as subtitling and the localisation of computer games, enabling students to build a broad portfolio of knowledge and skills.

Example modules

Translation Theory and Practice

Translation Tools

Technical and Scientific Translation

Career opportunities

Those who complete this course will be ready to look for in-house or freelance work as specialised translators of technical and scientific texts, proof-readers and terminologists.

Psychology

The Department of Psychology is a dynamic and diverse community, offering programmes in psychology as well as therapeutic training.

We are one of the largest therapeutic training departments in the country with programmes in the Arts and Play Therapies, Counselling Psychology and Counselling/Psychotherapy. Programmes are accredited by professional bodies and teaching is undertaken by experienced practitioners.

Attachment Studies and Psychological Science are two of our specialist postgraduate programmes in psychology. These programmes enable you to gain experience through hands-on skills training and provide an excellent basis for subsequent doctoral research.

The department offers student-focused teaching by a committed group of academic staff who are specialist in their field. We provide an excellent education by working in partnership with you throughout your educational journey.

100% of our research is rated 'world leading' or 'internationally excellent' for its impact*

Research and course information

Research centres

The Centre for Applied Research and Assessment in Child and Adolescent Wellbeing (CARACAW) undertakes work to promote better understanding and improve social and psychological well-being of children, adolescents and their families.

The Centre for Research in Cognition, Emotion and Interaction (CRICEI) concentrates on areas of cognition that are mutually affected by emotion, social cognition and the discipline of social cognitive neuroscience.

The Clinical and Health Psychology Research Centre (CHP) focuses on investigating the interaction of biological, behavioural, sociocultural and environmental factors in the aetiology, maintenance and prevention of health problems, and in health promotion.

The Research Centre for Therapeutic Education (RCTE) examines therapy as a cultural practice influenced by European philosophy, with particular emphasis given to the relational aspects of professional work, health, learning and communication.

The Centre for Arts Therapies Research (CATR) heralds a new phase for the development of arts therapies research within the University and within the wider social context.

Centre for Research in Individual Differences (CRID) investigates major dimensions of individual differences in cognitive abilities, motivation and personality in the context of experimental, cognitive, social and biological psychology.

Centre for Research in Social and Psychological Transformation (CREST) focuses on interventions and methods that support enhancements in psychological and social well-being, as well as processes at the interface between the psychological and social domains.

Recent research projects

Chartered counselling psychologist Professor Mick Cooper is leading a £835,000 study funded by the Economic and Social Research Council. It will establish a dedicated counselling service in 18 English secondary schools and evaluate professional school-based counsellors supporting young people experiencing emotional problems.

Professor Paul Allen is leading a project examining brain changes in cannabis users who have used the drug on a long-term basis. The project will attempt to establish if regular cannabis use has effects on areas of the brain involved in memory and on neurochemicals that regulate brain activity.

Dr Leigh Gibson led a residency project at the Science Museum to study why people overindulge in certain foods and how this relates to their personality and genetic makeup.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/psychology/research/

For more information and to discuss your research interests, please contact staff directly.

MA Art Psychotherapy

FT 2 Years | PT 3 Years See website
 September

This course is designed for experienced artists and care professionals who have worked within a clinical setting and would like to build a rewarding career as an art psychotherapist.

You will be taught by leading experts who will equip you with the skills, experience, and confidence to work as an art psychotherapist in challenging, yet rewarding environments. Many students are attracted to the transformational aspects of the training which includes dedicated studio practice time to integrate the different aspects through students' own art making.

Why Roehampton

Build a rewarding career as a professionally-qualified and State registered art psychotherapist. Graduates are able to apply for registration with the Health and Care Professions Council (HCPC).

Follow a syllabus informed by Carl G. Jung's pioneering theories on analytical psychology.

Benefit from our established network of art psychotherapists and gain work experience in supervised clinical placements.

Example modules

Art Psychotherapy Workshop: Symbols as Language of the Unconscious

The Therapeutic Relationship and its Experience and Expression

Art Psychotherapy Clinical Placement

Career opportunities

Registered art therapy practitioners work in a variety of different settings including psychiatric hospitals, social services departments, special education, prisons and the voluntary sector.

MSc Attachment Studies

FT 1 Year | PT 2-3 Years See website
 September

This pioneering course provides students with a specific qualification in the assessment of child and adult attachment, parenting and family functioning. It is designed for health and social care professionals, who wish to broaden their skills in assessing parenting, child and adult attachment, select those interventions most likely to succeed and want to conduct small or large scale research projects.

This course draws on Patricia Crittenden's Dynamic Maturational Model of attachment and we pride ourselves in taking a systemic, non-blaming culturally aware approach to the contribution attachment studies can make to alleviating human suffering. Our aim is to prepare you to be at the forefront of the next generation of attachment scholars.

Why Roehampton

In the Research Excellence Framework 2014, 100% of the research we submitted was rated "world leading" or "internationally excellent" for its impact.

The course is unique in offering students the opportunity to study a comprehensive range of validated attachment procedures at university level.

The course combines theory, practice and research in the field of child and adult attachment in troubled populations.

Example modules

Naturalistic Observation

The Mental Representation of Attachment

Clinical Intervention Seminar

Career opportunities

Careers in psychology and social work. Many of our graduates also set up their own freelance practice.

PsychD Counselling Psychology

 FT 3 Years | PT 4–6 Years  See website
 September

This programme provides professional training that leads to eligibility for registration as a counselling psychologist with the Health and Care Professions Council (HCPC) and chartered status with the British Psychological Society (BPS).

The programme brings together contemporary understandings from person-centred, psychodynamic and cognitive-behavioural models of therapy.

Why Roehampton

Gain skills in assessment and formulation, psychometric testing, qualitative and quantitative research methods, service evaluation and leadership.

You will be taught by a team of experienced practitioners and trainers, including leading international figures in the field.

The programme offers a variety of opportunities to undertake clinical placements including at Roehampton's bespoke therapeutic clinic.

Example modules

Professional Practice and Development

Person-centred and Experiential Theory and Practice

Assessment Formulation and Clinical Presentations

Career opportunities

As an HCPC registered Counselling Psychologist you will be qualified to work in a range of settings, including the NHS, the voluntary sector and private practice as well as providing clinical supervision, service management, teaching, research and consultancy.

MA Dance Movement Psychotherapy

 FT 2 Years | PT 3 Years  See website
 September

The MA is designed for experienced professionals with prior dance training, who have worked within a clinical setting and would like to practise as a dance movement psychotherapist. The programme offers an integrative approach where the moving expressive body is at the heart of the psychotherapeutic process. We believe that focusing on the creative potential of individuals in a relationship creates a sound ethical basis for psychotherapeutic work.

Why Roehampton

Graduates are eligible to register with the Association for Dance Movement Psychotherapy UK (ADMP UK) and, following further clinical post qualifying experience, will be eligible to work towards United Kingdom Council for Psychotherapy (UKCP) registration.

Benefit from our established network of dance movement psychotherapists and gain work experience within a supervised clinical placement in a range of settings.

Taught by leading experts who will equip you with the skills, experience, and confidence to work as a dance movement psychotherapist.

Example modules

Creative Processes: Reflexive Movement Improvisation

Theoretical Approaches in Dance Movement Psychotherapy

Psychopathology: Alternative World Views

Career opportunities

Graduates can enter a variety of roles including, but not limited to, NHS clinical practice within in and out-patient services, community services, prison services, special needs schools, performing arts contexts, and drug rehabilitation.

“The chance to study under some of the best practitioners in this field made the Roehampton course stand out from the others.”

Anna Turner
PsychD Counselling Psychology

MA Dramatherapy

🕒 FT 2 Years | PT 3 Years 🌐 See website
📅 September

Become a qualified dramatherapist with this unique programme at Roehampton. It offers a practical and clinical approach, underpinned by Ritual Theatre theory, for working with others to impact healing and a positive change through drama.

Drawing heavily on the theatrical observations of Peter Brook and the experiments of Jerzy Grotowski, as well as anthropological notions of “rites of passage” and the importance of “myth”, the programme offers a clearly structured developmental process for the clinical application of dramatherapy at various levels.

Why Roehampton

Approved by the Health Care Professions Council (HCPC) and leads to a nationally recognised professional qualification as a dramatherapist.

The opportunity to undertake an original piece of research into dramatherapy practice.

Taught by experienced clinical practitioners and authors of dramatherapy publications, including the editor of The Dramatherapy Journal.

Example modules

Human Development and Growth

Dramatherapy Placement and Supervision

The Ritual of Transformation

Career opportunities

Dramatherapists are employed across the spectrum of health and social care, education and forensic services. Dramatherapists may also operate in private therapy, training and consultancy practice.

MA Integrative Counselling and Psychotherapy

🕒 PT 3 Years 🌐 See website
📅 September

This programme provides the training in counselling and psychotherapy necessary to become eligible for BACP (British Association for Counselling & Psychotherapy) accreditation.

Our integrative approach, at the forefront of counselling and psychotherapy theory, practice and research, incorporates aspects from three main therapeutic traditions; person-centred, cognitive and psychodynamic. You will be encouraged to explore psychological processes and experiences from these different perspectives, and recognise the theoretical, personal and cultural assumptions which influence your work.

Why Roehampton

The course is accredited by the British Association of Counselling and Psychotherapy (BACP).

Our approach incorporates aspects of theory and practice from three main therapeutic traditions; person-centred, cognitive behavioural and psychodynamic.

You will be equipped with the necessary skills to work with a wide range of people with a range of psychological issues in a variety of settings.

Example modules

Integrative Theory and Skills

The role of assessment in counselling and psychotherapy

The role of research in counselling and psychotherapy

Career opportunities

Graduates can work in health and social services, voluntary organisations and the education in counselling field.

MA Music Therapy

FT 2 Years | PT 3-4 Years See website
 September

Become a qualified music therapist to facilitate people's move towards well-being through specific therapeutic aims using a primarily non-verbal relationship in music. Music therapy as practised in Great Britain is largely based on improvisation, the music being the shared, and the spontaneous creation of client and therapist.

This programme offers training for competent, practising musicians to become therapists, bringing together their skills, education and other life experiences. On completion of the training, graduates are eligible to apply to the HCPC for registration, with the ability and flexibility to practice within the NHS, Social Services, education or private sector.

Why Roehampton

Approved by the Health Care Professions Council (HCPC), this training leads to a nationally recognised professional qualification as a music therapist.

Work placements opportunities are available.

Music therapy course staff have their own current clinical work, and are therefore embedded in current practice and clinical thinking.

Example modules

Music Therapy Theory and Practice 1 and 2

Observational Studies

Research Portfolio

Career opportunities

This is a clinical training programme for a career as a music therapist.

MA Play Therapy

FT 2 Years See website
 September

This two year full-time programme integrates theoretical learning, clinical skills and in-depth personal development to prepare graduates for clinical practice, predominantly with children, as a professional play therapist within the public and private sectors.

Based on a humanistic person-centred model of therapy, this course emphasises the use of play within a therapeutic relationship between the therapist and client to facilitate therapeutic change. The course encompasses theoretical, practical and experiential learning. With our holistic approach to teaching, you will be provided with thorough and systematic knowledge, experience, skills and the confidence to work as a professionally qualified play therapist.

Why Roehampton

The longest standing British Association of Play Therapists (BAPT) accredited Masters level Play Therapy training course in England.

The course leads to a qualification that entitles you to registration as a Full Member of the British Association of Play Therapists (BAPT).

"The best Play Therapy training programme in Europe" according to internationally-renowned play therapist Garry Landreth.

Example modules

Human Development and Growth

Process Group

Child Observation

Career opportunities

Graduates work as a registered play therapist for both the private and public sectors.

MSc Psychological Science

FT 1 Years | PT 2 years See website
 September

The programme is designed to give you a thorough and advanced grounding in a wide variety of current psychological research areas and the research methods that underlie them.

You will take your knowledge and research to the next level to explore cognition and cognitive neuroscience and how it can be applied to certain areas like mental health. The programme is designed to help you explore advanced research in many aspects of experimental psychology. You will advance your research skills and scientific knowledge in current topics such as neuroimaging, brain stimulation, memory, language and biopsychology.

Why Roehampton

Apply research ideas in cognition and brain science to current topics such as mental health.

Advance your research skillset using cutting-edge equipment such as MRI (brain scanning), EEG, brain stimulation, and computer-based experiments and surveys.

Build upon your knowledge to produce a research project that aims to be of journal publication quality.

Example modules

Brain and Body

Cognition and Mental Health

Psychological Science

Career opportunities

The programme will prepare you for further research degrees, research posts or careers in which the interpretation, presentation or teaching of scientific research or data is required.

Online degrees

We also offer working professionals the opportunity to earn a Roehampton masters degree fully online through a collaborative and flexible learning experience – at an affordable price. The following course is delivered in partnership with Laureate International Universities – a global network of high quality, accredited institutions of higher education:

MSc Psychology

edu.roehampton-online.com/

Social Sciences

If you are passionate about social justice and want to make a difference in society, then our programmes in law, international human rights and international relations, and global criminology are for you.

We offer outstanding postgraduate programmes that combine academic excellence with practical engagement to equip you with the experience, skills and knowledge you need to realise your ambitions and help launch you in to your chosen career.

You will be taught by academics whose world-leading research and passion for their subjects, informs their teaching. We are among the sixth in the UK for the impact of our social sciences research according to results from the latest Research Excellence Framework, the national audit of research excellence.

100% of students agreed the course content in MA Human Rights and International Relations was intellectually stimulating*

Research and course information

Research centres

Our diverse team of active researchers are committed to social justice and undertake theoretically informed, impact-oriented research that has a direct effect on society.

The department holds regular research seminars and events, with internationally renowned speakers from both within and outside the University.

The internationally recognised Crucible Centre for Human Rights Research is home to international experts conducting research, training and teaching in the field of human rights, social justice and international relations.

Recent research projects

Dr Aisha Gill is internationally recognised for her scholarly work and expert advice on legal policy issues related to so-called 'honour killings' and forced marriage. Her research into countering 'honour' killings and forced marriage, which has helped shape Government policy, has resulted in a Celebrating Impact Prize from the Economic and Social Research Council.

Dr Katie Boyle is a constitutional lawyer specialising in human rights at the international, regional, domestic and devolved level with a particular focus on the justiciability of economic, social and cultural (ESC) rights in the post-conflict context. Dr Boyle has produced a number of reports and UN submissions for national human rights institutions

Dr Amanda Holt's recent book Adolescent-to-parent abuse: Current understandings in research, policy and practice (Policy Press, 2013) addresses ground-breaking new research on family violence.

Professor Bryony Hoskins has conducted research on citizenship in European Institutions including the European Commission, Centre for Research on Lifelong Learning (CRELL) and the Council of Europe.

Dr Darren O'Byrne is the author of a ground-breaking core text on human rights from a social science perspective, and more recently author of a major new contribution to the theorisation of global transformations, Human Rights in a Globalizing World (Palgrave, 2015).

Dr Jennifer Melvin's research interests include: genocide; post-conflict reconciliation; human rights protection and international development. Her recent book Reconciling Rwanda: Unity, Nationality and State Control (2015) is the result of her fieldwork in Rwanda and offers a critical account of post-genocide human rights.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/social-sciences/research/

For more information and to discuss your research interests, please contact staff directly.

MA Erasmus Mundus Human Rights Policy and Practice

🕒 FT 2 Years 🌐 See website

📅 September

This two-year, full-time programme is taught in Sweden, Spain, and the UK and will prepare you for an international career in human rights.

Our programme has a strong emphasis on professional development, and how human rights principles can be put into practice through policy and active engagement in these issues. It is designed for students who want to make a significant contribution to the human rights agenda internationally in civil society organisations, governments and the public and private sectors. You will be exposed to legal, political, and sociological approaches to human rights promotion and protection in a globalised world.

Why Roehampton

Develop an international perspective on human rights policy and practice through study in three different European countries.

Gain professional experience in a work placement with an organisation working with human rights in the UK.

Acquire the professional skills and expertise in human rights to build your career in the field.

Example modules

Human Rights as Politics, Ethics and Law

Globalisation and Human Rights

Ethno-cultural Diversity and Collective Dimensions in Human Rights

Career opportunities

This degree gives students the skills to go on to work in national and international government and non-governmental agencies, think tanks and the private sector.

MA Global Criminology

🕒 FT 1 Years | PT 2 years 🌐 See website

📅 September

Our MA Global Criminology course has been developed by our dynamic team of criminologists to encourage you to think about key issues of crime and justice, and the impact they have on society, from an interdisciplinary and international perspective. Global Criminology considers how problems of crime and justice extend beyond geographical, cultural and political borders. This course examines current global concerns such as violence against women and girls, drug trafficking, mass incarceration, trans-national policing, genocide and crime in the media.

Why Roehampton

Explore current criminological issues and debates from around the world and examine their impact at global, regional and local levels.

Become part of our international research-led community of scholars and students who will challenge and develop your thinking about key global issues in crime and justice.

Collaborate with our team of criminologists who will help develop your critical thinking skills, research techniques, and capacity to communicate complex intellectual ideas.

Example modules

Crime, Media and Popular Culture

Gender, Hate and Violence

Global Policing

Career opportunities

You will be equipped with the knowledge, competencies and skills to prepare you for further study at PhD level or for careers both within and outside of the criminal justice sector.

Graduate Diploma in Law

🕒 FT 1 Year 🌐 See website

📅 September

Our GDL is designed and taught by experienced lawyers and legal professionals; it will provide you with the necessary platform for the skills needed in the legal profession and will support your transition into your legal career from your previous subject discipline.

This intensive one year full-time course centres on 'practice-based' learning; it aims to develop your understanding of law in the context of everyday life and modern legal practice.

Alongside our other pro-bono activities, you can apply for the CAB Advisor Learning Programme that gives you experience in assisting and advising members of the public at a local CAB centre.

Why Roehampton

Equip yourself for legal practice with our 'practice-based' law approach taught by experienced academics and tutor practitioners.

Work with our dedicated Law School Careers Advisor who will help you to target the law career you choose.

Build upon your legal skills and obtain work experience through our partnership with the Citizens Advice Bureau.

Example modules

Legal Systems, Ethics and Skills

Seven core foundation modules

Practice module

Career opportunities

Our GDL prepares graduates for a range of legal careers including practicing solicitors, barristers, paralegals, academic law or any career which demands critical reasoning skills.

MA Human Rights

🕒 FT 1 Years | PT 1.5 years 🌐 See website

📅 September

Gain a world view on the current debates within the theory and practice of protecting human rights by studying at Roehampton. You will approach this complex subject from an interdisciplinary perspective, drawing on sociological, legal, philosophical and political insight.

This programme is ideal for students who are pursuing careers as human rights defenders, preparing for training in international law, or keen to gain experience in campaigning. You will graduate with the skills you need to succeed in a highly competitive, international environment for human rights advocacy and protection.

Why Roehampton

Join our team of researchers in the internationally-renowned Crucible Centre for Human Rights Research.

Get first-hand experience of human rights on our annual international research study trip. (Cost of trip not included within course fees).

Over half our research is 'world-leading' or 'internationally excellent' (Research Excellence Framework 2014).

Example modules

Sociology of Human Rights

Human Rights Advanced Placement

Civil Society, Policy and Management

Career opportunities

Graduates work for human rights campaigning, advocacy, and defending within national and international government and non-governmental agencies, charities, think tanks, or in journalism and the media.

"I wanted to study in London and attend a university that has a reputation for excellent teaching and supportive lecturers; Roehampton ticked all those boxes."

Joe Ridley
MA Human Rights

MA Human Rights and International Relations

 FT 1 Years |  PT 1.5 years  See website

 September

This course is ideal for those who wish to pursue a career in the field of international politics with a focus on human rights concerns. You will gain a critical understanding of the central role that human rights has in current and controversial international debates.

This challenging programme will provide you with a strong knowledge in the complex roles that human rights and international relations have in global issues such as terrorism, struggles for democratic freedoms, genocide, the effects of defence policies, climate change, and social justice.

Why Roehampton

Get first-hand experience in the promotion and protection of human rights on our annual international research study trip. (Cost of trip not included within course fees).

Join our team of researchers in the internationally-renowned Crucible Centre for Human Rights Research.

We are ranked 6th in the UK for the impact of our social sciences research (Research Excellence Framework 2014).

Example modules

Human Rights Advanced Placement

International Human Rights and Criminal Law

International Relations and Human Rights

Career opportunities

Graduates work for human rights campaigning, advocacy, and defending within national and international government and non-governmental agencies, charities, think tanks, or in journalism and the media.

Online degrees

We also offer working professionals the opportunity to earn a Roehampton masters degree fully online through a collaborative and flexible learning experience – at an affordable price. The following course is delivered in partnership with Laureate International Universities – a global network of high-quality, accredited institutions of higher education:

Master of Public Administration (MPA)

How to apply

We have a variety of different routes for postgraduate study. Whichever one you pick, we will provide you with support and advice throughout your application process.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/want-to-apply/

Masters and MBA courses

To apply for one of our taught postgraduate courses or for our MBA, you will need to complete the online application form on the University website. For specific help or advice about your application, please email postgradadmissions@roehampton.ac.uk. Our team are happy to guide you through this process. We would advise that you apply early to ensure the best possible chance of being admitted.

PGCE or School Direct

To apply for one of our postgraduate teacher training courses, you will need to complete the UCAS Teacher Training (UTT) online application form: www.ucas.com/apply/teacher-training.

You should submit an application as early as possible via the UTT (applications open in October/November) and then make arrangements to take the professional skills tests. Applicants for primary and secondary teaching courses are strongly advised to apply early as these courses will close as soon as they are full.

You may also want to consider the School Direct model.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/school_direct_recruitment_information/

Applying for research courses

If you wish to apply for a place on one of our postgraduate research degree courses (MPhil, PhD, EdD or PsychD), you will need to download the relevant application pack:

PhD candidates usually apply for the degree of MPhil (Master of Philosophy) in the first instance and have the opportunity to apply to transfer to the PhD (Doctor of Philosophy) midway through their course.

As the first step in the process, you are advised to contact a relevant member of academic staff for an informal discussion about your proposed research. Once you have had this initial conversation you can complete the application form. Please download the relevant guidance notes for applicants before completing an application form:

www.roehampton.ac.uk/courses/graduate-school/application-packs/

Tuition fees

Our tuition fees are set annually; please check our website for the latest fees information.

www.roehampton.ac.uk/finance/

Roehampton's postgraduate 180-credit courses sit across a number of fee bands. Full time is charged as a flat rate, and part time is charged at a rate per 10 credits.

For 240-credit courses the total tuition fee costs for each academic year are dependent on which 240-credit course you are taking. Our MBA, PGCE and MPhil/PhD have separate fees; please check the website for the most up to date information.

Funding

Funding for postgraduate study should form part of your research into the programmes you are considering. Take a look at the avenues below and keep an eye on application deadlines.

University scholarships

Thanks to the support of partners such as the Society of the Sacred Heart and Santander, the University of Roehampton has a number of scholarships, ranging from tuition fee discounts and accommodation subsidies to awards for overseas research, music and sporting excellence

www.roehampton.ac.uk/finance/scholarships/

Postgraduate loans for Masters students

The Government has now introduced a new loans scheme for postgraduate students. The loans are available for taught postgraduate Masters programmes in all disciplines and subject areas. Students aged under 60 by the time they finish their course will be eligible. For more details see our website:

www.roehampton.ac.uk/finance/student-funding/

Research degree funding opportunities

Research councils provide major sources of funding to institutions who then distribute the funds. Funding is available for doctoral training through the TECHNE partnership www.roehampton.ac.uk/courses/graduate-school/techne/

There are also charitable trusts that focus on research funding

www.rcuk.ac.uk/funding/

Alternative funding sources

www.scholarship-search.org.uk/

www.prospects.ac.uk/

FindaMasters, FindaPhD and Postgrad.com offer their own small grants and it is also worth checking educational grants, charity databases and charities local to the University and your home town.

Generous teacher training bursaries or scholarships are also available in a range of subjects to encourage the best graduates to join the profession.

www.getintoteaching.education.gov.uk/funding-and-salary/overview/

Professional and career development loans

Loans are available for between £300 – £10,000 for courses that last up to 2 years, or 3 years if they include 1 year of work experience. The government pays the interest while you study and for 1 month after you leave your course. After this time, you start repaying the loan and interest www.gov.uk/career-development-loans/eligibility/

The UK Referendum on UK membership of the EU

Please visit our website for the latest news and developments regarding fees for students from the European Union studying in the UK.

Getting here

We look forward to welcoming you to one of our open day events soon. For information on how to reach our campus see below.

Travelling by public transport

The University of Roehampton is in Transport for London Zone 3.

National Rail

From Barnes station the main site (Digby Stuart, Froebel and Southlands) is a 10-minute walk and Whitelands is a 25-minute walk, or a short ride on the 72 or 265 buses. Trains go to Barnes from Clapham Junction and Waterloo in one direction and Kingston, Richmond, Staines and Windsor in the other direction.

Underground

From Hammersmith (District/Piccadilly/Hammersmith and City lines) take the 72 bus from stop K in the Lower Bus Station next to the shopping centre (above the Underground station). From Putney Bridge (District Line) take the 265 bus outside the station.

Bus

The University is well served by buses that link Roehampton to Hammersmith, Richmond, Kingston, Putney, Clapham Junction, Wimbledon and New Malden. The 72, 265 and 493 buses stop next to the main site (at Queen Mary's Hospital) and close to Whitelands and Mount Clare (at the junction of Danebury Avenue). The 170 and 430 buses stop on Danebury Avenue, which is very close to Whitelands and Mount Clare and a short walk from the main site.

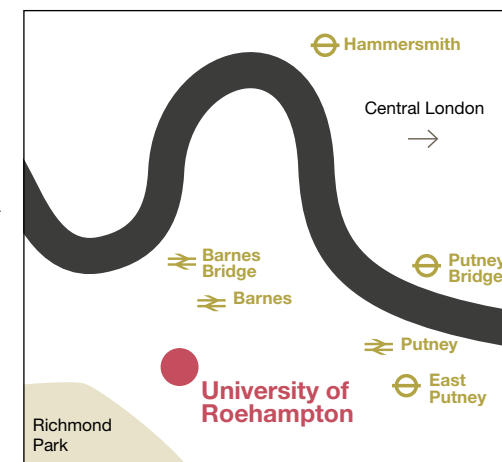

Travelling by car

Please note parking is limited on campus and in nearby streets. All University sites are on or near the A306 Roehampton Lane, between the A3 and the A205 South Circular (Upper Richmond Road). Postcodes for satellite navigation systems are as follows: Digby Stuart and Southlands College SW15 5PU Froebel College SW15 5PJ Whitelands College SW15 4JD.

Travelling by bicycle

The University can be easily reached by bike. There are cycle parking stands throughout the campus. The Transport for London online journey planner can be used to provide route maps to the University.

tfl.gov.uk/

A larger map of London can be found on page 16.

Contact us

Course enquiries

Email: postgraduate@roehampton.ac.uk
Telephone: +44 20 8392 3232

International student enquiries

Email: international@roehampton.ac.uk
Telephone: +44 20 8392 3192

This prospectus was accurate at the time of going to print. It is important therefore that you check the University website for updates as some information is subject to change.

The University will endeavour to deliver the course in accordance with the description applied to it in the University's prospectus and on the website for the academic year in which you begin the course. However, the University will be entitled to make reasonable changes to the course, including to content or syllabus of the course where developments in the subject area make that necessary, or to the location, method of delivery or methods of assessment on the course. In making any such changes, the University will aim to make the minimum changes necessary and will notify and consult with affected students in advance about any changes that are required. If the University changes your course and you are not satisfied with the changes, you will be offered the opportunity to withdraw from the programme and, if required, reasonable support to transfer to another provider.

Further, circumstances beyond the University's reasonable control may prevent it from delivering the courses as described. Examples of such circumstances could include unanticipated departure of key members of University staff or where numbers recruited to the course are such that it is not possible to deliver an appropriate quality of education for students. In these circumstances, the University will take all reasonable steps to minimise any resultant disruption, by, for example, offering those students the chance to move to another course or institution or by delivering a modified version of the same course, but to the full extent that is possible under the general law, the University excludes liability for any loss and/or damage suffered by any applicant or student as a result of those circumstances.

Open evenings

Open evenings are a great opportunity for you to find out more about Postgraduate Study at the University of Roehampton. We look forward to welcoming you at one of our upcoming events.

Events are being held on:

2016

Wednesday 16 November

2017

Wednesday 8 February
Wednesday 17 May

PGCE open afternoon

Thursday 13 April

Arts and Play Therapy open afternoon
Wednesday 8 February

For more information or to book,
please visit:

[www.roehampton.ac.uk/
postgraduateevents/](http://www.roehampton.ac.uk/postgraduateevents/)

 www.roehampton.ac.uk

 twitter.com/roehamptonuni

 facebook.com/Roehampton.uni

 instagram.com/uni_roehampton/